Decision.

By order No. 1802Lab., dated 22nd March 1951, the Government of Neogy (hereafter called the Tribunal), namely:

- (1) revision of dearness allowance,
- (2) gratuity,
- (3) classification of the Factory staff, including those of the bakery department into skilled, semi-skilled and unskilled and fixation of their wages accordingly.

By his award, dated 3rd April 1952, which was published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 1st May, following, Shri Neogi fixed the dearness allowance both of the clerical staff and of the operatives as follows:—

For operatives-

For the clerical staff scales were as follows: -

On issue No. 2, he settled a "gratuity" scheme for the period uncovered by the Provident Fund Scheme which was in existence in the concern. Regarding the 3rd issue, he classified the operatives under three categories, skilled, semi-skilled and unskilled with the following grades, namely:—

• .				\mathbf{Rs} .

Semi-skilled	•••	• • •	•••	40-3-60 and gave certain directions regarding the categories of workmen who were to be classed as skilled, semi-skilled and unskilled. Against this award both the Company and the workmen have preferred appeals. The Company's appeal is directed against the award on all the issues but at the time of the hearing, the appeal was pressed in respect of dearness allowance awarded to operatives only. Of the workmen is directed against the issue of dearness allowance awarded to relating to the clerical staff. The net result, therefore, is that we have to consider the award on only one issue, namely, of dearness allowance. We will deal with both the appeals on this issue together.

There was a previous adjudication by Shri P. K. Sircar on the question of dearness allowance. That award was published in the year 1948, where he fixed the dearness allowance, according to the following scale:—

For the operatives—

•				Rs.
Up to Rs. 50			• •	25
From Rs. 51-100			•••	35
From Rs. 101—150		•••	•••	40

It is admitted that at the time when Shri P. K. Sircar made his award, the cost of living index was 310. When this reference was made, it was 393 points. Thus there has been a rise of 83 points at the relevant time. Accordingly, the scales of dearness allowance now fixed by the award of Shri Neogi is moderate and is short of what would have been the scales of dearness allowance commensurate with the rise of 83 points in the living cost index. This position has not been controverted. Shri Neogy, however, took into consideration the financial condition of the concern and fixed the scale in the manner stated above on the ground that an increase proportionate to the rise of the living cost index would compose a burden on the Company which it would not be able to bear. The only question that we have been asked to consider is whether the Company's financial condition is such as would enable if to bear the extra busden imposed by the award under appeal. The audited balance sheets of the Company for the years 1949 and 1960 were produced before the Tribunal. The audited balance sheets of the years 1951 and 1952 have been made available to us. They were not available to the Tribunal, as they were not audited during the produced of the adjudication proceedings. The balance sheet of the year 1949 showed a loss of more than two lakhs of rupees. The year 1950 was better, for the audited balance sheet showed a profit of Rs. 62,475. Referring to the balance sheet of the year 1950, Shri Neogy observed "regard being had to the volume of it a business and margin of its profits in the past years, and the progress it made in one year since the loss, I do not consider that its future financial outlook is at all gloomy or unsatisfactory. At any rate, I do not think its financial cendition is such that it cannot bear the bunden of a moderate increase in rates of dearness allowance payable to its workmen including the clerical staff". He accordingly took the view that the profits as shown in the balance sheet of the year 1950 could be taken to be a safe guide for future years. The balance sheets for the years 1951 and 1952 which has now been produced before us without objection show that the estimate of Shri Neogy was right. A profit of Rs. 98,000 and odd was made for the year 1951 and the balance sheet for the year 1952 shows a profit of Rs. 50,000 and odd to which must be added about Rs. 15,000 which was paid in course of that accounting year on account of the increased burden due to Shri Neogy's award. The Company has also placed a chart before us. It shows that the yearly burden on account of Shri Neogy's award comes to a little over Rs. 60,000. The Union contests the figures and according to it, the yearly burden would be a little over Rs. 50,000. Be that as it may, we hold, that the additional burden that has been placed by reason of the revision of dearness allowance is not such as the Company would not be able to bear. It may be that the margin of profits would be reduced and unless the business of the Company in future years becomes more prosperous the shareholders may not be able to get dividend but that is no reason why the very moderate increase in the dearness allowance should not be borne by the Company. The legitimate needs of labour must always be consi

Shri P. K. Sircar did not allow any dearness allowance to the cooks, butlers and the boys to the cooks on the ground that they were given free food, and to the butlers and the boys on the ground that they have extra income through tips. As the remuneration of workmen is generally fixed on the basis of three adult consumption units, the fact that the workmen himself only gets free food is not, in our opionion, a good ground for refusing him dearness allowance, for the increased cost of living has to be borne by him for feeding the other two consumption units. We, therefore, hold that on principle the cooks should not be excluded from getting the dearness allowance. The Tribunal, however, has rightly laid down the principle that in their cases, dearness allowance should not be given at the full rate laid down by it but a deduction should be made on account of the free food supplied to them by the Company. The evidence shows that they get tea twice a day with a piece of bread and they get two full meals. Eric Gomez, a cook, has been examined on behalf of the Union and he gives the estimate of the food and tea supplied to be Rs. 12 a month. The Company has examined the Chief Cook Adu Gomez. He could not give an estimate of the value of the food supplied but he has given details of the things supplied to them. Taking into consideration the details given by Adu Gomez, we cannot accept Eric Gomez's estimate of Rs. 12 or the estimate of Rs. 15 made by the Tribunal. We think that Rs. 25 should be the fair estimate of the free diet supplied to the cooks including tea. We, therefore, modify this part of the award by directing that the cooks should get dearness allowance at the rates fixed by the Tribunal less Rs. 25. Those other employees who are supplied one meal a day would get the dearness allowance according to the said scales less Rs. 12-8 which we assess to be the value of the food supplied to them.

With regard to the boys and the butlers, it is admitted that they have extra income in the shape of tips. But the uncontradicted evidence is that the value of the tips would be about Rs. 15 or so per head per month. We accordingly maintain this part of the award which has directed a deduction of Rs. 15 per head per month from the dearness allowance payable to them. Subject to the modifications which we have made in respect of the cooks and other employees who get free food, we affirm the award. The payments in accordance with our decision should be made for the month of January 1952 and onwards. The appeal is thus allowed in part. The parties to bear their respective costs.

Decision.

By order No. 562Dis./D/11L-278/51, dated the 26th December 1951, the West Bengal Government referred the following points for adjudication by the 3rd Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal, namely:—

- (1) General revision of wage structure;
- (2) Yearly bonus of one month's basic wage during Pujah or Idd;
- (3) Leave;
- (4) Cheap canteen.

Against the award made by the said Tribunal on the 13th June 1952, the workmen have preferred this appeal. At the hearing, however, the appeal was confined to two issues only, viz., (1) revision of wage structure and (2) bonus.

2. The subject of fixation of basic wages and grades and of dearness allowance and bonus for the year 1948 along with other matters had been previously referred to for adjustication by the West Bengal Government by its Order No. 667Lab., dated the 14th of October, 1947, to Shri P. K. Sarcar, a member of the Industrial Tribunal. At the hearing, the parties came to an agreement on those issues as also on some of the other issues. Shri Sarcar recorded that agreement and made his, award in terms thereof on the 8th January 1948. By a notice, dated 5th Becember 1951, given under section 18(6) of the Industrial Disputes Act, the Company terminated the operation of the said award. It proposed new scales of wages which were somewhat lower than the scale which Shri Sarcar had awarded. The proposal to introduce new scales led to the dispute which is the subject matter of Issue No. 1 of the award sonder appeal. The Taibunal accepted that the said wage structure as pro-applicable to all new entrants; so far as the old workers were concerned, they were to continue to draw the wages and dearness allowance that they were getting at the date of the award and were to be fitted in the grade and scales as proposed under the new wage structure subject to this that they were to be fitted at the stage or the next higher one as the case may be in the revised grade according to the scale of pay they were getting at the time and would get timely increments in wage, if any, under the new grades as provided in the wage structure provided that they were not already drawing the maximum in the new grades. The Tribunal divided the workmen into three classes, unskilled, semi-skilled and skilled workmen. The unskilled workmen were put as was the proposal of the Company under three grades 1, 2 and 3, the semi-skilled into three grades, 4, 5 and 6 and the skilled into three grades, 7, 8 and 9 and special trades like Fitters. Torders, etc., were put into three other grades, viz., 10, 11, and 12 and the scales of wages with the increments were also fixed as proposed by the Company. Dearness allowance was fixed at 2 annas per hour for all grades. Besides other benefits were given in the shape of bonus for regular and punctual attendance which was at Rs. 1-4 per week, house allowance at Rs. 1-8 per week, etc. and the claim for bonus was negatived. As the operation of the award of Shri Sarcar was terminated in accordance with the statutory provisions contained in section 18(6) of the Industrial Disputes Act, the question as to what should be the wage structure must be decided on the merits. The Tribunal held that the wages fixed by the award of Shri P. K. Sarcar were too high and were much above the wages paid by sister concerns carrying on the same line of production. The Company in Amrexure IX to its written statement had given a comparative chart of the fitted at the stage or the next higher one as the case may be in the revised in Amexure IX to its written statement had given a comparative chart of the wages that were being paid by the sister concerns. Shri Batra who was examined on behalf of the Company proved the said chart. The figures as given in that chart were not challenged by the workmen. The said chart shows that the wages paid by sister concerns were lower than what had been fixed in Shri P. K. Sarcar's award. The other fact to be noticed is that the new scales proposed by the Company and adopted by the Tribunal are in line with the Second Engineering Award. On these materials, and seeing that this Company has to face competition, we think that the Tribunal has proceeded on correct lines in revising the wage structures as it has proceeded on correct lines in revising the wage structures as it has proceeded on correct lines in revising the wage structures as it has proceeded on correct lines in revising the wage structures as it has proceeded on correct lines in revising the wage structures as it has proceeded on correct lines in revising the wage structures as it has proceeded on correct lines in revising the wage structures as it has been placed at a disadvantage for there would be unfair competition with other sister concerns which are paying lesser wages than what the Company had to pay under the award of Shri Sarcar.

- 3. Shri Acharya appearing on behalf of the Union besides contesting the adequacy of the wage scales contended that jobs have not been rightly classified. His contention was that many of the jobs classified as of unskilled workers are really those which could be performed either by semi-skilled or skilled workmen. The Company in an annexure to its written statement and in the evidence had classified the different jobs into unskilled, semi-skilled and skilled and that annexure was proved by Shri Batra. No suggestion was made to him in cross-examination that the classifications were wrong and no evidence was led on behalf of the Union which would enable us to hold that it is so. We accordingly affirm the award on Issue No. 1.
- 4. Regarding bonus, the position is this. The claim is for the year 1950. In that year, after meeting the prior charges and paying the dividend to the preference share-holders the Company had a surplus of Rs. 21,000. No dividend was paid to the ordinary share-holders. The paid-up capital was six lacs so that if a reasonable dividend had been paid to the ordinary share-holders. lack so that if a reasonable dividend had been paid to the ordinary share-holders there would not have been any surplus to meet the claim for bonus. This position cannot be controverted. The claim of the Union, however, is that they are entitled to bonus at one month's basic pay as customary bonus irrespective of profit or loss, that is to say, it is a condition of their service. In Annexure II to its written statement, the Company gave the figures indicating the amounts of bonus paid in past years. That statement shows that bonus had been paid at different rates for the years 1940 to the year 1946 and that the amount of bonus varied as the profits had varied for the different years. This chart was also proved by the said witness examined on behalf of the Company. The only evidence in support of custom on it being a condition of service is that bonus had been paid in those years and it may be at the time of the Pujas to the Hindus and at the time of Idd to the Muslims, although that fact is denied by the Company and there is no clear proof to that effect. The only other fact is that the workmen claimed yearly bonus at one month's basic pay before that Tribunal at two months' basic wages but that liability to pay bonus before that Tribunal at two months' basic wages but that liability was admitted in respect of the claim for 1948 only. This is all the evidence in support of the claim based on custom but we think these widences fall far short of either stablishing the right to bonus on the ground of custom or on the ground of its being as a condition of services. We accordingly affirm the award on the ground of its being as a condition of services.

The result is that this appeal is dismission out without costs.

In the matter of two appeals against the order, dated the 3rd May 1951, of Shri S. N. Modak, Chairman, Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal, in respect of an application under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947.

Appearances:

DECISION.

These two appeals are directed against the order passed on the 3rd May 1951 by the Major Jute Tribunal (hereafter called the Tribunal) consisting of Shri S. N. Modak, Chairman, Shri M. C. Banerjee and Shri P. R. Mukherjee, Members, granting the respondents (hereafter called the Company) permission to dismiss the two aforesaid workmen. The appeals would only be competent if a substantial question of law is involved therein. Before we state the points of law formulated by Shri P. K. Sanyal, appearing in support of the appeals, a few facts are necessary to be stated.

- 2. The Company applied for permission to dismiss another employee of the name of Bejoy Singh. In that case a workman, Moonilal, appeared as a witness on behalf of Bejoy Singh, but the evidence that he gave did not eventually support the case of Bejoy Singh. On the 28th September 1950, Moonilal was assaulted near the coolie gate of the Mills. It is the case of the Company that Badri was one of the persons who actually assaulted Moonilal and that Ram Charan and others were in the conspiracy. On the 29th December 1950, a charge-sheet was delivered to Badri; that charge runs as follows:—
 - "On 28th December 1950 at about 11 a.m. you assaulted Moonilal near the cooly gate and aided and abetted others in assaulting him on account of Moonilal giving evidence before the Tribunal in a section 33 case relating to the application under the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, for dismissal of Bejoy Singh. This action was subversive of discipline and amount to gross misconduct.
- You are charged with the above offence which is to be treated as misconduct under rule 14(c) (viii) of the Standing Orders. You are hereby required to explain in writing the said circumstances alleged against you within 24 hours of the receipt of this chargesheet. Pending further enquiry you are suspended forthwith." On the next day Badri submitted an explanation in writing.
- 3. The charge-sheet against Ram Charan dated the same date runs as follows:—
 - "You left your place of work without permission on 28th December 1950 between 10-45 a.m. and 12-45 p.m. with the purpose of aiding and abetting an assault on Moonilal as he had given evidence before the Tribunal in a section 33 application under the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, relating to Bijoy Singh. This action was subversive of discipline and amounts to gross misconduct.
 - You are charged with the above offence which is to be treated as misconduct under rule 14(c) (viii) of the Standing Orders. You are hereby required to explain in writing the said circumstances alleged against you within 24 hours of the receipt of this charge-sheet. Pending further enquiry you are suspended forthwith."

On the next day he also submitted a written explanation. Both these cases were duly enquired into by the Management which came to the conclusion that the charges have been made out; but as at that time same dispute between the 86 Jute Mills and their workmen including the respondent Company was pending adjudication before the Major Jute Tribunal, the Management was advised to make applications to that Tribunal under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, for permission to dismiss both these workmen. The Tribunal in its order recorded the following findings on the said applications:—

- (1) That Badri had taken part in the assault on Moonilal on the date mentioned in the charge-sheet just outside the cooly gate but on the land of the Company which was a part of the factory.
- (2) That the evidence did not establish that Ram Charan was present at the place at that time; but he was absent having gone to the Thana to lodge an information against Moonilal to implicate him on a false charge.
- (3) That on account of the part Moonilal had played in the application made against Bejoy Singh, under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Acts, 1947, both Badri and Ram Charan had conspired together for the purposes of putting Moonilal into trouble;
- (4) That Ram Charan had in fact left the factory without permission and was absent for about two hours; and
- (5) That the Company was not actuated by motives of victimization in proposing to take action against both these workmen.

The questions of law, as formulated by Shri P. K. Sanyal, will have to be examined on these findings.

We have already stated that a reference had been made concerning the disputes between the 86 Jute Mills and their workmen to the Major Jute Tribunal. In these adjudication proceedings the Bally Jute Mills Company, Ltd., which was one of the 86 Jute Mills was represented by the Indian Jute Mills Association. On the 11th of January 1951 the two applications for permission to dismiss Badri and Ram Charun were made before that Tribunal by the Indian Jute Mills Association on behalf of Bally Jute Co., Ltd., but the petition was signed by the Manager, Bally Jute Co., Ltd. It thus purported to be a petition made by the Indian Jute Mills Association acting on behalf of the Bally Jute Co., Ltd. Before the hearing an objection was raised to the effect that the Indian Jute Mills Association could not file an application for permission under section 33, for the right to apply for permission had been given only to the employer. Thereupon, the Bally Jute Co., Ltd., filed an application before the Tribunal to the following effect stating "that by inadvertance the two petitions under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act filed, have been entitled 'The petition of the Indian Jute Mills Association on behalf of Bally Jute Company, Ltd.,' whereas the same should be read 'the petition of Bally Jute Company, Ltd.,' instead, that the same was due to a clerical error". The prayer was for deletion of the words "The Indian Jute Mills Association on behalf of" from the original applications. This application was moved before the trial commenced and was heard on the 28th March 1951 in the presence of both parties, counsel representing the Company and Shri P. K. Sanyal, Advocate, and Shri Keshab Banerjee, Secretary, appearing for the workmen. The application was granted and those words were deleted. The result was that from that date the applications were expressly applications by the Bally Jute Company, Ltd.

The points of law raised by Shri Sanyal are:

- (1) that as the original applications, being not by the employer could not be entertained in law, an application for its amendment could not in law be entertained. This is the common point in both the appeals, and
- (2) that as the Company on the basis of a particular charge being proved against Ram Charan, had applied for permission to dismiss him the Tribunal had erred in law in granting permission on a different charge.

This point is special to appeal No. 263/1951.

On this state of facts, the first point raised by Shri P. K. Sanyal, has to be considered. We do not think it to be a substantial question of law. original application had been signed by the Manager of the Bally Jute pany; Ltd. Assuming that there was a formal defect in the original applications made on the 28th March 1951 by the Company, there being no line tion of time for making such application.

We have already set out earlier the charge framed by the Company against Ram Charan. In that charge, after giving the particulars a reference was made to Standing Order No. 14(c) (viii) which runs as follows:—

"The following acts and omission shall be treated as misconduct: - ⁽viii) riotous or disorderly behaviour during working hours at the establishment or any act subversive of discipline."

Ram Charan was not charged by the Company for acts of riotous disorderly behaviour. The charge against him was that he was absent from the factory without permission. That act is certainly an act subversive of discipline. The Tribunal disbelieving his case that he was absent with the permission of the Jamadar, came to the finding that he was absent for nearly two hours without permission from any authority. The finding of fact against him is, therefore, a finding that the charge levelled against him by the Company had been established. We accordingly cannot accept on the facts found by the Tribunal that in granting permission the Tribunal had substituted a charge different from that made by the Company against this workman. We accordingly hold that no substantial question of law is involved in these two appeals. The result is that both these appeals are dismissed but without costs.

DECISION.

By an order, dated the 15th of July 1950, the respondent Shri Bibhas Dutta, an employee of the appellant Company, was dismissed on the ground that he had attempted to take illegal gratification from a constituent of the Company. The propriety of the order of dismissal was the subject-matter of dispute between the Company and its workmen. That dispute was referred for adjudication by the West Bengal Government by order No. 861Lab., dated the 7th February 1951. The Industrial Tribunal presided over by Mr. S. K. Neyogi, gave its award on the 21st August 1951. Before the Tribunal a question was raised as to whether Shri Bibhas Dutta was an officer or a workman. The Tribunal did not decide that question proceeding on the view that even assuming that he was an officer, he could be the centre of an industrial dispute raised by workmen. On the merits, the Tribunal came to the conclusion that the ground on which Bibhas Dutta had been dismissed, had not been made out, the ground given for dismissal was not the real ground and that the Company in terminating his services had acted with a view to victimise him. It accordingly held the dismissal to be wrongful and in view of the fact that he had secured another appointment, it refused to allow him the normal relief of reinstatement but granted him compensation amounting to his salary and allowances at the rates last drawn for two months in addition to one month's salary inclusive of allowance in lieu of notice. It also directed the Company to pay his Provident Fund money, if any, including his and the employer's contribution. Against this award, the Company has preferred the appeal before us. Before the appeal was taken up for hearing, a Full Bench of this Tribunal held that an officer could not be the centre of an industrial dispute as defined in the Act, though his case may be taken up by the other workmen. Accordingly an order was made on the 5th Novembro 15th our workmen.

"The Tribunal after affording opportunity to both sides to lead further evidence bearing upon this issue and on the additional evidence thus led and the evidence which is already on the record should come to a finding whether Shri Dutta was an officer or not. It will transmit its finding together with the record of the additional evidence to this Tribunal as well, as the records of the case which is transmitted to him."

In pursuance of that order the Tribunal allowed both parties to lead evidence. After rightly following the tests as laid down by this Tribunal on different occasions and reviewing the evidence in the light of those tests, it came to the conclusion that he was a workman and not an officer immediately before his dismissal. Written exceptions have been filed to that report of the Tribunal by the Company. We have heard Shri Bijoy Krishna Chakravorty, appearing for the Company, in great detail and have come to the conclusion that a correct estimate of the evidence on the records, has been made by the Tribunal. We, therefore, appear the finding that Shri Bibhas Dutta was a workman and not an efficient.

As the appeal was held to be competent because it involved a substantial question of law which we had answered in our remand order, the merits of the appeal will now have to be gone into.

The case of the Company is that Shri Sachindra Nath Mukherjee, the proprietor of the Howrah National Agency, one of the constituents of the Company, complained in writing to the Company in his letter, dated the 13th July 1950, to the effect that Shri Bibhas Dutta had demanded bribes. The Companys' case is that this letter was received at the Head Office on the next day, the 14th July and Bibhas Dutta was confronted with this letter. On the next day the dismissal order was issued which was in the following terms:—

"We have been credibly informed that in the course of your official duties you sought financial help from one of our clients and thereby misplaced the trust vested on you. Please, therefore, take notice that we have been forced to terminate your services forthwith and we have instructed our Cashier to give you a month's salary in lieu of notice....."

It is admitted that no written change-sheet was delivered to Shri Bibhas Dutta and he was not asked to offer lang; explanation in writing. The Company, however, submitted that these formal requirements were not necessary because on the 14th of July Shri Bibhas Dutta was called to the Manager's room and was confronted with Shri Sachindra Nath Mukherjee's letter in the presence of Shri Sisir Kumar Chatterjee and Shri Bijoy Krishna Chakrobarty, the Company's Law Clerk. Thereafter the letter of dismissal was issued on the next day.

It is, however, the case of Shri Bibhas Dutta that he was the sales-incharge of the Company on a higher salary. His salary was reduced in February 1950, with a promise that if in the course of few months, the sales position improved, his original salary will be restored or at least over and above his salary he would be paid a certain commission. Between February and July, the sales of the Company improved very much. On the 15th July 1950, he saw one of the Managing Directors and pressed for what had been promised to him when his salary was reduced. Hot words followed with the result that after he had put in his leave application on the 19th July 1950, the dismissal order was anti-dated and posted to him, on the 19th July 1950.

A false charge of dishonesty was cooked up in collaboration with Shri Sachindra Nath Mukherjee who had a grudge against him in connection with the supply of the Company's carrier van.

The Tribunal came to the conclusion that on the evidence, and we think rightly, that there was a dispute between Shri Sachindra Nath Mukherjee and Shri Bibhas Dutta over the free use of the carrier van belonging to the Company and in fact there was an incident when Shri Bibhas Dutta had made a representation to the Managing Director about the increase of his emoluments. The Managing Director, though present in Calcuta was not examined. Therefore, there was no evidence on the record contradicting the statement of Shri Bibhas Dutta on this point. The Tribunal was, therefore, right in coming to the conclusion that some other motive was behind the dismissal. Further there are circumstances which point to the conclusion that the dismissal order was anti-dated and the charge of dishonesty was nothing but a device to get rid of Shri Dutta. As these circumstances have been dealt with by the Tribunal in detail we need not repeat them. We accordingly hold that the finding of the Tribunal that Shri Bibhas Dutta was victimised is a good finding. This brings us to the question of relief. In the case of victimisation the proper relief would be reinstatement with compensation. As Shri Bibhas Dutta and already obtained an employment elsewhere, and has not pressed for his reinstatement, the Tribunal awarded him salary and allowances at the rates last drawn for two months by way of compensation, in addition to one month's salary inclusive of allowance in lieu of notice and the salary with allowance due to him up to the date of his discharge but not paid. Shri Bibhas Dutta has not appealed and therefore, we cannot modify the relief given to him by the Tribunal to his advantage. This part of the award, therefore, must remain. The Tribunal further directed the payment of the Provident Fund money including his and the employer's contribution. The position, however, is that there was an award by which the Company was directed to establish a Provident Fund; but that direction has not yet been implemented for it is admitted by the resp

We shall now take up the question of costs. The first hearing before Shri S. K. Neyogi which was concluded by his award, dated the 21st August 1951, had lasted for some days. The appeal against that award was heard by us when we made the remand order. After remand the matter, we are told, was heard for three days, by the Tribunal for the purposes of taking additional evidence which we had directed in our order and today there has been another hearing after the findings of the Tribunal had been received. Taking all these circumstances into consideration we think that the Company must pay Rs. 150 as costs to Shri Bibhas Dutta.

DECISION.

Nineteen issues which are set out in the award under appeal were referred by the Government of West Bengal by its order No. 370Dis./D/4L-27/51, dated the 15th December 1951, for adjudication by the Tribunal presided dated the 15th December 1951, for adjudication by the Tribunal presided over by Shri G. Palit. In respect thereof the award was made on the 10th July 1952. Against that award these two appeals have been filed. The Union's appeal is directed against the award on all the issues and the Company's appeal is limited to the award on Issues Nos. 2, 5, 9, 12, 14, 19 and in respect of 5 persons, namely, Shri Deo Narayan Dubey and 4 others whose cases were the subject matter of Issue No. 6. At the time of the hearing, however, the Union, while pressing its appeal in regard to all other issues, gave up its appeal on Issue No. 6 except in respect of (1) Shri Soven Sen, (2) M. N. Bose and (3) Janab Golam Mahammed.

Issue No. 1 relates to wages—minimum basic wages, grades and scales; (2) dearness allowance, (3) house rent, (7) annual increments and (8) wages of motor drivers. Most of those issues, involved an additional financial burden of the Company. The Tribunal, therefore, rightly considered its financial position. After examining the balance sheet, it came to the conclusion that the Company's finances are in a very bed condition. It has been incurring losses year after year and heavy losses during the last three years. The total amount of the losses amount to shout 75 deshe. Keeping this in view, the Tribunal made its award.

Issue No. 1 related to the wages—minimum basic wages and grades and scales. After noticing the desperate condition in which the Company is placed, it considered the minimum basic wages in different industries of the country particularly of the Engineering Industry and observed that according to awards made in respect of those industries Rs. 30 per month had been fixed for an unskilled worker, Rs. 35 per month for a semi-skilled and Rs. 40 per month for a skilled worker. It then took into consideration the basic wages paid in different air service companies of India and found that on a comparison of the wages paid in other companies the wages that were being paid in this Company compare favourably with the sister concerns. It was only lower than those paid by the Air India and another air service company which were very prosperous. In view of this, it did not revise the existing wages and scales, especially because of the financial condition of the Company. We do not think that any case has been made out by the workmen for interfering with this part of the award.

Issue No. 2 relates to dearness allowance. The scale of dearness allowance which prevailed in the Company was at a flat rate of Rs. 22-8 or 20 per cent. of the basic salary whichever was greater. The Tribunal rightly pointed out that the result was that the lower paid unskilled worker got Rs. 22-8 as dearness allowance and in the case of persons who were getting higher salary, their dearness allowance was more in view of the fact that they could and did exercise the option of having 20 per cent. of their basic wages as dearness allowance. It accordingly held that the scheme, as prevailed in the Company, was unfair to the unskilled workers generally. The Tribunal pointed out, and we think rightly, that the capacity of the Company is a relevant factor for the consideration of the question of revision of dearness allowance, but at the same time there was another factor which in this case had to be considered, namely, whether the Company could effect economy by reducing the wage bill of the highly paid officers. Taking both these factors into consideration, it fixed Rs. 31 as the minimum dearness allowance in accordance with what had been awarded for the lowest slab of pay range by the second Engineering Tribunal. It accordingly raised the minimum dearness allowance from Rs. 22-8 to Rs. 31 per month but did not interfere with the scheme of the Company that the workmen could have the option of either receiving Rs. 31 as dearness allowance or 20 per cent. of their basic wages. Thus, having regard to the financial condition of the Company, and the circumstances of the case, the Tribunal has given adequate relief to the poorly paid staff who required relief in this respect. We think that the award of the Tribunal in this respect is just and equitable.

Issue No. 3 relates to allowance towards house rent. The Union claims 20 per cent. of the basic wages as house rent. The Tribunal noticed that some air companies, namely, the Indian National Airways, Air (India) and the Air Services of India, have either provided quarters for their employees or pay an allowance for house rent. It also observed that in fixing the wages the cost of bousing of the workmen is taken into consideration and that there was no evidence on the record that the employees have to pay exorbitant house rent or even anything more than 10 per cent. of their basic wages. It accordingly turned down the claim of the workmen. We think that the claim cannot be allowed by us, as there is no evidence in regard to facts which would be material for allowing this claim.

The fourth issue relates to leave. As there is admittedly no point of law involved, the appeal directed against the award on this issue is incompetent.

Issue No. 5 relates to allowances to apprentices. Previously no allowance had been paid to apprentices but the Tribunal had fixed Rs. 20 per month as allowance after they had put in six months of continuous apprenticeship with the Company, and till the period of their apprenticeship is over or till they are absorbed in the Company's services. We do not think that having regard to the financial condition of the Company, the amount of the allowance to the apprentices should be increased. After all they are not workmen and they do not possess the qualifications of workmen but they are merely learners. Moreover, they have this advantage that no deposit is taken from their by this Company as is usually the case with the other air companies.

Issue No. 7'relates to annual increments. This demand was turned down by the Tribunal. In view of what we have said regarding the financial position of the Company in dealing with the question of wages, we do not think that it would be proper to accede to the workmen's demand. The appeal of the workmen directed against the award on this issue is accordingly dismissed.

Issue No. 8 relates to the wages of motor drivers. The Tribunal has pointed out that their emoluments had been increased from time to time since 1947 and that they were getting Rs. 70 as basic wages and Rs. 22-8 as desiring allowance, which makes a total of Rs. 92-8. Now that the dearness allowance has been increased by Rs. 8-8 under the award which we have confirmed their total emoluments are somewhat above Rs. 100. In these circumstantes of this case, we consider that the award made by the Tribunal is fair.

Issue No. 9 relates to free transport or allowance in lieu thereof. Tribunal has awarded to every workman a flat rate of Rs. 5 per month till the Company provides free transport for them. The place of work of these workmen is inside the Dum Dum Aerodroms. The Company has got a workshop and there is also a servicing station. They are within the compound of the aerodrome but at a distance apart. Before 1947, the Company used to run its buses from Hasra Road to Dum Dum Accodrome, ma all the principal routes of Calcutta to pick up the Company's workmen who work in the Dum Dum Aerodrome. It is admitted that the Dum Dum Aerodrome is a out-of-the-way place and most of the workmen do not reside within a reasonable distance from Dum Dum Aerodrome. The bus service of the Company was discontinued. Both the Company and the workmen have appealed against the award on this issue. The Company's contention is that travelling allowance should not have been grown to all the workmen of the Company, but a limitation should have been put and the limitation should be that only those workmen who live beyond a reasonable distance from the place of their work should be allowed this allowance, till the Company restores its bus service. The workmen, however, contend that this allowance should be given to all workmen at the rate of Rs. 15 instead of Rs. 5 which has been awarded by the Tribunal. Finally, Mr. Sadhan Gupta, appearing on behalf of the workmen, agreed that the allowance should not be given to all workmen but only to those who live beyond the radius of half a mile from their place of work and that the addresses appearing in the Company's registers should be taken to be conclusive evidence. It is not disputed that many of the workmen have to live at tolerably distant places from the Dum Dum Aerodrome. It appears that some workmen are living at Dum Dum. We, therefore, think that the last class of workmen should not get this allowance. We, therefore, hold that all workmen, save those who are living inside a radius of one mile of the boundaries of the Dum Dum Airfield, should get allowance at a flat rate of Rs. 10 per month till the Company makes arrangements for their free transport to the Dum Dum Aerodrome. For the purposes of travelling allowance, the limit with regard to the distance should be determined on the addresses of the workmen as recorded in the Company's registers. If a workman changes his place of residence, he will have to notify the change and to satisfy that he has in fact shifted to the new place of residence.

Issue No. 10 relates to the claim for an extra allowance for night shift duty. The claim is that they should be paid 33 per cent. more emoluments than their counterparts working in the day shift. The evidence, however, is that a workman working in the night shift gets 36 hours' respite in between his duties, that is to say, he has to attend to this duties as a night shift worker every alternate day. The result is that he gets full wages for a month by actually working for half a mouth. The effective rate therefore comes to double the rate which the day shift workers are getting. We, therefore, cannot accede to this demand of the workmen.

Issue No. 11 relates to gratuity, and issue No. 15 to bonus. These claims cannot be allowed, specially the last one, as there is no surplus left after meeting the prior charges. In fact, there were losses. There is a Provident Fund Scheme already in existence where the Company makes a contribution of 6? per cent. of the basic wages. Having regard to this retiring benefit, it is not possible in view of the financial condition of the Company to award another retiring benefit in addition. The claim of the workmen on these issues is accordingly rejected.

Issue No. 12 relates to free medical aid. The award in this respect is as under:—

"The Company must within three months provide a sick room, also a dispensary in which not only first aid boxes but usual medicines and surgical commodities which are ordinarily required in cases of accidents must be provided. A whole-time passed compounder must be in charge during the time the workers are on duty. A passed Doctor should also be attached on a part-time basis. The employees who fall sick in course of duty must be given free medicines by the Company as its Doctor certifies. Those employees who in course of duty are treated at home by competent Doctors should get their medical bill tested by the Company's Doctor and, if approved, by him, the Company must pay for the same."

The Union contends that a whole-time Doctor should be in attendance while the appeal of the Company on the point is that when the workmen is treated by private medical practitioners, a limit should be put on the amount of the bills. We do not think that a whole-time passed Doctor should be provided in view of the present state of finances of the Company. We agree with the contention of the Company that some limit on the medical bills should be imposed when a workmen chooses to be treated by a private Doctor. The only modification that we make on this part of the award is that if a workman chooses or is treated by a private Doctor, he is to subsuit his bill to the Company's Doctor and get a certificate from him, but the total payment on such bills in respect of a particular workman should not exceed Rs. 50 in a year.

Issue No. 13 relates to free passage. The demand of the workmen was that every workman should be given six free air passages in a year and for his family concessional rates should be given. This demand on the face of it is unreasonable. A Company may voluntarily accede to a request of this nature but we cannot force upon this Company a demand of this nature even partially.

Issue No. 14 relates to canteen. There is also an appeal on this point by the Company. The Company's objection is with regard to a passage in the award. There was a canteen before and the Union's case is that the canteen was closed by the Company because the workmen demanded the fish and meat should be provided. In dealing with this question, the Tribunal stated that the demand of the workmen was not unreasonable especially in view of the fact that the Company was supplying even beef for the passengers using its air service. Apparently the Tribunal accepted this evidence. The question, however, as to whether the Company was supplying beef to its passengers or not, is quite irrelevant for the purposes of considering the issue as to whether fish and meat should be supplied in the canteen for the workmen. It would have been better if the Tribunal had not recorded in its award the evidence given by the Union as to the nature of the food supplied to the passengers. We accordingly order that the following passage in the award, namely, "I get from the Union's evidence that beef is allowed for the passengers in the restaurant of the office of this Company. If that is so, and this evidence is not contradicted, then I see no point why there should be no fish or meat in the canteen of this Company" be deleted from the award. We, however, make it quite clear that the canteen which has been directed to be opened shall cater to the needs the workmen and shall provide such food, which is suitable to maintain the efficiency of the workmen, fish and meat being not excluded. The classes of meat which are ordinarily used by Hindus and Mohammadans alike are only to be provided for.

Issue No. 16 relates to service rules with special reference to appointment letters, etc., The Tribunal has given reasonable directions and we do not wish to interfere with them.

Issue No. 17 relates to Technical Library. Apart from the question whether the appeal on this point is competent as the subject does not come within the definition of wages as given in the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, we do not see any merits in the claim in the present circumstances of the case.

Issue No. 19 relates to the supply of uniform, etc. We are relieved from deciding this point as the parties have come to an agreement and that agreement is that the Company would provide only two cotton garments in a year to cleaners and such other workmen who work in the aircrafts or in the factory where in the performance of their duties, their garments are likely to be soiled with dirt. These are the only garments that the concerned workmen would be entitled to get and that the Company would not be under an obligation to provide any warm clothings necessary during the winter months.

Two other issues remain for consideration, namely, issue No. 18 which relates to wages for strike period and issue No. 6 relating to the relief to which the dismissed workmen are entitled.

Issue No. 18. There was a strike on the 11th of December 1951 which lasted till the evening of the 21st December following. The Government made a reference for adjudication on the 15th December 1951, and on the same date it issued a notice prohibiting the continuance of the strike under the provisions of section 10 sub-section (2) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. On these facts, the continuance of the strike from the 15th to 21st December 1951 was illegal. Therefore, there could be no claim for wages for this period. This question has already been decided by a Bench of this Tribunal in the case of the Mahalakshmi Cotton Mills vs. its workmen (1952 L.A.C. at 317). The question that has to be considered now is whether the workmen should be paid any wages for the period from 11th December to 14th December, namely, for a period of four days. The Tribunal in refusing the claim of the workmen pointed out that the strike was unjustified and it was started without any previous intimation. It was continued even when the Labour Commissioner by his letter informed the workmen that the Government was moving in the matter and it was still continued inspite of the Government's order prohibiting its continuance. It is further found that the conduct of manyof the workers during the period of the strike was violent and subversive of discipline. Then as wisdom began to dawn on the strikers, they gradually returned to their work with the result that the strike collapsed and died a natural death on the 21st December 1951. The contention of the workmen before us is that the strike was provoked by the dismissal of that a Durwan of the manse of Gaya Passad Tiwari was suspended for a day on the 18th September 1951 for an alleged misconduct. Immediately B. K. Bagchi and three others ceased to work on that day. Chargesheets were drawn up and were handed over to them personally; but they refused to take them. Those charge-sheets were then sent to them by registered post on 21st September 1951 but they were returned. An enquiry was held and those four workmen were dismissed on the 13th November 1951. With this state of evidence, it is impossible to hold that the dismissal of these four workmen about 28 days before the strike was the immediate cause of the strike or that the dismissal of these workmen provoked the other workmen to go on strike after. On these facts, we do not think that we will be justified in acceding to the claim for wages for the period from 11th to 14th December 1951. We, therefore, maintain the award made on this issue.

Issue No. 6 relates to the relief to be given to 18 dismissed workmen. The Union ultimately pressed its appeal against the award of the Tribunal refusing to give any relief to Shri A. K. Gupta (Serial No. 1) and Shri Simon Kostak (Serial No. 18). With regard to Shri Narayan Dubey (Serial No. 5) and the four leaders, namely, (1) Shri Parmanand Jaday (Serial No. 9), Shri Mati Chand Seth (Serial No. 10), Shri Seo Prasad Upadhaya (Serial No. 12) and Shri Murali (Serial No. 13), the Tribunal has ordered their reinstatements and has allowed the Company to pay them compensation in lieu of reinstatement. The Union's appeal is that the Tribunal was not right in refusing any relief to Shri A. K. Gupta and Shri Simon Kostak. With regard to Deo Narain Dubey and the four leaders mentioned above, its contention is that in the matter of relief no option should have been given to the Company to pay them compensation in lieu of reinstatement and that compensation awarded for the period of their non-employment is quite inadequate. The Company's appeal is directed against the award in respect of Shri Deo Narayan Dubey and the four leaders and its contention is that they should not have been given any relief. In all these cases the appeal either by the Company or by the Union would be competent only if a substantial question of law is involved.

We will take up the appeal in respect of Shri A. K. Gupta. Shri Gupta was a mechanic working at Dum Dum Aerodrome. He was transferred to the Head Office in Calcutta. The Company's case is that he did not like the transfer and wanted to stay at Dum Dum where he would have had facilities which would have helped him to qualify for his Ground Engineer examination in which he intended to sit. He accordingly had no heart in the work assigned to him at the Head Office. He was charged on the 28th of June 1951 and was handed over a charge-sheet which is as follows:

- "I find that your work is most irregular and for most of the days you are absent on one ground or the other. You are, therefore, being suspended with immediate effect on the following grounds of insubordination and negligence in duty:—
 - 1. You absent yourself from work and are very often found near our Dum Dum Hangar area during office hours.
 - 2. You refuse to do office work as instructed by your in charge Mr. Chowdhury.
 - 3. You take unreasonably long time in doing a job for which hardly that much time is necessary.
 - 4. You have already been warned for these things on more than one occasion but unfortunately no improvement has been found in the same
 - You are hereby requested to submit a suitable explanation within three days from the date of this letter, failing which your services shall be deemed as terminated."

The Company's case is that the explanation did not reach it within the time mentioned in the charge-sheet. When discussing the merits, we will deal with this aspect of the case. On the 3rd July 1951 the order of dismissal was passed in the following terms:—

"This is to bring to your notice that you have failed to submit your explanation within three days, as advised in our letter No. PB/6040, dated the 28th June 1951, your service has, therefore, been terminated with effect from the 28th June 1951 which please note.

Please arrange to obtain clearance from the departments concerned, and clear your account at a very early date."

On this state of facts, the Union submits that there are two substantial questions of law, namely,—

(1) that he was dismissed on a ground on which the Standing Orders do not allow termination of service, and

(2) that the Company had no right to transfer a mechanic to the Head Office and so the employee concerned could refuse to do work at the Head Office which in law he was not bound to do.

We do not consider the second question to raise a substantial question of law. An employer has the right to transfer an employee from one place to another; therefore, it could not be said that the transfer to the Head Office was inherently wrong that is to say, it cannot be said that the Company had no right to transfer him from one place to another. The Union's further case is that as there was no work for a mechanic to do at the Head Office the transfer was not justified. On the other hand, it is a case of the Company that there was sufficient work for a mechanic at the Head Office and that he was in fact transferred to do the work of a mechanic at the Head Office.

This question, therefore, is to a certain extent, a question of fact, namely, whether there was any scope for a mechanic's work at the Head Office. We, therefore, hold that the second point does not raise a question of law, though it raises a question of fact which we wil take into consideration when dealing with the merits. But, in our opinion, the first point raise a substantial question of law. The charge against him were specified in the charge-sheet and they were four in number. Apart from the question whether the charges were vague or not, he was not dismissed after an enquiry was held or after the Management had come to the conclusion that any one of those charges had been made out. In the charge-sheet it was stated that "You are hereby requested to submit a suitable explanation within three days from the date of this letter failing which your services shall be deemed as terminated." The Standing Orders do not provide for termination of service on the mere ground of failure to submit an explanation. He was actually dismissed not on the ground that he was found guilty of any one of those charges, but for failure to submit his explanation within the time specified in the charge-sheet.

Admittedly no enquiry was held in relation to any one of those charges. The whole procedure in the matter of the termination of his service was materially irregular and he was discharged on a ground not provided for in the Standing Orders. The appeal is, therefore, competent and we will, therefore, enter into the merits of the appeal. He was working as a mechanic in the Dum Dum Aerodrome and intended to appear at the Ground Engineer's examination which was to be held within a very short time and that fact was known to the Company. His work at the Dum Dum Aerodrome would have given him the experience which would be necessary for being qualified as a Ground Engineer. He was, however, suddenly transferred to the Head Office. He made representations, though not in courteous language, that his transfer to the Head Office was unnecessary and would interfere with his against the But those representations were unheaded. interfere with his examination. But those representations were unheeded. His further case is that he was transferred to the Head Office with a view to victimize him, the motive being to prevent him from sitting at the Ground Engineer's examination. He further states that there was no work for a mechanic to perform at the Head Office. The Company attempted to make out a case that the services of a mechanic was necessary at the Head Office Purchasing Department and the assistance of a mechanic was also necessary for purchasing suitable parts for the aircrafts. In the evidence it has been admitted by the Company that there was no mechanic posted at the Head Office all along and even after his dismissal no mechanic was transferred to the Head Office. The Petty Cash Registrar, Ext. 9, shows that he was employed on errands which a peon or non-mechanic could perform. He had employed on errands which a peon or non-mechanic could perform. He had to enquire whether certain parts ordered by the Company were available or ready for delivery. He was never entrusted with the work of selecting the parts, testing them or approving them. We cannot in these circumstances, accept the plea of the Company that Shri Gupta, who was a mechanic, was transferred to the Furchasing Department of the Head Office as that department required the assistance of a man who was a mechanic. The circumstances of the dismissal also lead to the conclusion that the Company was actuated by unfair motives. The charge-sheet was drawn up on the 28th June 1951, which was a Thursday. He got the charge-sheet on the 29th June 1951 at 2 p.m. As 30th June was a Bank holiday, he could not deliver his explanation to the Company on that day. 1st July was a Sunday. The explanation was to be submitted within three days, that is, on the 2nd July 1951. His case is that he came to hand over the explanation at the office on the 2nd July. He was, however, told that the office had instructions to receive on that day only urgent communication and that the receipt of the explanation was not a matter of urgency. The result was receipt of the explanation was not a matter of urgency. The result was that the explanation that he wanted to deliver on that day was not accepted. He then saw Administrative Officer but the same reply was given. He then saw Administrative Officer but the same reply was given. Immediately thereafter he put the explanation in an envelope and posted it at the post office which was very near. On the envelope itself he made a note that he had gone to the office to deliver the explanation on the 2nd July 1951, but it was not received in the circumstances stated above. The Company admits that it received that envelope through post on the 4th July 1951. We believe the evidence of the workman relating to the incident about the communication of his explanation. Even if the charge-sheet had been delivered on the 28th June, 2nd July would be the first day for submitting the explanations as 30th June and 1st July were closed days of the factory offices, one being a public holiday and the other being a Sunday. The post office is almost the next door to the office of the Company which is at 1-E, Lake Temple Road, Calcutta-29. There would be no point in posting any letter without first making an attempt to deliver it by hand for the employee had undoubtedly gone from his place of residence to the precincts of the office. The dismissal order was made with unreasonable haste which cannot be explained. The matter was not so urgent; the Company could not even wait for a day longer, for admittedly his explanation was received in the office through post the very next day of the date when the order for dismissal was made. He had no notice that an enquiry would be held and in fact none was held. We fail to understand as to why the Company was in such a haste in terminating his services. We, therefore, hold that in terminating his services the Company was actuated by motives of victimisation. We accordingly set aside the award of the Tribunal on this point and order his reinstatement with continuity of service. He should also get compensation at the full rate of his basic wages plus dearness allowance for the period of his non-employment, that is to say, from the 3rd July 1951 when his services were terminated, till he is reinstated.

We will now take up the case of Simon Kostak. His services were terminated on the 2nd November 1951 on the ground of his absence from duty without leave from the 11th October 1951 to the 29th October 1951. The Tribunal simply said that the termination of his services was justified because it was in accordance with the Standing Orders. The point of law that has been raised is that the Standing Orders have been misconstrued. We will, therefore, have to examine the Standing Orders. Standing Order No. 16 is as follows:—

- "The Company reserves the right to fine or to dismiss or suspend from duty without notice any employee who, in the opinion of the Management, is guilty of misconduct. Without prejudice to the generality of the term 'Misconduct' it shall be deemed to include the following:—
 - (f) Absence without leave or without sufficient cause including absence from the employee's appointed place of work."

Clause 4 of that Standing Order provides-

"No order of dismissal shall be made unless the workman concerned is informed in writing of the alleged misconduct and is given an opportunity to explain the circumstances alleged against him. The approval of the Manager of the establishment or where there is no Manager, of the employer is required in every case of dismissal and, when circumstances appear to warrant it, the Manager or the employer may institute independent enquiries before dealing with charges against a workman."

Admittedly, no charge-sheet was drawn up for his absence. Admittedly, the workman was not informed in writing of the alleged misconduct, and admittedly he was not given any opportunity to explain the circumstances alleged against him. Standing Order No. 16 further provides that "in awarding punishment under this Standing Order, the Manager shall take into account the gravity of the misconduct, the previous record, if any, of the workman and any other extenuating or aggravating circumstances that may exist." Admittedly, this also was not followed. He was, therefore, discharged in contravention of the Standing Orders and not in conformity with them, as observed by the Tribunal. There is, therefore, a substantial question of law and the answer to that substantial question of law also involves a decision on the merits. We accordingly set aside this part of the award and order his reinstatement with continuity of service with compensation at the full rate of basic wages and dearness allowance that he had last drawn from the date of his termination of service, i.e., from the 2nd November 1951 to the date of his reinstatement.

With regard to Deo Narayan Dubey, the Company's appeal is incompetent for no question of law arises on the findings arrived at by the Tribunal. We will, therefore, consider the appeal of the Union in respect of this workman. The order of the Tribunal is as follows:—

"I order his reinstatement to his former jobson his previous salary. If that job is not vacant, an equivalent job must be found for him with equal pay and prospects. The reinstatement must be effected within one month of the award coming into operation. If the man does not turn up for reinstatement within this period, his claim for reinstatement will lapse. If the Company fails to reinstate him, then he will be entitled for the purpose of section 20 of the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, to four months salary and dearness allowance last drawn as compensation. Besides the above, his period of forced unemployment from 31st August 1951, up to the date of his reinstatement or up to one month from the award coming into operation, whichever is earlier, will be treated as leave on half basic pay last drawn without allowance as compensation. This amount also must be paid to him within one month of the award coming into operation."

Section 20(2) of the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) is, in our opinion, inapplicable. That sub-section runs as follows:—

"Where any workman is entitled to receive from the employer any benefit under an award or decision of an Industrial Tribunal which is capable of being computed in terms of money, the amount at which such benefit should be computed may, subject to the rules made under this Act, be determined by that Industrial Tribunal and the amount so determined may be recovered as provided for in sub-section (1)."

Before the Tribunal can proceed under that section it must be shown that the benefit awarded is capable of being computed in terms of money. If the reinstatement order is carried out it would mean continuous service of the workman from the date of his reinstatement till an uncertain event, namely, his death, retirement, etc. On this ground we hold that such an order is incapable of being estimated in terms of money. We, therefore, allow the appeal of the workman on this point and direct his reinstatement with compensation for the period of his forced unemployment but in this case under the circumstances revealed in the judgment of the Tribunal at the rate of four months; salary and allowance last drawn as compensation.

With regard to the loaders, the facts are admitted. They are caste Hindus. They were asked to unload hides from an aircraft which they refused to do saying that there were "Chamar" Muslims for this job of unloading hides. The finding is they were summarily dismissed on the ground of insubordination. It has been rightly pointed that a workman is bound to obey only reasonable order of the employer. Having regard to the fact that "Chamar" Muslims have been engaged for this purpose, the Tribunal was right in holding that their refusal to unload the hides did not amount to insubordination for the order was unreasonable. There is a further finding that their dismissal was actuated by other considerations and was absolutely whimsical. Obviously, on these findings of fact no substantial question of law arises in this appeal. The Tribunal rightly directed that they should be reinstated within one month of the award coming into operation. If they do not turn up for employment within this period, then the right to reinstatement was to lapse. It directed that in case the Company failed to re-employ them, the Company was to pay compensation as was done in Deo Narayan Dubey's case, which we have already held was not warranted by law. We accordingly pass the following order in respect of these four loaders, namely, that they are to be reinstated with continuity of service and compensation paid to them at the full rate of basic wages and dearness allowance that they had last drawn for the whole period of their non-employment from the date of their dismissal, namely, 25th September 1951, up to the date of their feinstatement. The workman Deo Narayan Dubey and the four loaders in whose favour we have made an unqualified order of reinstatement, must present themselves for duty on the 30th day from this date and if that be a holiday on the next following day of work.

As the appeal of the workmen, namely, appeal No. Cal-251/1952 has succeeded in part, we direct the Company to pay costs to them which we assess at Rs. 100. In Appeal No. Cal-249 of 1952 which is by the Company, we direct the parties to bear their respective costs.

DECISION.

A complaint was made under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act before the Jute Tribunal, West Bengal, complaining against the discharge of Husaeni Mia. He was admittedly discharged on the 10th February 1951 when the adjudication proceeding between the Company and its workmen in which Husaeni Mia was concerned, was pending before the Tribunal. The application, however, was not made by Husaeni Mia, but by Janab M. Shafaatullah Khan, General Secretary of the Bengal National Chamber of Labour. Husaeni Mia, as is the finding of the Tribunal, was also not present at the hearing before the Tribunal. The Tribunal rejected the complaint on the ground that it had not been made by the aggrieved workman, namely, Husaeni Mia. This finding of fact is borne out by the application itself. There is no signature of Husaeni Mia on the application and there is also nothing in writing on the record which shows that Husaeni Mia had authorised the General Secretary of the Bengal National Chamber of Labour to sign or move the petition on his behalf. The question of law as to whether such a complaint is maintainable in view of section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act has been laid down that it is only the "aggrieved workman" and no other person could make an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. That being so, the question of law that is sought to be raised here has been settled by this Tribunal and can no longer be considered to be a substantial question of law. The appeal is accordingly dismissed on the preliminary objection taken on behalf of the respondent. Parties to bear their respective costs.

. DECISION.

This appeal is on behalf of the 17 workmen of the Great Eastern Hotel and is directed against the order passed by the Tribunal on an application made before it under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, seeking permission to dismiss the said 17 workmen. These 17 workmen are the table boys, employed in the hotel. The case of the Company is that there were 9 vacancies in the cadre of table boys. The Head Butler Nisar Ali was asked to recruit nine suitable persons for the post of table boys. In accordance with these instructions the Head Butler took nine persons as table boys. This led to the dissatisfaction among the other table boys and when these new hands were dressing up in the godown on the 9th January 1952 those 17 workmen were guilty of riotous conduct and they even went to the extent of assaulting the new entrants. On these facts, the Company sought permission to dismiss them.

A written statement was filed on behalf of the said 17 workmen and they took part in the proceedings before the Tribunal. Both sides led evidence and on the evidence before it, the Tribunal came to the conclusion that the Management had established its case that the 17 workmen were guilty of riotous conduct within the hotel premises, which is misconduct under the Standing Orders for which an employee is liable to be dismissed. In view of these findings of fact which are based on evidence, no substantial question of law arises in the appeal. The appeal is accordingly dismissed as being incompetent.

DECISION.

The issue over the dismissal of five workmen referred for adjudication by Government order No. 4075, dated the 29th June 1951, to Shri G. Palit, Fifth Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal, was—

"Whether the dismissal of the five workmen was justified? Whether they should be reinstated and if so, on what terms? If reinstatement be thought undesirable to what relief, if any, are they entitled?"

The charge against the four out of those five workmen, to whom charge-sheets were delivered on the 27th June 1950, namely, Kamala Singh, Bindeswari Pande, Chandra Gokul Singh and Nabin Chandra Dey Roy, is (1) that on the 26th June 1950, they threatened physical injury to others, (2) they attempted to cause harm to the interest of the Company and (3) they incited people to cause trouble. They were asked to submit their explanations which they did. Separate explanations aimilarly worded were submitted and ran as follows:—

- (1) This is a false, malicious and vexatious lie, and I am ready to face trial in any court of law.
- (2) I have never caused, her to I intend to cause any harm to the interest of the Company.
- (3) Same as (1) above.

After the receipt of the explanations an enquiry was held and as a result of that enquiry, their services were terminated by orders passed on the 5th July following. The charge against the fifth workman, namely, Bholanath Gupta was that he was guilty of stealing a cot belonging to another workman. In answer to the charge, he gave a detailed explanation. In his explanation he admitted that the tot did not formerly belong to him but to another workman of the name of Abdul Rob. He also stated the circumstances under which it came to his possession. No enquiry was conducted in his case and his services were terminated by the Management. The Tribunal by its award, dated the 5th March 1952, and published in the Calcutta Gazette, dated the 27th March 1952, held that the dismissals of the first group of workmen, namely, Kamala Singh and three others, were justified and in dismissing them the Company had not been prompted by motives of victimisation. These findings were arrived at after a review of the whole evidence that had been led at the enquiry and before the Tribunal. The Tribunal, however, found Bholanath Gupta's dismissal to be unjustified. The explanation that he submitted in answer to the charge exonerated him completely from the charge of theft and the Company in terminating his services did not follow the rules of natural justice, that no enquiry was held in his presence and in discharging him, the Company had acted wantonly. The Tribunal directed his reinstatement, within one month of the award coming into operation. He was awarded back pay during the period of his forced unemployment, that is, from the date of his discharge up to the date of his reinstatement, but dearness allowance, the Tribunal observing as follows:—

"I do not award dearness allowance in the said pay as Bholanath Gupta is partially responsible for the punishment."

Against this award an appeal has been filed on behalf of the workmen. With regard to the award as against the first group of four workmen, namely, Kamala Singh and three others, a preliminary objection was taken by Mr. Sen, appearing on behalf of the Company, that the appeal is incompetent as no substantial question of law is involved. The learned Advocate appearing in support of the appeal was thereupon called upon by us to formulate his points of law and he formulated them as follows:—

- (1) the Company in dismissing those employees had taken into consideration two charges, namely, second and the third as specified in the charge-sheets which are outside the Standing Orders;
- (2) there was no evidence before the Management which could support its conclusions that they were guilty of the charge; and
- (3) the requirements of natural justice had not been observed by the Management.

We do not consider any of those points to be substantial. The second and third charges are respectively causing harm to the interest of the Company and inciting people to cause trouble. The Standing Orders define misconduct, for which a workman is liable to be dismissed. Clause 9 of that Standing Order runs as follows:—

- (ix) Inciting others to commit breaches of the law or the rules of the Company or any other act intended to harm the interests of the Company.
- (x) Causing or threatening to cause physical injury to others.

 Mr. Burman, appearing on behalf of the workmen, contends that this Standing Order No. 9 should be read in the following manner:—

"inciting others to commit breaches of the law or the rules of the Company or inciting others intended to harm the interests of the Company".

That is to say, his contention is that the charge would come under misconduct under this Standing Order if a workman incites others to do any act intended to harm the interest of the Company, but that it would not come within that Standing Order if he himself did the act intended to harm the interest of the Company. We cannot accept this construction for it leads to absurdity.

The case of the Company is that one Shri Nirmal Kumar Sen was the President of the Labour Union. A body of workmen was dissatisfied with his stewardship. On the 25th June 1950 they convened a meeting in the Sports ground of the Company which is outside the factory at which an ad hoc committee was formed to look to the interest of the workmen. On ad hoc committee was formed to look to the interest of the workmen. On the next day that is on the 26th June another body of workmen arranged a meeting at the Sports ground at about 4-30 p.m. The four workmen concerned belong to the other group of workmen who were against Shri Nirmal Kumar Sen, and they threatened physical injury and dire consequences within the factory premises to such workmen who intended to participate in the meeting which was proposed to be held on that date, namely, the 26th June 1953. They even went to the extent of threatening the demolition of the factory brick by brick if the Factory Manager connived at that meeting. They also distributed some pamphlets which were against the interest of the Company. All these evidences were laid at connived at that meeting. They also distributed some pamphlets which were against the interest of the Company. All these evidences were laid at the enquiry which was held by the Manager and all the four workmen were specifically connected with those acts. We, therefore, hold that the first point urged before us has no basis. If the particular rule in the Standing Order could have been construed to exclude the two charges, 2 and 3, the point would have been a substantial one. The Standing Order is, in our private all in angular thems above. opinion, plain enough to include those charges.

The second point has no substance either. There was evidence before the Management to connect the four workmen with those charges levelled against them. Whether that evidence was sufficient or not to support its decision raises a question of fact and not a question of law.

Regarding, the third point, the position is this. In the Buckingham & Carnatic Co.'s case this Tribunal has laid down the principle that ordinarily the Tribunal has no power to sit in judgment over the findings of the Management in the matter of termination of services of a workman. is only in exceptional cases that the Tribunal can review the decision of the Management and one of the exceptional circumstances is that where the Management in conling to its decision had violated the principles of natural justice. Where the principles of natural justice had been violated by the Management at the enquiry, the Tribunal would have power to come to an independent finding as to whether the decision of the Management was justified or not and for the purpose may require evidence on the point. In this case a large body of evidence was laid by both parties before the Tribunal. Witnesses examined before the Tribunal definitely stated that each one of those four persons have threatened the particular named workmen with physical violence in order to prevent them from taking part or attending the meeting proposed to be held on the 26th June. The workinen also laid evidence on the point. The finding of the Tribunal is as follows:-

"I find that though Bindeswari Pande went off duty at 2 p.m. he was o that though bindeswari l'ande went off duty at 2 p.m. he was in the factory premises between 2 and 4 p.m. Nabin Chandra Dey Roy left the factory for his wife's illness in the morning. His wife's illness was just a plea because he spent most of his time in the company of Shri Byomekesh Majumdar or in sleeping. He threatened Abdul Tindel in the morning and also threatened men in the factory premises. Shri Dilip Kumar Sen Gupta also by his deposition has thrown light on his activity in the factory premises. Chandra Gokul Singh does not pland in the factory premises. Chandra Gokul Singh does not plead any alibi. He was throughout in the factory premises. He went round the factory intimidating people. Against Nabin Chandra Dey Roy his previous record was also not good. He was dismissed for issuing a pamphlet within the factory premises. On the intervention of the Labour Commissioner, he was reinstated. The said pamphlet has been exhibited. Though there might be in it truth to a certain extent, it was on its face calculated to foment trouble in the factory and to on its face calculated to foment trouble in the factory and to alienate the workers from the Company. Considering their admitted conduct in the meeting, it is just probable that they would intimate people in the factory before the meeting.

Thus considering the entire evidence on record taken by the Welfare Officer and also on the evidence laid before me, I am satisfied that the disciplinary action that the Company took against these four discharged workers was justified."

In view of the fact that the Tribunal arrived at an independent finding on the evidence which it had before it, namely, the evidence that was produced before the Welfare Officer and the evidence given by witnesses before that Tribunal, the question that in coming to its decision for dismissing those workmen, the Management had violated the natural justice or not becomes an irrelevant one. The Tribunal after examining the witnesses in great detail further stated as under :-

"I do not accept the contention of the Union about victimisation of these four workmen by the Management for their taking active part in the meeting on the 26th June against Shri Nirmal Kumar Sen."

Thus the decision arrived at by the Tribunal which being based on evidence on the record, no question of law arises in this appeal. Accordingly, the appeal in respect of the four workmen whose names are mentioned earlier, is dismissed.

Regarding Bholanath Gupta, the Company has not preferred any appeal. Therefore, the order for his reinstatement stands. The workmen's appeal in regard to him relates to the order of compensation. In dealing with his termination of service, the Tribunal found the following facts. The cot in question belonged to one Abdul Rob, another workman. Owing to the communal riots some time in March 1950 Abdul Rob left the place leaving the cot lying about. Bholanath Gupta kept the cot in his quarters, with the knowledge of the Security Officer and the Durwan, who told him to keep it till the real owner returned. Abdul Rob returned in June 1950. He came with the Januadar and Shri Gouranga Deb Nath of the Welfare Office to Bholanath's quarters on the 23rd June 1950 and claimed the cot. Bholanath agreed to return the cot provided he was paid the amount he had spent over the repairs of the cot. Then there were negotiations for sale and Bholanath paid Rs. 15 to Abdul Rob then and there. Next day, however, Abdul Rob came to him and returned the money and demanded the cot. Bholanath refused to part with the cot and took up the position that the cot was his in view of the sale of the cot the previous day. He was at once given a charge-sheet by the Management for theft of the cot. He submitted an explanation setting those facts but his explanation was not considered, no enquiry was held and he was dismissed. In these circumstances, the Tribunal observed that it was a case of wanton discharge and on the basis of that finding ordered his reinstatement with compensation for the period of his forced non-employment but only on the measure of his basic wages. For not allowing him dearness allowance it gave the following reason:—

"I do not award dearness allowance in the said pay as Bholanath Gupta is partially responsible for the punishment."

We fail to follow this conclusion in view of its definite finding noticed of the Tribunal by us supra. As the Tribunal has found that the punishment by dismissal was not justified and the Management had acted wantonly, we could not see why it remarked that "Bholanath Gupta is partially responsible for the punishment", which according to the Tribunal was unmerited and unjustified. We accordingly modify this part of the award and direct the Company to pay him compensation for the period of his forced non-employment, i.e., from the date of the termination of his service to the date of his reinstatement, compensation at the rate of basic wages and dearness allowance that he would have been entitled to draw during that period of non-employment if he had been in service during that period. The result is that the appeal in respect of Bholanath Gupta is allowed. As the appeal has succeeded in part, the appellants will get costs which we assess at Rs. 25.

DECISION.

By order No. 45951ab., dated the 23rd July 1951, six items of dispute were referred to Shri G. Palit District Judge, Industrial Tribunal, for adjudication. Against the award of Shri G. Palit made on the 26th March 1952 and published in the Calcutta Gazette of 1st May following, the workmen have preferred this appeal. The appeal has been confined at the time of the hearing to the award on issues 2, 3, 4 and 6 which are as follows:—

- (2) Whether the retrenchment of those 32 employees (a list of their names is attached herewith) is justified. Whether they are entitled to any compensation over and above one month's pay in lieu of notice;
- (3) Whether the employees should enjoy continuity of service in spite of the replacement of the old employer by the new employer;'
- (4) Whether the employees should get bonus equivalent to two months' wages for the year 1949-50; and
- (6) Whether there should be any revision of dearness allowance in the light of the present cost of living index.

The sole proprietor of the concern was A. N. Jordon. On the 1st of March 1951 he sold the undertaking to Gregory who is now the sole proprietor. When Gregory took over the undertaking there were about 150 workmen in the establishment. On the 1st July 1951 he retrenched the aforesaid 32 workmen. The Tribunal held that their retrenchment was justified and so no reinstatement was directed. It then considered the question whether they should be given any compensation and, if so, to what extent. Its award was that the retrenched workmen were to get "three months' basic pay on the scale last drawn just before their discharge inclusive of one month's notice pay as compensation". At the time of their discharge the workmen had been paid one month's total emoluments that is to say one month's basic wages plus dearness allowance payable in lieu of notice. The result of this award is that the amount of compensation they would receive by way of retrenchment relief would be less than two months' basic wages.

The Union contends that the finding that the retrenchment was bona fide, is a wrong finding and so the order for reinstatement should have been passed. During the course of the argument Shri Pandey appearing for the workmen, however, made it clear that he would press the claim for reinstatement in respect of 12 of those workmen only and would be satisfied if reasonable compensation in respect of the remaining 20 was given. His further contention was that the amount of compensation given by way of retrenchment relief is inadequate. We will first deal with the question as to whether the retrenchment was base fide.

Even when Jordon was the proprietor and as far back as 1950, he took up the position that it would be impossible to carry on the business with the staff of 150 workmen. He addressed a letter to the Vice-President of the Union on the 28th February 1950, stating the fact that unless the Union agreed to the proposal for retrenchment the business will have to be closed. In August 1950, he addressed another letter to the Vice-President of the Union informing him that he will have to reduce the staff from the 1st of October 1950 in order to run the undertaking on an economic basis. Nothing was done at that stage, as the Union was not agreeable to the proposal for retrenchment. It is, however, apparent that negotiations went on with the Union and by December an agreement was arrived at. The Union and hot agree to the proposal for retrenchment and for the purpose of avoiding it agreed to the staff being put on leave, by retation. This fact was communicated by the employer to the Ministry of Labour by a letter, dated the 21st December 1950. The agreement to put workmen on leave by rotation, however, did not work satisfactorily. We need not enter into the reason for the failure of that agreement, the employer's case being that the workmen refused to go on leave by rotation. After Gregory had taken over the undertaking, he addressed a letter to the Assistant Labour Commissioner on the 10th April 1951 to the effect that there was no other alternative but to request the Labour Commissioner to allow retrenchment of at least 38 employees of the establishment without further delay. It is in these circumstances, the 32 workmen were actually retrenched, from the 1st July 1951 as stated above. This correspondence prima facie establishes that in the matter of retrenchment, the employer was actually be said workmen was actuated with the motive of victimisation and the only ground suggested is that most of the workmen who were discharged were active members of the Trade Union. Beyond this statement made in the written statement, there is nothing to show that the employer was actuated by motives of victimisation. The mere fact that the discharged workmen happen to be members of the Trade Union is, in our opinion, not sufficient to prove a case of victimisation. As the retrenchment was bona fide, it was for the employer to determine the number of workmen whom he considered to be either surplus to his requirements for putting the undertaking on a sound conomic basis. We accordingly maintain this part of the award. The only question, therefore, remains to be considered under this issue is the amount of compensation.

The reference in this respect was whether the retrenched workmen were entitled to any compensation over and above one month's pay in lieu of notice. Shri Palit has, therefore, to lay down only the measure of compensation which could be granted by way of retrenthment relief. In his judgment, he has recorded the finding that the 32 workmen had put in service ranging from 6 to 8 years. But the greater period of their service was under the former proprietor Jordon. Shri Pandey's contention is that the compensation should be at the rate of 15 days' basic wages for each year of completed service. We must, however, take into consideration the ability of the employer to pay. It is a small concern and though it may be that the present proprietor was not carrying it at a loss, the profits cannot be large. He was formerly in the railway service and had invested in the undertaking the whole of his savings and his provident fund dues. He had to pay one lakh of rupees for purchasing the undertaking. There is evidence that he could not meet the purchase money entirely from his own resources but had to incur loans from his relatives. Taking all these facts into consideration, we think that it would not be proper to accept the contention of Shri Pandey. At the same time, we do not agree with the amount awarded by Shri Palit. We have already pointed out that the net result of his award would be to give less than two months' basic wages, to the workmen by way of retrenchment relief, for dearness allowance which was paid in addition to the basic wages in lieu of notice would have to be deducted from the two months' basic wages in lieu of notice would have to be deducted from the two months' basic pay allowed by Shri Palit as compensation for retrenchment, if his award in this respect was to stand. We, therefore, think it proper to allow each of the workmen compensation by way of retrenchment relief at the rate of two months' basic wages last payable to them in addition to what they had been paid in lieu of notice.

Issue No. 3 relates to a demand for continuity of service of the existing workmen and No. 4 to a demand for bonus for the years 1949-50. For the period for which bonus has been claimed Jordon was the sole owner of the undertaking. Therefore, the responsibility to pay bonus for the years 1949-50 was entirely his. Gregory by the terms of his transfer deed, did not take upon himself the said liability of Jordon. We do not, therefore, think it proper to make Gregory liable for the payment of bonus under claim. In that view of the matter, it is unnecessary to consider whether there was a sufficient surplus in the year 1949-50 to meet the claim for bonus.

As the concern is a proprietory concern carried on under an assumed name, we do not see how continuity of service can be claimed. The workmen were the employees of Jordon. After Gregory's purchase, they became his employees only because he chose to retain the services of the workmen who had been working in the establishment. In the eye of law, their employment began under Gregory from the time when he became the proprietor. We accordingly maintain the award of Shri Palit on issues Nos. 3 and 4.

Regarding issue No. 6 (dearness allowance). Prior to the reference, bakers used to get dearness allowance at Rs. 25 a month and sub-staff Rs. 15 a month. This dearness allowance was split up into two portions. The workmen got one portion irrespective of attentiance and the other portion depending upon attendance. The Tribunal considered this to be unfair and directed that dearness allowance should be paid whether the workmen was on duty or on leave except where the workmen were on leave with no leave due. This part of the award has not been challenged. The only point pressed by Sari Pandey related to the amount as fixed by the award. The Tribunal taking the award of the Second Major Engineering Tribunal as pattern fixed the amount. Its award was that Rs. 31 was to be paid as dearness allowance in the pay range up to Rs. 50, Rs. 42 in the pay range from Rs. 51—100, Rs. 48 in the pay range from Rs. 101—150 and Rs. 54 in the pay range from Rs. 151—200. These are the amounts fixed by the Second Major Engineering Tribunal. The Tribunal, however, has made a distinction regarding the sub-staff which includes the table boys mashalche, aweepers, etc., and to them he granted dearness allowance at the rate of Rs. 25 per month. No reasons have been given by the Tribunal for making this distinction and we see none. The dearness allowance, as has been fixed by the Tribunal, in our opinion appears to be fair specially in view of the financial capacity of the employer. We accordingly maintain the scale of dearness allowance as awarded but at the same time hold that there should be no distinction between the sub-staff and the other workmen. All should get dearness allowance at the following rates:—

Pay Range				Dearness allowan
					Rs.
Up to	Rs.	50	 		31
From	Rs.	50 51 to 100	 		42
		101 to 150	 •••	•••
From	$\mathbf{Rs}.$	151 to 200	 		54

and we award accordingly. The sub-staff would get dearness allowance at those rates also from the time fixed by the Company for other workmen in accordance with the directions given in the last part of the award under appeal. As the appeal has succeeded in part, we direct the employer to pay Rs. 50 as costs to Mr. Pandey, who has appeared on behalf of the appellants as soon as our decision-becomes enforceable in law.

DECISION.

The facts of these two cases are similar. The workmen concerned were absent without leave from the 8th to 25th February 1952, that is to say for a period exceeding 10 days. Immediately after the expiry of 10 days on the 25th February 1952, they were charged for misconduct for their absence without leave under 14(c)(v) of the Certified Standing Order of the Company. On the 25th February they submitted explanations which are similar. In those explanations, they admitted the receipt of the charge sheets and said that they had been arrested by the police and kept in jail hajat till the 25th February when they were released on bail and on which date they duly reported for duty. They further said that they had in the meantime made applications asking for leave up to the 27th February explaining the circumstances, but those applications for leave were neither acknowledged nor granted. After receiving those explanations an overseer of the Labour Officer of the Company put up before the Management holding the enquiry, extracts from their service records showing the Management holding the enquiry, extracts from their service records showing their past conduct. Thereafter the Management came to the conclusion that they should be dismissed and on the 10th March 1952, made an application under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. By an Order made on 21st June 1952, permission to dismiss those workmen was granted. Against the said order these two appeals have been filed before us by the workmen concerned. The appeals would lie only if a substantial question of law is involved. The substantial question of law raised in this appeal is that the Tribunal misconceived the scope of the enquiry to be made on an application under section 33 and had not accordingly recorded findings on material points.

The scope of the enquiry on an application under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, is now settled by the decision of the Supreme Court in Messrs. Atherton West & Co., Ltd., Kanpur, Uttar Pradesh, vs. the Suti Mill Mazdoor Union and other (1953 L.A.C. p. 263). Dealing with a provision made under an order issued by the U. P. Government in exercise of the powers applicated on it by applicant 2 and 2 of the United Browings Industrial Disputer. conferred on it by sections 3 and 8 of the United Provinces Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, which is pari materia with section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, the Supreme Court observed that the authority which is to give permission for discharge or dismissal must "institute an enquiry and come to the conclusion whether there was a prima facie case made out for the discharge or dismissal of the workman and the employer, his agent or manager was not actuated by any improper motives or did not resort to any unfair practice or victimisation in the matter of the proposed discharge or dismissal of the workman". In the order under appeal the Tribunal does not seem to have applied its mind to the question as to whether in proposing to dismiss the workmen the employer was actuated by improper motives or was resorting to unfair practice or victimisation. In view of that, we hold that the point raises a substantial question of law. We must, therefore, enter into the merits of the order. On that a prima facie case for dismissal had been made out. Standing Order 14(c)(v) is unambiguous in its terms and the case no doubt falls within it. The workmen were ous in its terms and the case no doubt falls within it. The workmen were charged under that Standing Order, received the charge-sheets and gave explanations which were considered. However, those explanations were not accepted by the Management, to be sufficient. The question is whether in proposing to dismiss them, the Management was actuated by the motives noticed by the Supreme Court in the passage quoted above. It is admitted by the Company that both the workmen concerned had been arrested on the 7th February 1951 and kept in jail custody till the 24th February following. It is also admitted by the Company that each of them sent two applications for leave from jail explaining the circumstances, namely, detention in jail custody, for which they were ing the circumstances, namely, detention in jail custody, for which they were absent and had been forced to apply for leave. But the applications were unheeded by the Management. The refusal of the Company to accept their explanations which they submitted to the charge-sheets immediately after their release on bail, seems to us to have been influenced by the fact that they are active members of the Union and their past activities in furtherance of Union activities were not to the liking of the Management. Our finding on the materials on the record is that the Company in proposing to dismiss them was not acting bona fide. It took advantage of a technical breach of the aforesaid Standing Order with a view to get rid of them. The case seems to us to be a case of victimisation. We accordingly set aside the order of the Tribunal.

Shri S. K. Acharya appearing for the appellants contended that in disposing of the appeal we could and should grant the workmen consequential relief by way of reinstatement or otherwise. In support of his contention he referred to section 9, sub-section 7 of the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act. That sub-section states that "the Appellate Tribunal may confirm, vary or reverse the award or decision appelled from and may pass such orders as it may deem fit". Shri H. N. Sanyal for the respondent, however, contends that no such relief could be granted by this Tribunal in an appeal directed against the order granting permission to dismiss. He contends that the original Tribunal on an application for permission made under section 33 of the Act, can only grant the application or reject it. It has no jurisdiction to go beyond that and the Appellate Tribunal in an appeal against an order passed under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act cannot make an order which the original Tribunal had no jurisdiction to pass. This Tribunal has taken the view that the function of the Tribunal to which an application under section 33 of the Industrial Dispute Act has been made is either to grant permission or to refuse it and it cannot go beyond that. The question therefore, is whether the Appellate Tribunal in an appeal against an order makes a section have the power to the relief which the original Tribunal could not. Section 16 of the Industrial Dispute (Appellate Tribunal) Act throws some light on this question. That Section runs as follows:—

Where on appeal from any award or decision of an Industrial Tribunal, the Appellate Tribunal modifies in any manner whatsoever that award or decision, the decision of the Appellate Tribunal shall, when it becomes enforceable under Section 15 be deemed to be substituted for that award or decision of the Industrial Tribunal and shall have effect for all purposes in the same manner and in accordance with the same law under which the award or decision of the Industrial Tribunal was made as if the Industrial Tribunal made the award or decision as modified by the decision of the Appellate Tribunal."

It is clear from the aforesaid provisions that it would be incompetent for the Appellate Tribunal to give such relief as the Industrial Tribunal could not give on an application for permission made under section 33 of the Act. The result is that we allow the appeal and set aside the Order granting permission leaving it to the parties affected or workmen interested in the cause of aggrieved workmen to take such steps as they may be advised for the purposes of obtaining substantive relief. The Company must pay to the appellants costs of this appeal which we assess at Rs. 100 in each of the appeals.

DECISION.

Nine issues were referred by the West Bengal Government by its order No. 4757 Labour, dated the 30th July 1951, for adjudication by Shri G. Palit, Judge, Industrial Tribunal (hereafter called the Tribunal). The Tribunal made its award on the 1st May 1952 which was published in the Calcutta Gazette, in its issue of the 29th of May following. The workmen have appealed from that award and appeal has been confined before us on two issues, namely, Dearness Allowance and Grades but ultimately the appeal against issue No. 3 (Grades) was abandoned. The appeal is, therefore, confined to the award on Dearness Allowance only. The Tribunal did not accede to the contention of the Union and maintained the existing scales of Dearness Allowance.

2: The question of Dearness Allowance was the subject-matter of an earlier adjudication made by Shri P. K. Sarkar, Judge, Industrial Tribunal, on the 9th of March 1949 which was published in the issue of the Calcutta Gazette dated the 18th March following. By agreement he fixed the Dearness Allowance at 80 per cent. of the basic wages on the first Rs. 100, 40 per cent. of the basic wages on the second Rs. 100 and 20 per cent. on the rest subject a minimum of Rs. 49 per month and this was the rate of dearness allowance that was then prevailing in accordance with the recommendations of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce to its Member firms. The demand of the Union now is that as the Member firms of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, in accordance with the recommendations of that body is person higher rates of Dearness

Allowance, in view of the increased living cost index the workmen of this concern ought to get at that scale. At the time when Shri P. K. Sarkar gave the award, the cost of living index was about 320; and at the time when the award under appeal was given, the cost of living index stood at about 370 or so and the Bengal Chamber of Commerce scale at that time stood at 100 per cent. of the basic wages on the first Rs. 100; 50 per cent. on the second Rs. 100 and 25 per cent. on the third and succeeding hundreds, with a minimum of Rs. 61 per month. The claim of the Union was based solely on the ground that the agreement before Shri Sarkar was to pay Dearness Allowance according to the scales of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce whatever that may be at the relevant time; that is to say, that the agreement was that the amount of dearness allowance or was to rise and fall in term of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce scale, depending upon the fluctuations in the living cost index. This was the basis of the claim of the workmen and is made clear in unambiguous terms in paragraph 4 of its written statement. The only point, therefore, in controversy is what was the agreement arrived at between the workmen and the company before Shri Sarkar. The terms of that agreement can be gathered from his award. The demand for Dearness Allowance in the adjudication proceedings pending before him was lesser than what he ultimately awarded. The relevant portion of Shri Sarkar's award on the point runs as follows:—

"The Saturday Club and the Calcutta Rangers Club which are two of the most prosperous clubs offered to pay dearness allowance to all their employees on the scale recommended by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce. This scale is 80 per cent. on the first Rs. 100, 40 per cent. on the second Rs. 100 and 20 per cent. on the succeeding hundred subject to a minimum of Rs. 49 per month.

The Saturday Club has already been paying dearness allowance at these rates. The Calcutta Rangers Club which had been paying dearness at the rate of 30 per cent. of the basic pay, subject to a minimum of Rs. 20 and a maximum of Rs. 70, offered to pay dearness allowance on the scale recommended by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce with effect from the 1st October 1948. This offer was accepted by the Secretary of the Bengal National Chamber of Labour. The dearness allowance for the employees of the Saturday Club and the Calcutta Rangers Club is fixed according on the scale offered, as set out in Appendices I and II."

The scale mentioned in Appendix 1 of the award which relates to the Rangers Club runs as follows:—

"Dearness Allowance is fixed from 1st October 1948 at the following rates:—80 per cent. on the first Rs. 100,

40 per cent. on the second Rs. 100, and

20 per cent. on the succeeding hundred subject to a minimum of Rs. 49 per month for the subordinate staff."

The agreement before Shri Sarkar proceeded on the recommendation made by the Sub-Committee of the concern to the Executive Committee on the 21st November 1951. That recommendation is embodied in Exhibit 5 and runs as follows:—

"Minute No. I.D. 28—Dearness Allowance—In considering Dearness Allowance at present paid at the rate of 30 per cent. of basic wages subject to a minimum of Rs. 20 and a maximum of Rs. 70, we are prepared, in the interests of contentment among our staff, to increase this allowance to come in line with that recommended by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce which at present is 80 per cent. on the first 100, 40 per cent. on the second and 20 per cent. on the succeeding hundreds, subject to a minimum of Rs. 49 per month for lower paid cadres. This increased Dearness Allowance to be effective from 1st October 1948."

The passage in Shri Sarkar's award makes it quite clear that what was agreed to was that the scale of Dearness Allowance which was then being paid according to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, was adopted by agreement and the agreement did not extend to an undertaking by the Company to pay whatever dearness allowance had to be paid in future by the Member firms, of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce according to its scheme. This concludes the matter. But at the time of the hearing of the appeal, the representative of the workmen urged before us that even if the agreement arrived at before Shri Sarkar be construed against the workmen, still they are entitled to claim higher Dearness Allowance as the cost of living index had since then considerably risen. We cannot accept this alternative contention seeing that the Company had not the opportunity to meet such a case. If this case had been put forward before the State Tribunal, it would have been open to the Company to show that the amount of Dearness Allowance which it was paying at the present time compared favourably with the Dearness Allowance that are being paid by other industries in the region. We may, however, observe that, knowing as we do, from published awards that the scale of Dearness Allowance which are being paid by this Company are higher than the amount of Dearness Allowance paid by flourishing profit-making concerns. This concern is not a profit-making concern and its financial conditions is not very bright. In these circumstances there would not have been any justification for increasing the Dearness Allowance even if the alternative claim put forward before as could have been allowed to be urged. The lower paid categories of workmen would have had some relief if the minimum dearness allowance of Rs. 49 had been raised by a rupee or two but having regard to the case made by the workmen and the considerations which we have set out above, it is not possible for us to raise the minimum Dearness Allowance by adjudication. The matter, however, may be considered by the concern if it could voluntarily raise the amount for the purposes of securing contentment among the lower paid staff.

The result is that this appeal is dismissed but without costs.

DECISION.

The question involved in this appeal is whether the workmen of the aforesaid Jute Mills are entitled to get their pay for the 13th December 1951. A lock-out was declared on that day by the Mills by a notice put up on the notice board at 5 a.m. In pursuance with that notice the mills were closed from 5-30 a.m. The notice followed incidents on the preceding day, namely, the 12th December 1951. The Tribunal held that the incident of the 12th December, to which we 1951. The Tribunal held that the incident of the 12th December, to which we will hereafter refer, constituted an illegal sitdown strike by the workmen and the lock-out though prima facie illegal by reason of the provisions of section 23(c) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, could not be regarded as such because it was in consequence of an illegal strike. On the evidence it came to the conclusion that the lock-out was justified; and on that view, refused to make an award in favour of the workmen. The workmen have preferred this appeal against that award. Shri S. K. Acharya appearing in support of the appeal challenges the finding to the effect that there was a strike on the part of the workmen on the 12th December 1951 but in the view we are taking, it is unnecessary to consider whether the incident of the 12th December amounted to a strike. In our opinion, the material question is whether the lock-out was justified or not. The question of strike on the previous day would have been material if the lock-out question of strike on the previous day would have been material if the lock-out was illegal by reason of section 23(c) of the Act. We, however, fail to see how the lock-out was illegal by reason of the provisions of that section. The material portion of that section runs as follows:

"No employer of any such workman (employed in any industrial establishment) shall declare a lock-out during any period in which settlement or award is in operation, in respect of any of the matters covered by the settlement or award.".

The Tribunal held that the award of the Major Jute Tribunal was still in operation and so clause (c) of section 23 prima facie made the lock-out an illegal one but it could not be considered to be so by reason of sub-section (3) of section 24 of the Act, as it was in consequence of an illegal strike which had taken place on the 12th December preceding. We do not think that clause (c) of section 23 of the Act has been correctly applied here. It does not make a lock-out an illegal one simply because it is during the operation of a settlement or award. It would be illegal only if it be in respect of any of the matters covered by settlement or award. There is nothing on the record to show that the lock-out was in respect of any of the matters covered by the award of the Major Jute Tribunal. On the other hand the incident of the 12th December or the lock-out on the next day had nothing to do with anything covered by the award of the Major Jute Tribunal. We accordingly hold that the finding that the lock-out was illegal is a wrong finding. The only question, therefore, is as we have already pointed out, whether the lock-out was justified.

The evidence is this that the Mill works in two shifts; in the A shift are employed about 3,000 workmen and their hours of duty are from 6 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. The B shift works from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and then from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m. The evidence establishes the fact that at 5 p.m. on the 12th December just when the A shift ended about three thousand workers of that child begin are the Manager's effect about three thousand workers on the 12th December just when the A shift ended about three thousand workers of that shift laid a seige on the Manager's office, assumed a threatening attitude and shouted slogans threatening the Manager with personal violence. The Police came and found that the attitude of the assembled workmen to be alarming. Reinforcements were called in and the Police Force posted in the Mill and its precincts ultimately which numbered about 125. The Sub-Inspector of Police came in the first instance and on his request the Higher Police Officers including the Superintendent of Police had to come during the night. The Police considered the position to be so explosive that a tear gas squad was kept ready on the spot. The crown did not listen to any reason and turned down the Management's request to send their representatives to see the Manager and the Management's request to send their representatives to see the Manager and the Management's request to send their representatives to see the 'Manager and represent to him through their representatives, any grievance which they might have had. The Manager and the staff were confined in their office for about 16 hours at a stretch. We need not refer to the other evidence tending to show that the mob were guilty of damaging the property of the factory. The facts which we have stated above and which are amply supported by both documentary and oral vidence of an unimpeachable character, were sufficient, in our opinion, to raise a reasonable apprehension in the mind of the Management that untoward incidents endangering life and property may happen at any moment and so the lock-out was justified as a security measure. We accordingly hold that the workmen are not entitled to their wages for the 13th December 1951. The result is that this appeal is dismissed but without costs. The result is that this appeal is dismissed but without costs.

DECISION.

By reference No. 319Dis./11LL-175/51, dated the 3rd December 1951, as amended by a subsequent order, dated the 8th February 1952, the West Bengal Government referred the following two items of dispute between the clerical staff of the city installation and the subordinate staff of the Head Office of the Standard Vacuum Oil Company, represented by the Standard Vacuum Employees' Union, and the said Company for adjudication by Shri A. Das Gupta, Judge. Insdustrial Tribunal, West Bengal, namely. namely,

- (1) Additional bonus for 1950 and
- (2) Tiffin allowance.

The Company paid at the time of the Pujas one month's basic wages as bonus for that year. The claim of the workmen was for bonus at the rate of five months' basic wages or two months' basic wages plus dearness allowance. By its award, dated the 16th April 1952, the Tribunal granted ith of their basic earnings during the year exclusive of dearness and other allowances less such payment as had already been received by them on account of bonus for the year. For the clerical staff it also awarded tiffin allowance at the rate of 8 annas per day for full working days of the week, i.e., from Monday to Friday depending upon attendance. It further directed that this tiffin allowance will be in force until the wage structure of the clerical staff is revised. It did not, however, allow tiffin allowance to the subordinate staff. Against this award, two appeals have been preferred, namely, (1) Appeal No. Cal.-107/52, which is by the clerical and subordinate staffs as mentioned above represented by the said Union and the other, Calcutta-105/52, by the Company. The contention of the Union in the workmen's appeal is that bonus at least at the rate of about five months of basic wages should have been awarded and tiffin allowance should have been given to the clerical staff and the subordinate staff without limiting any condition. The Company's appeal has been limited before us to the question of bonus and the contention is that no additional bonus should have been awarded for that year.

- 2. By another reference, being No. 835Dis./D/15-L-IL/52, dated the 17th April 1952, the West Bengal Government referred the following dispute between Messrs. Burmah Shell Oil Storage and Distributing Co. (India), Ltd., and its clerical staff for adjudication by Shri P. R. Mukherjee, the Chairman, Third Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal, namely (1) bonus for the year 1947 and 1948 and (2) additional bonus for 1950. The Company had given one month's basic wages for the years 1947 and 1948 as bonus. For the year 1950, one month's basic wages had also been paid. The claim of the workmen is for four months' basic wages for the years 1947 and 1948 three months' basic wages as additional bonus for the year 1950. The Tribunal by its award, dated 23rd July 1952, has totally rejected the claim of the said workmen. They have accordingly preferred an appeal before us, being No. 266/52, and the claim as made before the Tribunal has been reiterated. In the third reference, being No. 3071Lab., dated 29th June 1951, as amended by subsequent orders the dispute between—
 - (1) Burmah Shell Oil Storage and Distributing Co. (India), Ltd.,
 - (2) Standard Vacuum Oil Co.,
 - (3) Caltex (India), Ltd., and
 - (4) Indo-Burmah Petroleum Co., Ltd., and their workmen other than the clerical staff, relating to the claim for additional bonus for the year 1950 was referred for adjudication by Shri Santosh Kumar Neogy, Member, Sixth Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal.

In this case, the said Companies had paid one month's basic wages as bonus for the year. The workmen, however, claimed additional bonus at the rate of two months' basic wages for the year. Shri Neogy by his award, dated 4th August 1952, awarded them additional bonus at the rate of two months' basic wages. Against that award, the said four Companies, namely, Burmah Shell Oil Storage and Distributing Co., Ltd., (2) Standard Vaccum Oil Co., (3) Caltex (India), Ltd. and (4) Indo-Burmah Petroleum Co., Ltd., have respectively filed appeals, being Nos. Cal.-281/52, Cal.-314/52, Cal.-315/52 and Cal.-/328/52. The said Companies contend before us that no additional bonus for the year should have been awarded.

3. As common questions have been raised in all the appeals mentioned above regarding bonus for the year 1950, we will deal with them together, after dealing with the two special points raised in Appeals Cal.-266/52 and Cal.-107/52. The special point raised in Appeal No. Cal.-266/52 is whether the clerical staff concerned is entitled to bonus for the year 1947 and 1948 and the special point in Appeal No. Cal.-107/52 relate to the claim for tiffin allowance.

Special point in Appeal No. Cal.-266/52 regarding claim for bonus for 1947-48.

- 4. On the 21st March 1949 the clerical employees of the Burmah Shell Oil Storage and Distributing Co. (India), Ltd., submitted a charter of demand on many points, one of them being Puja bonus for the year 1949; whereupon disputes arose between the parties which by order No. 4073, dated the 19th August 1949, the West Bengal Government referred for adjudication by Shri A. Das Gupta, Judge, West Bengal Industrial Tribunal. In the reference, the sixth item of dispute was bonus. The reference did not specify any particulars as to which years the claim for bonus was to be adjudicated upon. In paragraph 5 of the written statement filed on behalf of the workmen, however, a claim regarding bonus was put forward before Shri Das Gupta in the following terms:—
 - "We therefore, demand a minimum of a month's salary as bonus every year and even greater than this amount depending on the profits earned by the Company retrospectively from the year 1947. In making this demand, we have of course taken into consideration the benefits of the Pension Scheme lately introduced by the Company in place of the bonus of 7½ per cent. of the annual basic salary (equal to 9/10ths of a month's salary) which had been credited to the Provident Fund accounts up to 1946."

In the concluding lines the Unions accepted the pension scheme which had been introduced from 1947 and admitted the fact that previous to and up to the year 1946, bonus 9/10ths of a month's salary had been declared but not paid in cash but credited to the Provident Fund account of the employees. The written statement however, is clear that before that Tribunal, the Union claimed minimum one month's basic wages as bonus for the years 1947 and 1948 and also for further years. In his award, dated the 2nd February 1950, which was published in the local Gazette on the 1st March following, Shri Das Gupta made the following observations:—

- "Durga Puja is a national festival in Bengal and it is customary to make presents to near and dear ones and to relatives at that time. It is difficult to make savings out of the monthly income of the clerks for this purpose. It has become traditional and customary in Bengal for employers to make a monetary grant at the time of the Puja. Most of the mercantile firms in Calcutta allow their employees an annual bonus equivalent to one month's basic wages. There are instances where the employees are paid more than one month's basic wages as bonus. The Company are, however, agreeable to pay each and every member of the labour and service staff 1/12th of the basic yearly earning as bonus. I accordingly direct that the Company shall pay each and every clerk 1/12th of his basic yearly earning as bonus, provided the trade conditions do not substantially deteriorate from the present position. This payment shall be made a fortnight before the Pujah."
- 5. It is quite apparent from these observations that Shri Das Gupta proceeded on the footing that the demand for bonus was one of one month's basic wages as Puja Bonus. That demand was conceded by the Company before Shri Das Gupta. The Company paid bonus for the years 1947 and 1948 at the rate of one month's basic wages and these payments were received by the workmen concerned unconditionally and without any protest. It is only after some awards made in favour of the workmen of the Company at Bombay and Madras which had allowed bonus at higher rates for 1947, 1948 and 1949 that the workmen concerned made a demand on the 2nd July 1951 claiming bonus for those two years 1947 and 1948 and for 1949 also at the rate of four months' basic wages. The Government, however, did not refer the claim for 1949 for adjudication. We are of opinion that this demand for bonus for 1947 and 1948 could not be entertained and had been rightly turned down by the Tribunal. The fact that the workmen concerned received payments at the rate of one month's basic wages for those years without any protest or with a demand for higher rates would lead to the conclusion that there was no dispute at the relevant time. Assuming that there was one, before the payments were received, that was to be taken to have been settled impliedly by agreement inferable from the abovementioned fact. A dispute which has once been settled or was dead and gone, cannot be allowed to be revived or resuscitated simply because other Tribunals functioning in Bombay or Madras had later on awarded to the workmen employed by the Company in those two States bonus at a higher rate for those two years. We accordingly uphold the award of the Tribunal disallowing the claim for bonus for the years 1947 and 1948.

Special points in Appeal Nos. Cal.-107/52.

6. The claim for tiffin allowance was urged before the Tribunal on the ground that the clerical staff of the city installations and the subordinate staff of the head office were being paid wages at a lower rate than what were being paid by another sister concern, namely, Caltex (India), Ltd. The Tribunal pointed out that the starting pay of a clerk in this Company was less by Rs. 10 than the starting pay of a clerk employed by Caltex (India), Ltd. It is on this ground that the Tribunal awarded an extra amount of 8 annas per day as tiffin allowance for the full working days of a week, that is to say, from Monday to Friday. Since then the Company has increased the wages to the same level as Caltex's by revising its wage structure. As there are no materials for showing that the subordinate staff of this Company was being paid less than the subordinate staff by the other Oil Distributing Companies the Tribunal refused to allow them tiffin allowance. We think that the basis on which the Tribunal had proceeded was the correct basis to adopt. Before us, the Union has placed a chart showing that tiffin allowance was being paid in addition to salary by many concerns operating in Dalhousie Square where the Head Office of this Company is situated. But no materials have been placed before us to show what basic wages those companies are paying to their clerks and subordinate staff. In the absence of such evidence, we are unable to accept the contention of the workmen that they should be given extra tiffin allowance even though their basic wages have been increased appreciably since the award of the Tribunal, simply because other companies are paying tiffin allowance to their clerks and to the subordinate staff. We, therefore, confirm this part of the award.

Common questions regarding claim for bonus in 1950.

7. None of the companies deny the capacity to pay bonus as claimed by the workmen. All of them say that the surplus would not only be sufficient to pay the bonus as demanded but would be sufficient to bear the permanent burden of "living wages". Their contentions before us are as follows:—

- That the workman employed by them are not entitled to any bonus as of right, because they do not contribute to production or the earning of profits, or at least their efforts do not have any effect on the variation of profits;
- (2) That no bonus should be allowed over what has been paid voluntarily in the year as there is no gap between the total emoluments that are being paid to the workmen and the standard of living wage; and
- (3) Even assuming that there is a gap, the gap should not be filled up indirectly by awarding bonus and the proper course to adopt would be to raise the wages to the standard of "living wages".
- 8. If these points are answered against the companies the question of the amount of bonus will have to be considered having regard to the claims of (a) the clerical staff of the Burmah Shell Oil Storage and Distributing Co. (India), Ltd., (b) the clerical and subordinate staff of the Standard Vacuum Oil Co., Ltd., and (c) the other workmen of all the four companies who are included in the third reference separately.
- 9. The basic principle which forms the foundation of the workmen's claim to bonus as a matter of right is that by their production they contribute to the earnings resulting in profit. This proposition is not disputed by the parties. It is admitted that the business of these companies consists in importing oil and petroleum products from foreign countries and storing, distributing and selling them in India. It is contended by these companies that having regard to the nature of the business carried on by them, the basis on which bonus can be claimed as of right by the workmen cannot be invoked, for the workmen employed by them do not contribute to production as the company themselves do not produce oil or petroleum products but only store, distribute and sell them. In our opinion, this contention overlooks the fundamental concept of production held by economists. In Chapter III, page 63 of his Principles of Economics, Marshal formulates the concept of production in the following terms:—
 - "Man cannot create material things. In the mental and moral world indeed he may produce new ideas but when he is said to produce material things, he really only produces utilities; or in other words his efforts and sacrifices result in changing the former arrangement of matter to adapt it better for the satisfaction of wants. All that he can do in the physical world is either to readjust matter so as to make it more useful, as and when he makes a log of wood into a table; or to put it in the way of being made more useful by nature, as and when he puts seed there the forces of nature will make it burst out into life.................................. It sometimes said that traders do not produce; that while the cabinet-maker produces furniture the furniture dealer merely sells what is already produced. But there is no scientific foundation for this distinction. They both produce utilities, and neither of them can do no more; the furniture dealer moves and rearranges matter so as to make it more serviceable than it was before, and the carpenter does nothing more. The sailor or the railway man who carries coal above ground produces it just as much as the miner who carries it underground; the dealer in fish helps to move on fish where it is of greater use and the fisherman does no more. It is true that there are often more traders than are necessary and that whenever that is the case there is waste. But there is also waste if there are two men to a plough which can be well worked by one man. In both cases all those who are at work produced; though they may produce but little. Some writers have revived the midiaeval attacks on trade on the ground that it does not produce. But they have not arrived at the right mark. They should have attacked the imperfect organisation of trade; particularly of retail trade."

In the light of the above observations the trader who stores, distributes and sells oil and petroleum products produces as much as a workman employed in the oilfields and refineries does. It would follow that the whole organisation set up by traders who sell commodities which they do not themselves manufacture participate in the production according to the scientific concept. The staff, therefore, employed by these oil distributing companies contribute to production. It may be that the contribution of workmen so engaged is not as great as of workmen employed in the oilfields and refineries.

10. It has been further contended that the clerical staff and other workmen claiming bonus are not entitled to it as a matter of right though they may have contributed to the earnings of the companies because the variation in the profits do not depend upon their efforts, the price of oil and petroleum products sold in India being fixed by Government. That may be so but the amount of the earnings on which the amount of profits would obviously depend must vary according to the quantity sold, for it cannot be denied that each gallon of oil and each container of petroleum products sold, brings in a certain amount of profit and the work of the organisation set up by the Company does play an important part in the quantity of distribution and sales effected in a year. The first contention, therefore, fails.

- 11. The second contention is on the lines of one principle laid down by the Full Bench of this Tribunal in the case of Mill. Owners Association, Bombay, versus Rashtriya Mill Mazdoor Sangh (1952 L.A.C. 433), where it was stated that when a Company does not pay living wages, bonus must be looked upon as a temporary satisfaction, wholly or in part, of the needs of the employees. This contention raises two questions of fact, viz., (1) whether these companies pay living wages? (2) If not, what is the gap between the existing wages and the living wages? The application of the other principle laid down in the said case, viz., that when the goal of living wages has been attained, bonus, should represent more as eash incentive to greater efficiency and production would not require examination if question (1) abovementioned is answered in the negative. Although the principle which was the foundation of the second contention was referred in course of the argument before the State Tribunal by the parties in support of their respective points of view, no evidence was led to prove what according to the parties would constitute living wages.
- 12. In the absence of proper materials it is difficult to evaluate the items of requirements in the living wage standard with any degree of precision. The present concept of living wage which is of general application appears from the observation in the Fair Wages Committee's Report which runs as follows:—
 - "That there is general agreement that the living wage should enable the male earner to provide for himself and his family not merely the bare essentials of food, clothing and shelter but (1) a measure of frugal comfort including education of children, (2) protection against ill-health, (3) requirements of essential social needs and (4) a measure of insurance against the more important misfortunes including old age."

Thus the conception of living wages is such wages as would provide a workmen with means to enjoy comparatively better standard of food, clothing and residence than can be had with minimum wages and still leaving a surplus for (a) education of children, (b) protection against ill-health, (c) requirements of essential social needs and (d) a measure of insurance against the more important misfortunes including old age.

13. The measurement of the living wage standard in terms of money has not been prescribed by law of the country nor as far as we are aware, has been determined anywhere on any scientific basis. The Textile Enquiry Committee set up to examine the conditions of labour employed in the Textile Industries in the State of Bombay considered this question to some extent. The Committee taking into account, the form of expenditure for items of requirements and also the demand made on behalf of the employees fixed the wages at Rs. 50 to Rs. 55 to workmen's family of three consumption units in the city of Bombay and its suburbs, between Rs. 45 to Rs. 50 for Ahmedabad and Rs. 42 or so for Sholapur. The items of expenditure taken into account were not exhaustive. It took into account only food, housing and other miscellaneous items. The expenses for education of children, essential social needs, medical relief, provision for old age, etc., were not taken into account. The actual figures are not material for the above reason as also for the reason that they were calculated on the Bombay prices prevailing when the living cost index there was 108. But what is material is that it pointed out more items of diet such as sugar, etc., which provide a better standard of food for a living wage earner. The finding of the Committee is that that would represent 25 per cent. increase in the cost of diet and miscellaneous things. It further pointed that for living wage standard, the worker should have either two small rooms in the place of one or one bigger room with 180 sq. ft. as its floor area. Thus the housing cost would be doubled. The increased cost of the diet, clothing, miscellaneous tiems and housing would add at least 35 per cent. If the other items left out of consideration by that Committee be taken into account the percentage would be more in the case of clerks, on account of the cost of education of the children, social needs, etc., being heavier items, than in the case of other workmen. In our opinion, it is not possible, no

- 14. We will now examine the question of wages for clerks. In the case of Caltex Employees Union versus Caltex (India), Ltd. (1952 L.A.C. 402), this Tribunal held that the minimum wages of a clerk with three consumption units would be Rs. 90 per month. The materials referred to in arriving at that conclusion are contained in published reports and they are available to us for the purpose of this case. We would not, therefore, repeat the reasons given by us in support of the conclusion that Rs. 90 would be the minimum wages for a clerk with three consumption units. In that decision, it was pointed out that a clerk at the start of his career would have the burden of a family not of three consumption units but of 2.25 consumption units. Accordingly the sum of Rs. 90 was considered as fair starting wages for a clerk as it would have left a margin of Rs. 22-8 for some amenities. On the basis of the said figures Rs. 67-8 would be the minimum wages for a clerk at the beginning of his career and Rs. 90 at the eighth year of his service. In the relevant year 1950 the starting basic wages of a clerk in Burmah Shell was Rs. 72 per month, that is to eay, about Rs. 4-8 over what had been fixed as the minimum wages of a clerk in the said award who was a new entrant. In that year, the minimum salary of a clerk employed by the Standard Vacuum Oil Company was Rs. 70 so that they were getting only Rs. 2-8 above what had been considered as the minimum basic wages of a new entrant. It is also proved in this case that besides the basic wage the clerks are being paid dearness allowance which almost neutralised the higher cost of living now prevalent. They had also the benefit of Contributory Provident Fund and other retiring benefits. Medical aid and supply of medicines were given free to the workmen but not to the members of their family and they have other henefits in the shape of cheap canteens. The question is whether even with these benefits the standard of living wages had been reached. The small margin left in these cases above
- 15. The contention of the companies is that this gap should not be indirectly filled up by the award of bonus but the proper course would be to revise the wage scale and bring them up to the living wage standard as the companies have the capacity to bear the burden of living wages. This course may be desirable but in our opinion, that contention cannot stand in the way of awarding bonus for the year 1950. Our reasons are firstly, because in that year the workmen did not actually get either through cash payments or amenities the requirements of living wage standard, secondly, because on this reference neither the Tribunal nor we can fix wages in accordance with that standard, much less give retrospective effect from 1950. The question of fixation of living wages was not referred for adjudication by the Government which specified only the dispute of additional bonus for 1950 and so the amendment to section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act as made by Act XVIII of 1952 stands in the way of revision of the wage scales. Thirdly, there are no materials on which wages can be precisely fixed on that standard. Fourthly, because a similar contention made by the Millowners' Association, Bombay, before the Full Bench was not accepted after due consideration and fifthly, because indirect payment practices, which includes the practice of paying bonus—are well recognised (Wage and Salary—Fundamentals and Procedure by Lionel Michael, Chapter IX—Pages 156-157 and 161).
- This in our opinion, should be determined on industry-cum-regionwise basis. Therefore, workmen of all the oil distribution companies operating in Bengal should be placed on the same footing and that the amount of bonus awarded to workmen of these companies operating in other parts of India should not be taken as precedents on the ground that the conditions and costs of living are different and necessarily the amount required to attain the standard of living wages would be different and the gap between the existing wages and living wages would not be the same. We would also like to observe that the rate of bonus should be linked to basic wages earned in the year and not to basic wages plus dearness allowance, for it is almost a settled rule and only in exceptional cases departure is permissible, as for instance when the basic wages are unduly low and dearness allowance is comparatively high, the total being considered to meet the ordinary requirements of the workmen, on the ground that what was being paid under the denomination of basic wages was a misnomer and a good part of the dearness allowance paid should be taken in essence to be a part of what ought to have been basic wages. The existing rule should not be disturbed unless the inclusion of dearness allowance when distributing bonus amongst the workmen be shown to be an improvement. Duther contrary introduction of dearness allowance in computing the amount to be given to workmen would in effect disturb the wage differentials which are generally made on the valuation of different jobs and may also result in unfair distribution of the total amount of bonus awarded among workmen especially where, as in Bengal generally, amount of dearness allowance is fixed at certain amounts on slabs of different basic pay ranges. Furthermore as the companies are not manufacturing concerns and each one of them stores, distributes and sells oil and petroleum products in other countries as well and as the accounts kept by each is one consolidated account in respect of the entire locus of its operations, it is not possible to proceed on the actual formula on which the amount of bonus was determined in the case of Millowners' Association, Bombay, versus Rashtriyas Mill Mazdoor Sangh, Bombay. The only method that can be followed is to make up the gap towards living wages even though partially. We have already stated that, it is not possible to find out exactly what in terms of money is that gap, for the materials on the record for finding out the quantum of living wages of the different categories of workmen concerned in these cases are scanty. Only a rough and ready method is possible and that is all that is required, for it is not essential that the whole of that gap is to be filled by the award of bonus; for "bonus is to be looked upon", as the Full Bench of this Tribunal had observed in the Bombay Millowners Association's case, "as the temporary satisfaction, wholly or in part, of the needs of the employee." With these general observations we will now proceed to assess the amount.

17. As the better standard of living and housing alone would amount for at least 35 per cent. increase over minimum wages and as the minimum wages of workmen in these concerns, other than clerks, is just round the minimum wages, bonus at the rate of four months' basic wages, i.e., ½rd of the basic wages earned by them in the year would be a fair estimate. But as they have claimed only three months' basic wages as bonus, we cannot increase it to four months. We accordingly award them bonus at the rate of ½th of the basic wages earned in the year less what the companies have paid them voluntarily. The net result is that by the force of our decision they would get an additional bonus at the rate of ½th of the total basic wages earned by them in the year 1950. The same considerations would apply to the clerical staff, and although the percentage of increase costs by reasons of costs of education of children, etc., may be somewhat higher, the basic wages of the lowest category is in their case somewhat higher than minimum wages and so the gap between their basic wages and the standard of living wages is narrower. It would, therefore, be fair to estimate their claim for bonus at three months' basic wages, that is to say at ½th of the total basic wages earned by them in the year, instead of ½rd of the total basic wages earned in the year as in the case of other workmen. We had to limit the claim of the other workmen to ½th because of their limited demand but in the case of clerks the demand was higher than ½th of their total basic earning in the year. Accordingly, we make the award in their favour at the rate of ½th of the basic wages earned by them in the year less what the companies had voluntarily paid for that year. The appeals are accordingly disposed of. The workmen should get costs at the rate of Rs. 250 in each of the appeals, i.e., in respect of Appeals No. Cal.-314/52, Cal.-315/52, Cal.-328/52 and Cal.-281/52. The costs so awarded are to be divided equally between the two Unions representing the workmen. The

DECISION.

By order No. 4818Lab., dated the 28th December 1948, as subsequently modified seven items of dispute were referred by the Government of West Bengal, for adjudication by the Chairman, Third Industrial Tribunal (hereafter called the Tribunal). Of those matters, the following are only material to the appeal which is by the workmen, namely,—

- Fixation of minimum basic wages for the following categories of workers:—
 - (a) unskilled,
 - (b) semi-skilled,
 - (c) skilled, and
 - (d) highly skilled.
- 2. Fixation of scales for-
 - (a) compounders,
 - (b) workmen in the Watch and Ward Department,
 - (c) technicians, and
 - (d) lorry drivers.
- 3. Gradation and fixation of wages of clerical staff; and
- 4. Dearness allowance for all these employee.

By its award dated the 15th September 1951, the Tribunal proceeding on the basis of award of Shri P. K. Sarkar made in the case of Messrs. Byron & Co., and its workmen, a Company which deals in the same line of business as the respondent, fixed the basic wages as follows:—

- 1. Bottle packers, counters lorry coolie and helping coolie ... Unskilled Rs. 30—1—35.
- 2. Bottle fillers, machine-man, crown-man, syrup-man, pump-man, carpenters, machine-men, helpers and sardars

Semi-skilled Rs. 33-1-38.

- 3. Turner, starter and electric mistri . . Skilled the existing scale, namely Rs. 60 was maintained.
- 4. Similiarly the basic wages of the compounders, namely, Rs. 120 was not disturbed.
- 5. For durwans .. Semi-skilled Rs. 33—1—38.
- 6. For lorry drivers whose existing basic wages Rs. 85 no revision was made.

With regard to the clerks, it fixed their scales as follows:—

- 1. For non-matriculate or outdoor clerks like tally clerks .. Rs. 55—2½—80.
- 2. For matriculate but non-graduate office clerks ... Rs. 60—21—90; and
- 3. For graduate clerks Rs. 70—4—130.

Further direction with regard to clerks is as follows:—

"The clerks if drawing less than the minimum as above should start with the minimum so fixed.

Regarding fitting in of the clerks in the revised grade, I do not think any question will arise as the existing minimum is much below than what has been awarded. If, however, any such question arises, the directions given in the Byron's award by Shri Sarkar should be strictly followed."

Dearness allowance was fixed in the following manner:-

Pay Range:	Dearness allowance
Rs.	Rs.
Up to 50	25
From 51 to 100	35
From 101 to 150	40

Then it added a post-script as under:—

- "A word is necessary here as to how the revised pay or dearness allowance is to be adjusted. This Company is not paying wages on any well-defined line. Dearness allowance is also not scientifically calculated. I have revised the pay and dearness allowance both, and the Company should take into account the total emoluments (i.e., basic wages and dearness allowance) as fixed by this award and pay the excess, if any, over the total emoluments (basic pay plus dearness allowance) now paid by the Company."
- 2. Janab Shaffatullah Khan, appearing in support of the appeal does not press for revision of the grades and scales of basic wages. With regard to that matter, his only contention relates to the rule of fitting in. With regard to dearness allowance, his contention is that the post-script to the award has created difficulties in the interpretation of the award. So the matter should be clarified. Thus the scope of the appeal was very much limited at the time of the hearing before us.
- 3. Regarding the rule of fitting in, it was pointed out to us that the Byron & Co.'s award given by Shri P. K. Sarkar, contained no rule for fitting in in regard to clerks. The substantial contention is that the rule of fitting in should be laid down in the award itself and should be on the lines of the "Engineering Award". That contention is conceded to be reasonable by Shri Dandania.

appearing on behalf of the Company. We accordingly modify this part of the award and direct the rule of fitting in respect of the clerks should be as follows:—

"The existing clerks, when drawing pay on a scale lower than the scales now fixed should be fitted into the above scales as follows. The starting salary should be given in all cases. They should be fitted in at or at the next higher stage in their grades in the new scale and in addition one increment should be given for each three years of service put in, but subject to the limitation that the maximum of the different scales should not be exceeded."

- 4. With regard to the post-script added at the end of the award while dealing with the dearness allowance, we hold that it is unnecessary in view of this rule of fitting in which are to apply also to other operatives who have been put in the incremental scales by the award. In view of the rule of fitting which we have laid down, we think that the post-script to issue No. 4 is unnecessary and should be deleted. The dearness allowance as fixed by the award under appeal on the slabs mentioned therein should stand and they would be paid to the workmen in accordance with the pay range that he would get in accordance with our decision. The total allowance which any working operative, or clerk is now getting shall not in any case be affected to his prejudice. This decision of ours would be operative from the 15th of September 1951 that is to say from the date of the award of the Tribunal and the difference between the total emoluments (basic wages and dearness allowance) which the workmen would get in accordance with the said directions and what they had actually got must be paid within two months of our decision becoming enforceable.
- 5. The result is that the appeal is allowed in part. Parties to bear their respective costs of the appeal.

In the matter of an industrial dispute against the award of Shri C. Palit, Judge, 5th Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal, dated the 15th December 1951, between the above Parties.

Dated, the 8th June 1953.

PRESENT:

Appearances:

For the Opponent: Shri S. C. Sen, Advocate, assisted by Shri P. B. Lal, Officer of the Company.

State: West Bengal.
Industry: Airways.

DECISION.

The proceedings in connection with an industrial disputes between the Bharat Airways, Ltd., Dum Dum (hereafter called the Company), and its workmen in which the applicant was concerned were admittedly pending before this Tribunal. Thus the applicant Shri Jai Gopal Barui who was a Mechanic in the Motor Transport Department at Dum Dum was dismissed on the 9th February 1953 without obtaining any previous permission from this Tribunal. In the circumstances, an application under section 23 is maintainable and we are now required to go into the merits of the complaint. The applicant's case is that he and his father were active members of the Trade Union of the Bharat Airways Employees Union and the Company with a view to victimise started harassing him from the beginning of the year 1952. A charge-sheet was given to him on 26th February 1952 on various allegations and the applicant submitted his explanation characterising those charges to be baseless and false, on the 27th February 1952. The Company dropped the same but ordered him to be transferred to the Garage at the Head Office from Dum Dum. He alleges that with a view to crush the Union, the Company ordered him verbally in November 1952 to proceed to Agartala for some urgent work. He reported for duty at Agartala and worked for a week there and after completing his job there, he came back to Calcutta on the 10th of November 1952 and reported for duty on the 11th November 1952 when he found that his name was removed from the rolls of the Company and he was not allowed to work there. Thereupon he brought the facts to the notice of the Company by a registered letter on the receipt of which the Company issued a charge-sheet, dated the 19th November 1952, and asked for an explanation within 24 hours, why he reported for duty at Calcutta instead of proceeding to Agartala, although he was informed at the time when he was sent to Agar-Agartala, although he was informed at the time when he was sent to Agartala that he might be ultimately put there permanently for maintenance work. On the 21st November, the applicant submitted his explanation denying that it was pointed out to him that he might be permanently stationed at Agartala for maintenance work. He states that he was sent there for the purpose of doing some work for which he was not required to be detained at Agartala for a long time and he complaint that the refusal to join his duty at Calcutta amounted to illegal lockout. After this explanation was submitted on the 24th November the Company in reply stated that his explanation for returning from Agartala was appetited to the company in reply stated that his explanation for returning from Agartala was appetited to the company in reply stated that his explanation for returning from Agartala was appetited to the company in reply stated that his explanation for returning from Agartala was appetited to the company in reply stated that his explanation for returning from Agartala was appetited to the company in reply stated that his explanation for returning from Agartala was appetited to the company in reply stated that his explanation for returning from Agartala was appetited to the company in reply stated that his explanation for returning from Agartala was appetited to the company in reply stated that he compa stated that his explanation for returning from Agartala was unsatisfactory and it amounted to misconduct and demanded disciplinary action but the Management decided to take a lenient view of his conduct and wanted him immediately to proceed to Agartala. The applicant's case is that from 19th November 1952, he was ailing and after receipt of the Company's letter of the 24th November, he submitted an explanation and asked for medical leave attaching a medical certificate on the ground that he was required to undergo immediate operation of his Hydrocele. Subsequently, the Company wanted the applicant to submit a fresh leave application in a form which was supplied to him by the Company and which being done the Company by its letter, dated 9th December 1952, directed him to be examined by the Company's doctor who lives far away instead of doctors of the Company who lived close to the applicant's residence. On the 19th December 1952, the applicant got himself examined by the medical officer who certified that his Hydrocele needed immediate operation. In January and thereafter he made applications for leave and by its letter, dated the 6th January, the Company granted him leave up to 31st January 1953. There was some trouble about his getting admission in the hospital but eventually on the 12th January, he got admission into Asharam Hospital for treatment where he was operated upon and discharged on the 21st January 1953. He was advised to be present at the hospital for dressing and to take rest for 15 days. The applicant informed the Company about the condition of his health by his letters of the 12th and 18th of January 1953. 1953, and submitted an application unnexing the certificate of the doctor and asked for 15 days' leave. On the 9th of February, the Company wrote to him in the following terms: "Reference is invited to our letter No. TRA/6/1017, dated 14th ultimo, and it is regretted that you are still No. TRA/6/1017, dated 14th ultimo, and it is regretted that you are still absenting from duty without any valid reason on fictitious grounds and hence, this letter of our may be treated as a letter of dismissal with immediate effect." From the admitted correspondence it is apparent that the relations between the applicant and the Management were far from cordial and the cause was the applicant's participation in the Trade Union activities. After the last application for leave was received by the Company, no explanation was called for and no enquiry was held but the applicant was summarily dismissed the ground for dismissal being absence from duty on false and fictitious reasons. On the facts of the case, we are of oninion that this finding of the Company is perverse and the order we are of opinion that this finding of the Company is perverse and the order was made actuated by motives of victimisation. In course of the argument it was suggested on behalf of the Company that it was prepared to withdraw the order for dismissal if the applicant would leave Calcutta to preced to Agartals. Under the circumstances are more than the course of the case, proceed to Agartala. Under the circumstances, we must, order that the applicant should be reinstated from the date of his dismissal and paid full wages, namely, basic wage plus dearness allowance at the rate that he was getting at the time of his dismissal till the date of his reinstatement with continuity of service. The reinstatement should be made as soon as he reports himself for duty at the Head Office within 10 days from today.

The respondent must pay costs of this application which we assess at Rs. 25.

DECISION.

The subject matter of this appeal relates to the validity of the dismissal of a workman named Bachha Misir. He was dismissed on the 25th October 1951, on a charge of alleged misconduct. The Tribunal after going into the evidence came to the conclusion that his dismissal was not justified. It has ordered his reinstatement and directed the employer to pay him compensation at a certain rate. The employer has preferred this appeal.

2. At the hearing a preliminary objection was taken by Mr. D. L. Sen Gupta, appearing for the workman, to the effect that the appeal is incompetent as there is no substantial question of law. Thereupon, we asked Mr. Sen, who appeared on behalf of the appellant, to formulate his proposition of law. He has formulated the question of law in the following manner, namely, that the Tribunal had no jurisdiction to review the decision of the Management because it is not one of the exceptional access. ing manner, namely, that the Tribunal had no jurisdiction to review the decision of the Management because it is not one of the exceptional cases mentioned in the Buckingham & Carnatic Co.'s. case in which a Tribunal would be entitled to sit in appeal over the judgment of the Management in would be entitled to sit in appeal over the judgment of the management in the matter of dismissal of a workman for misconduct. For the purposes of determining this question we have to see whether this case comes within one of the four exceptions mentioned in the Buckingham & Carnatic Co.'s case. In that case, this Tribunal pointed out that ordinarily a Tribunal would not be entitled to review the decision of the Management in the matter of dismissal unless inter alia, the principles of natural justice had been violated. On examining the records we find that no charge-sheet was delivered to the workman. It is said that he was charged orally. Mr. Sen stated before us the nature of the oral charge. In our opinion, when an employer proposes to dismiss a workman on a charge of misconduct not only appropriate that should be delivered to him in writing but also that employer proposes to dismiss a workman on a charge of misconduct not only a charge-sheet should be delivered to him in writing but also that charge should not be vague. In this case both these are wanting and therefore, we cannot say that in proceeding against this workman the rules of natural justice had been followed by the employer. We accordingly hold that the Tribunal was entitled to review the decision of the Management. On the merits it has come to a finding of fact that the dismissal was not justified. That finding being supported by evidence no question of law arises in the appeal. We accordingly dismiss it. The employer must pay costs of this appeal which we assess at Ra 50. appeal which we assess at Rs. 50.

In the matter of an appeal against the award of Shri P. R. Mukherjee, Chairman, Industrial Tribunal, Calcutta, dated 31st May 1952, in respect of an industrial dispute between the above parties.

DECISION.

A dispute relating to the revision of the wage structure, that is to say, basic wages and dearness allowance between the cherical employees of the Howrah Flour Mills, Ltd., and Messrs. Howrah Flour Mills, Limited, was referred to tor adjudication by a Tribunal of which Shri P. R. Mukherjee was the sole Member. After the filing of the written statements, a petition of compromise was put in. It was signed by the workmen who are parties to the reference and by a representative of the Management. The Union which was representing the workmen opposed the recording of compromise on the ground that the signatures of workmen appearing on the petition had been obtained by coercion. Thereupon, Shri Mukherjee went to the factory and office and took the statements of the signatories, namely, of the clerks excluding the representatives of both the Management and the Union. In his award, he dealt with the question whether the signatures had been affixed voluntarily or not and came to the conclusion that they had been affixed voluntarily by the workmen who were parties to the reference. After recording that finding he went into the matters which were not very relevant, namely, as to whether the terms of the compromise were favourable to the workmen, whether they would have got what they had demanded on an adjudication and things of like nature. But the operative portion of the award was stated in the following sentences:—

- "I, therefore, make an award that the terms and conditions of compromise petition had been voluntarily signed by the clerks after due deliberation. These terms and conditions should be embodied in this award and form a part of the same.
- I do therefore make the following award. The compromise petitions filed on 15th May 1952 as also on 24th May 1952 will form Annexures A and B to this award and that the issue regarding wages and dearness allowance be disposed of fully in terms of this petition."

The result is that the award was made by consent of parties, namely, the Company on the one hand and the workmen on the other. No doubt, the Union was not a party to the compromise but in no sense, the Union can be regarded as a party to the dispute or to the reference. The Union appeared in its capacity of representative of the workmen and by virtue set the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, an officer of the Union had appeared in the proceedings. As the award is by consent of the parties, sub-section (2) of section 7 of the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act is attracted and, so, the appeal cannot be entertained. The result is that the appeal is dismissed but without costs.

DECISION.

By its order No. III-Dis./13L-28/51, dated 4th September 1951, the Government of West Bengal referred 11 items of dispute to the West Bengal State Tribunal of which Shri S. K. Neogy was the sole member. He made his award on the 9th of July 1952, which was published in the Calcutta Gazette on the 21st August following. Four of these items of dispute were set out in issues Nos. (1), (6), (7) and (8). They are as follows:—

- (1) Grade and scales.
- (6) (a) Bonus.
 - (b) Whether withholding of bonus for 1950, payable in 1951, was justified?
- (7) Dearness Allowance.
- (8) (a) What should be the rates of pay payable to those who are required to work on the 4 Pujah days and on 12 other Government gasetted holidays?
 - (b) Whether the existing condition of regular attendance which qualifies for Pujah payment should remain in force or not?

There was an agreement between the Company and the workmen represented by the Statesman Employees Union, which was recorded by the Tribunal and the award was made on the basis of the said settlement in so far as those workmen were concerned, but as the subordinate staff, who were represented by the Press Employees Association did not agree to the terms of settlement the Tribunal made its award on contest. It is against the award so made that these workmen represented by the Secretary of the Press Employees Association have preferred this appeal. The appeal, however, has been confined to issues Nos. (1), (6), (7) and (8).

DECISION.

By its order No. III-Dis./13L-28/51, dated 4th September 1951, the Government of West Bengal referred 11 items of dispute to the West Bengal State Tribunal of which Shri S. K. Neogy was the sole member. He made his award on the 9th of July 1952, which was published in the Calcutta Gazette on the 21st August following. Four of these items of dispute were set out in issues Nos. (1), (6), (7) and (8). They are as follows:—

- (1) Grade and scales.
- (6) (a) Bonus.
 - (b) Whether withholding of bonus for 1950, payable in 1951, was justified?
- (7) Dearness Allowance.
- (8) (a) What should be the rates of pay payable to those who are required to work on the 4 Pujah days and on 12 other Government gazetted holidays?
 - (b) Whether the existing condition of regular attendance which qualifies for Pujah payment should remain in force or not?

There was an agreement between the Company and the workmen represented by the Statesman Employees Union, which was recorded by the Tribunal and the award was made on the basis of the said settlement in so far as those workmen were concerned, but as the subordinate staff, who were represented by the Press Employees Association did not agree to the terms of settlement the Tribunal made its award on contest. It is against the award so made that these workmen represented by the Secretary of the Press Employees Association have preferred this appeal. The appeal, however, has been confined to issues Nos. (1), (6), (7) and (8).

2. The subordinate staff of the Company consist of the following categories and their existing grades and scales of pay are shown against them in the following table:

Existing grades and scales.

		${f Rs.}$
(1) Peons, bearers, mazdowa and and and and and and and and and an	and	27—1—33

(7) Tailors and khidmatgars	•••	30-1-33-40.
(8) Motor cleaners, sweepers, etc.		25_1_30

Besides their basic pay, the Company was paying them dearness allowance at the rate of Rs. 33 per month over and above tiffin allowances at the rate of B annas per day, which works out at Rs. 13 per month for a working month of 26 days. The Tribunal came to the conclusion that their emoluments were fair and required no revision. It, however, without disturbing the grades, and starting pay or the rates of increment, increased the maximum of the grades of the following categories as follows: For motor cleaners and sweepers, the maximum was increased from Rs. 30 to Rs. 39, for liftmen, delivery peons, orderlies, durwan and office bearers, from Rs. 33 to Rs. 41 and for tailors and khidmatgars from Rs. 40 to Rs. 41. With regard to the remaining categories of the subordinate staff, the existing grades and scales of pay were maintained. The appellants contentions in regard to basic pay are two in numbers: (1) that the starting pay and the maximum pay of all categories should have been increased; and (2) that in any event, the maximum of the grades of other categories should also have been increased. With regard to the dearness allowance, they claim at the same rates which are being paid by the member firms of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce to their subordinate staff subject to a minimum of Rs, 55 per month.

- 3. We will first consider the first contention raised before us which is for general revision of the scales of pay of the subordinate staff. For considering that question the total emoluments which are being paid now have to be taken into account. The existing grade of pay of the lowest category, i.e., motor cleaners, etc., is Rs. 25—1—30, that is to say, their starting basic wage is Rs. 25. They were getting Rs. 33 as dearness allowance to which an increment of Rs. 4 has been voluntarily given by the Company after the references had been made. They get in addition Rs. 13 as tiffin allowance. Their present total initial emoluments thus is Rs. 75. The total initial emoluments of other categories are higher—from Rs. 77 upward per month. The Tribunal went into the question in detail. The result of its examination was that the total emoluments of the lowest category was higher than the total emoluments of their confréres as fixed by an award which governs employees in Printing establishments of Calcutta and Howrah and are literal state that the total emoluments paid by other newspaper concerns, namely, the Amrita Bazar Patrika and the Hindusthan Standard, which claim to command the largest circulation. We need not re-state the figures in detail, for they are summarised in the award itself. On the materials which are on the record, we agree with the finding of the Tribunal that neither the grades nor the scales of pay nor the rates of increment require any revision. They are quite adequate.
- 4. As to the second contention, the claim for revision of scales of pay for those among the lower subordinate staff who get more than the basic wages of the lowest category would only be sustainable if the wage structure for the lowest category is revised, for it is admitted that the existing differentials should be preserved. The revision of the whole wage structure, therefore, would depend upon the question as to whether the wages of the lowest category is to be revised. As we have already held that the basic wages of the lowest category of the subordinate staff are quite adequate the claim for revision of the basic wages of the higher categories cannot be acceded to on the merits. This is also the conclusion of the Tribunal with which we agree. If the wage structure of the other categories had depended upon that decision without mere, no increase in the maximum of the grades of any one of the categories including the lowest ones should have been allowed, but the Tribunal gave the increase in respect of the categories which we have mentioned above only because the Company voluntarily agreed to pay them more. That being the basis of the award it cannot be contended that simply because the maximum of the scales of pay of some categories have been increased by the award, the Tribunal should have increased the maximum of the scales of pay of the other categories as well. This disposes of the appeal directed against Issue No. (1), that is to say, grades and scales of wages.

5. Begarding dearness allowance, the position is as follows:-

Although the Company is a member of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, it has never adopted the scales of dearness allowances recommended by that body. That body made the recommendation to its member firms for voluntary acceptance. Simply because, the Company is a member of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, the workmen cannot claim as of right or as a matter of course those scales. The Company's existing scales of dearness allowance are as follows:—

Up to the pay range of Rs. 100, 70 per cent. of the basic wages subject to a minimum of Rs. 33. This minimum has subsequently been increased to Rs. 37.

From pay range from Rs. 101-110.. 70 per cent. (Rs. 70).

From pay range from Rs. 111-120., 73 per cent. (Rs. 73).

From pay range from Rs. 121-130 .. 76 per cent. (Rs. 76).

From pay range from Rs. 131—140.. 78 per cent. (Rs. 78).

From pay range from Rs. 141-250.. 55 per cent. of basic wages.

From pay range from Rs. 251-307 .. Rs. 138.

From pay range from Rs. 308-400 . . 45 per cent. of basic wages.

The basic wages of the subordinate staff do not go beyond the pay range of Rs. 100. Therefore, the existing dearness allowance of the subordinate staff is 70 per cent. of the basic wages subject to a minimum of Rs. 37. This taken along with tiffin allowances which works out at Rs. 13 per month is, in our opinion, fair. We accordingly affirm the award on this issue also.

6. As to the claim for bonus, the position is this; that both in 1950 and 1951, the Company incurred substantial loss. The claim for bonus on the formula laid down by the Full Bench in the Bombay Millowners Association's case, cannot, therefore, be sustained for any one of those years. The workmen, however, contend that bonus is payable irrespective of loss for it was a condition of service. We are, therefore, left to consider this aspect of the question only. The conditions of service of a workman are to be ascertained either on the basis of the standing orders or on the basis of an agreement either express or implied. Admittedly, there are no standing orders in this Company relating to bonus nor any express agreement that the workmen was to be paid bonus iffelipective of profit or loss. The question, therefore, is whether from the facts and circumstances appearing on the record, a reasonable inference as to the existence of such an agreement is possible. In the case of Mahalaxmi Cotton Mills versus its workmen, 1952, L.A.C., p. 370, this Tribunal observes as follows at p. 374 of the said report:—

"Puja bonus is a bonus claimed by the workers as a matter of right payable by the employer at a special season of the year, namely, at the time of the annual Durga Puja. This right is not based on the general principle that labour and capital should share the surplus left after meeting necessary and prior charges but it rests on agreement between the employer and the workers. That agreement may be either express or implied, and where not express, past practice may lead to an inference of implied agreement. But for implying an agreement, the practice must be unbroken and for a sufficiently long period to exclude the hypothesis that payments had been made out of bounty. It is not possible to say, in general terms, what should be the length of the period. That would depend upon circumstances of each particular case, but the fact that the payments had been made even in a year of loss would be an important factor on the question as to whether the payments were mere acts of bounty or as an obligation on the part of the employers. When the right is thus established, the next question would relate to the amount."

The only evidence in support of an implied agreement is what is contained in sub-paragraph (g) of the Company's written statement which runs as follows:—

"For many years, the Company as a goodwill gesture to its staff paid Puja Bonus, which, over the years, has fluctuated with the Company's trading position. For example, in the years 1936, 1937, 1938 and 1940, this bonus was paid at a quarter of a month's pay in 1941 and to one month's pay in 1943 and in succeding years up to 1950. In 1950, the Company suffered a loss unprecedented in its history and it is almost certain that another substantial loss would be shown in 1951."

The statement made in written statement is sought to be used by the workmen in two ways. Firstly, as an admission, and, secondly, as proving the fact of continuity of payment though at different rates from the years 1936 to 1950. The first contention cannot be given effect to. For, it is an established rule that whether the statement in a pleading is sought to be used as an admission, the whole of the statement must be taken in for seeing what the admission is. A part which is favourable to the other party cannot be separated from the rest of the statement and used as an admission.

This paragraph clearly shows that the payment in those years were made, firstly, by way of bounty (as a goodwill gesture) and, secondly, it depended upon the trading position. They were made when there were profits and the amount paid in the different years had relation to the varying profits. The second contention cannot also be accepted. For it is not shown that in any one of those years in which bonus was paid, the Company had suffered loss. The element of bounty is, therefore, not excluded. We are according of opinion that the evidence on the record is not sufficient to lead to a reasonable inference that bonus was paid by the Company in recognition of a right in the workmen, so as to lead to the inference that there was an implied agreement to pay bonus on which a case that bonus was paid as a condition of service could be founded.

- 7. With regard to issue No. (8) the position is this. The workmen claimed that for the four days of the Pujas and on other gazetted holidays on which a workman was asked to attend, he should be paid at double the rates for the period of his attendance. It transpires from the evidence that just before the Pujas, the Company issues a notice to named workmen to attend. For their attendance, a special bonus is paid in addition to bonus which may be paid to the workmen in general. The Tribunal clarified the position in the following terms:—
 - "I direct that the Company should pay those workers who may be detained on duty during the 4 Puja holidays, their usual pay for those days in addition to the Puja bonus paid for those days, so that they may be paid at the rate of double their pay for the period of their detention for work during those four days."

That, in our opinion, fairly meets the demand of the workmen in this respect.

For the purposes of paying bonus to those workmen who worked for the said four days of the Pujas, the practice of the Company is to issue 10 days, notice to them beforehand stating that for the purposes of qualifying for bonus for the said four days, they would have to attend regularly for the said period of ten days. The present practice, however, is that the qualifying period has been reduced to eight days under an agreement made when the other workmen including the clerical staff had amicably settled their disputes with the Company. Not only the subordinate staff but also the clerical staff are given the Puja bonus for attendance during the 4 days of the Pujas on the said condition and we think that an uniform rule should govern all workmen—the clerical and the subordinate staff—for qualifying themselves for that bonus for work for these four days of the Puja. We accordingly uphold this part of the award.

- 8. There remains the claim for double wages by the workmen who are required to work on the other 12 gazetted holidays. The practice of the Company is to give special allowance for such work in the following manner:—
 - 5 per cent. of the basic pay for the 'year is treated as accummulated dearness allowance and is paid to the employees of the Company at the end of the year. That means basic wages equivalent to slightly in excess for 18 days. In addition, the Company pays to all workers 26 days' dearness allowance by way of compensation, for not getting the benefit of gazetted holidays during 12 days. These findings of the Tribunal have not been challenged. Thus the Company is actually paying more than 18 days' total emoluments as extra for the 12 gazetted holidays which its employees are deprived of. That works out at more than double wages for works for those 12 gazetted holidays.

These facts, in our opinion, are sufficient to repel the demands of the sub-ordinate staff in this respect.

The result is that this appeal is dismissed. The parties to bear their respective costs.

DECISION.

The petitioners the clerical employees of Burmah-Shell Oil Storage & Distributing Co., have applied before us for review of our decision regarding the claim for bonus for years 1947 and 1948. Our decision has been embodied in paragraph 5 of our judgment which we delivered on the 29th May 1953. Notice was duly issued upon the Company and it has appeared before us to contest the said application. The points raised by Shri P. P. Ginwala appearing on behalf of the Company are that (1) this Tribunal has no power to review its judgment, (2) the grounds alleged are not proper grounds on which review could be admitted and (3) it is not a fit case in which we should review our decision. The first question is of general importance and has not so far been decided by this Tribunal. We will take up that question first.

It is settled law that the power of review is not inherent in a Court of a body exercising judicial functions, it must be conferred by statute. It is unnecessary to refer to the many cases on the subject. The question, therefore, is within a narrow compass, namely, whether the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950 (hereafter called the Act), has conferred on this Tribunal the power to review.

Section 9 of the Act deals with powers and procedure of this Tribunal of which sub-section (1) runs as follows:—

"The Appellate Tribunal shall have the same powers as are vested in a Civil Court, when hearing an appeal under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (Act V of 1908)."

It is on the interpretation of this sub-section that the question depends, the question of interpretation being whether the phrase "when hearing an appeal" refers to the period of time or otherwise. The Act confers by section 4 only, appellate jurisdiction—jurisdiction to hear appeals from awards or decision of the Industrial Tribunals.

Section 23 of the Act, however, authorises a complaint to be made before this Tribunal where the provisions of section 22 had been contravened. This Tribunal has been given jurisdiction to entertain such a complaint which, in essence, is an independent proceeding of an original nature but because this Tribunal has been constituted only for the purpose of exercising appellate jurisdiction the legislature enacts that those proceedings are to be adjudicated upon as if it were an appeal pending before this Tribunal. This, in our opinion, gives the clue to the interpretation of the phrase "when hearing an appeal" used in section 9, sub-section (1) of the Act. Civil Courts have original as well as appellate jurisdiction. The phrase "when hearing an appeal" qualifies the word "Civil Court" used there and in our opinion that sub-section means that this Tribunal will have the powers conferred on a Civil Court by the Code of Civil Procedure when Civil Court has when sitting as a Court of original jurisdiction. As a Civil Court in its appellate jurisdiction has undoubtedly the power to review its decision by reason of and under the provisions of Order 47, rule 1 of the Civil Procedure Code, we hold that this Tribunal has the power to review and on the same grounds as are defined in Order 47, rule 1 of the Code.

The workmen claimed bonus for 1947 and 1948 at the rate of 1/3rd of their basic wages earned by them in those years. That claim was rejected by the State Tribunal on the ground that in a previous adjudication by Mr. A. T. Das Gupta against which no appeal had been preferred by the workmen, the claim for those years had been rejected. We also rejected the claim but on a different ground. We held that the claim for those years could not be re-agitated, as the dispute relating to that claim had been guttled before this reference by the prevent by the Company and the been settled before this reference by the payment by the Company and the acceptance by the workmen of 1/12th of the basic earnings during those years as bonus for those years. The foundation of our judgment in this respect rested on the fact of the said payments. The ground made in the application for review is that no such payment had been made by the Company and so we proceeded on a wrong assumption of facts. Shri Ginwala admitted before us that no payment in cash was made towards bonus for those two years, and that the records of the case do not also bonus for those two years, and that the records of the case do not also show any payment for those two years. In these circumstances, we are clearly of opinion that there is an error in our judgment which appears on the face of the record. We, therefore, hold that the ground on which review has been sought for, is a ground on which we can and ought to review our judgment in the exercise of the powers conferred on us under section 9(1) of the Act. In pressing his third contention Shri Ginwala wanted to take us to go into the merits of the case. His argument was that although we committed an error by saying that bonus for years 1947 and 1948 had been paid by the Company, the rejection of the claim for bonus for those years could be sustained on different grounds. We do not think that at this stage we could go into that matter. As we are granting the review, the proper course, we think, would be to declare the passage occurring in paragraph 2 of our decision, viz., the Company had given one month's basic wages for 1947 and 1948 as bonus and the word also occurring in the next sentence and the whole of paragraphs 4 and 5 of our judgment. The result is that our judgment would not be taken to have dealt with the claim of the clerical staff of the said Company for bonus for those two years and so the appeal on this point will have to be reargued. We accordingly direct the office to call for the records from the State Tribunal and to fix up an early date for hearing after the receipt of the records and notify the parties for the purpose of rearguing the question as to whether the clerical staff of the Burmah-Shell Oil Storage & Distributing Co. of India, Ltd., Calcutta, are entitled to bonus for the years 1947 and 1948 and if so at what rates.

The Company must pay costs of this hearing which we assess at Rs. 85.

DECISION.

This appeal is by four workmen, Kaliprosad Mazumdar and three others, and is directed against an order of the Industrial Tribunal, dated 28th January 1952, on an application made by the Company under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. By the said order, permission has been given to the Company to discharge them.

- 2. At the time of the hearing, a preliminary objection was taken by Shri K. B. Bose, appearing on behalf of the Company. His contention was that the appeal was incompetent as no substantial question of law was involved. As the merits cannot be gone into if the preliminary objection succeeds, we will first consider the question as to whether a substantial question of law is involved. For the purposes of determining that question the material findings arrived at by the Tribunal as they are, must be accepted unless any of those findings are based on no evidence. Shri Acharya for the appellant does not contend that any of those findings have no evidence in support and that is also the fact. We have examined the record and find that the material findings of fact to which we will hereafter refer are based on evidence. We cannot consider the weight of that evidence unless the bar as raised by the preliminary objection is removed.
 - 3. The case of the Company was as follows:—

The Company generally pays an annual bonus at a certain rate to its time-rated and piece-rated workmen. To the Hindu workers, the payment is made at the time of the Durga Puja and to the Muslim workers at the time of Bakrid. In the year 1952, both the Bakrid and the Durga Puja fell in the last part of September 1952. The workmen demanded the payment in advance. The Company refused that prayer and its decision was communicated to the workmen. The workmen pressed their demand for advance payment again in September and the matter was discussed in the meeting of the Works Committee held on the 22nd September 1952. The Chairman of that meeting, who was a representative of the workers, predicted trouble in the factory unless the demand for advance payment was acceded to, whereupon the Company's representative at that meeting stated that he would ask the Management to reconsider its decision and if the Company reconsidered its decision that would be communicated later on in due course. He gave no further assurance relating to the time within which the decision of the Management would be communicated to them.

- 4. The workmen work in two shifts. In the first shift about 500 workmen are employed and their duties end at 5 p.m. Then the work of the night shift begins where about 300 workmen are employed. On the 24th September, namely, two days after the meeting of the Works Committee and after the day shift had ended, a large number of workmen stayed behind in the factory premises. They were disorderly, raised slogans and their behaviour was threatening. That the four workmen concerned organised a meeting inside the factory just after 5 p.m. without any permission from the management. The meeting was rowdy and the workmen remained inside the factory premises in spite of the Management's request to disperse. The meeting was addressed by the four workmen concerned who incited violence. The assembled workmen on that instigation uttered threats of violence and made it impossible for the officers and some peaceful workmen to leave the factory till 10 p.m. Charge-sheets were delivered to each of the said four workmen on the 11th of October 1952 calling upon them to explain. They submitted written explanations and after a thorough enquiry of which notice had been given to them to defend themselves, the Company came to the conclusion that the four workmen were guilty of misconduct, as defined in the Standing Orders. One of the items of misconduct under the Standing Orders was disorderly behaviour within the factory premises and another related to the holding of meetings of workmen within the factory premises without permission of the Management. They were suspended and ultimately the Company made this application to the Tribunal for permission to dismiss them.
- 5. Evidence was led before the Tribunal by the Company and on behalf of the workmen. The evidence of the Company was in support of its case which we have recited above. The case of the workmen was that the workmen, about 800 in number, had assembled in the factory grounds at about 5 p.m. on the 24th September and remained there for some time. They did so because at the Works Committee meeting, the Company's representative, who was an officer, gave an assurance that he would communicate the decision of the Company within 24 hours.

On the 24th the representatives of the workmen sent slips seeking interview with that officer for the purposes of knowing from him the final decision of the Management. No interview was, however, granted and the workmen remained assembled with the expectation that the decision would be communicated to them by that officer. There was no meeting as alleged by the Company and no speeches. There was no disorderly conduct or the shouting of objectionable slogans as alleged by the Company. In support of their defence, they led evidence. The Tribunal considered the evidence led by both the parties and recorded findings thereon. The summary of these findings are as follows:—

- (1) That on 24th September 1952 a large number of workmen assembled in the factory grounds, about 400 according to the Company and about 800 according to the Union, after the close of work of the first shift at 5 p.m. They took possession of the space from Gate No. 1 to the staircase leading to the factory Manager's office; a meeting was held there without the permission of the Management and the said four workmen against whom permission to dismiss was applied for delivered violent speeches;
- (2) that the workmen stayed on till nearly 10 p.m. in the night in spite of the request of the Management to disperse;
- (3) that during that period they laid a seige and shouted slogans calculated to coerce the Management to accede to their demand for advance payment of bonus;
- (4) that the officials and some of the clerks who were in the office were prevented from going home till the demonstrators had dispersed at about 10 p.m.;
- (5) that the conduct of those workmen was that of defiance and afront to the Management, deliberately subversive of discipline and without any justification or provocation;
- (6) that the said 4 opposite parties were 4 of the principal organisers of the meeting which resulted in the demonstration on that night; and
- (7) that the selection of the 4 opposite parties for charge-sheeting them was in no way the result of unfair discrimination or inspired by motives of victimisations.
- Mr. Acharya appearing in support of the appeal contends that :-
 - (1) that according to the evidence of the Company besides these four workmen, there were five others who organised the meeting within the factory without obtaining permission and addressed the workers;

- (2) that the Company took no steps against those five workers and that they are still in employment;
- (3) that these facts have not been considered by the Tribunal;
- (4) that these admitted facts would prove unfair labour practice inasmuch as the Company has picked and chosen four out of the group of nine workmen, who according to the case of the Company were equally guilty; and
- (5) that the Tribunal has not referred to and considered other items of evidence.

In substance, Shri Acharya's argument is that there are two substantial points of law, namely,—

- (1) that all the evidence material to the case was not reviewed by the Tribunal in its order, and
- (2) that the Tribunal in arriving at its finding that there was no unfair discrimination, has not given proper weight to this aspect, namely, that the remaining five workmen who according to the Company were equally guilty had not been proceeded against.

This Tribunal, as also the Supreme Court has pointed out that one of the points in the enquiry when permission to punish a workman by way of dismissal or otherwise is sought for, is whether in seeking permission, the Management was being actuated by motives of victimisation or other improper motives or was guilty of unfair labour practice.

- A Tribunal or a Court is not bound to note in its judgment or order all the evidence led on a material point. No question of law is involved if a Tribunal refers in its judgment to such of the evidence which it considers to be worth noticing. All that has to be seen is whether the Tribunal has applied its mind to the salient points in the case. In this case it had applied its mind to the question of unfair discrimination and noticed the fact that the four opposite parties were only some of the workmen who had organised the unauthorised meeting and made speeches. The last point, therefore, urged by Shri Acharya does not, in our opinion, raise a question of law, much less a substantial one. It considered the question whether the selection of these four workmen out of that group for disciplinary action was an improper selection, that is to say, a selection made with an ulterior motive, namely, victimisation, etc., and it has recorded its finding of fact thereon. We may go further and say that where more than one workman is guilty of the same misconduct, the selection of some of them without more for purpose inflicting punishment would not amount to unfair labour practice. The Management, in our opinion, has a discretion in the matter of selection and if in the exercise of its discretion in a bona fide manner it comes to the conclusion that the conduct of some of them who have committed the same misconduct is much more objectionale than the conduct of the others, there would be nothing wrong for the Management in either not taking action against those others by excusing them or in inflicting a lesser punishment. It is only if the selection is made with motives of victimisation, that would be improper. To illustrate the proposition by reference to the facts of this case the position is as the holding of a meeting within the factory compound without permission of the Management is misconduct which makes the workmen joining that meeting liable to be dismissed. If Shri Achary's contention be pushed to its logical extent it would amount to this that all the workmen who had attended that meeting, 500 according to the Company and about 800 according to the workmen, should have been proceeded against by the Company or none at all, and the selection of even of the nine organisers for punishment would have amounted to unfair labour practice. That is an impossible proposition to accept, for in that case the Company would have no other alternative but to dismiss them all or most out the same punishment to all for avoiding the charge of unfair labour practice. We have already pointed out that the finding of the Tribunal is that the Company was not actuated by motives of victimisation in electing to proceed against these four workmen. That is to say, there was nothing unfair when the Company decided to take action against those four workmen out of the group of nine persons who had organised the meeting.
- 7. The scope of the enquiry when permission is sought for to dismiss has been defined by the Supreme Court in Atherton West & Company's case. All the Tribunal has to see is (1) whether a prima facie case has been made out and (2) whether the action of the employer was bona fide. On both these points the Tribunal has recorded its findings on a consideration of the evidences led before it. As already observed by us, those findings as they are must be accepted for seeing whether on those findings a question of law arises.
- 8. The other point urged is that the Tribunal had not noticed in its judgment all the evidence on the record. This cannot be considered to raise a point of law, for a Court or Tribunal is not bound in law to advert to and consider in its judgment every item of evidence however trivial it may be. We, therefore, hold that no substantial question of law is involved in the appeal. It is accordingly dismissed as being incompetent. Parties to bear their respective costs.

True copy of the order No. 3, dated 14th September 1953.

A petition of compromise has been filed and both sides pray that the appeal be disposed of in terms thereof. The prayer is allowed. Let this terms of settlement be made a part of our order.

J. N. MAJUMDAR, Chairman.

R. C. MITTER, Member.

Appeal No. Cal-326/52.

We, on behalf of Pioneer Match Factory, Dum Dum, and the workmen employed there, by joint deliberations, have come to an agreement on the terms stated below.

We jointly apply to the Hon'ble Tribunal to accept this agreement as final determination of the disputes now pending before the said Tribunal.

Terms of agreement.

- 1. All workmen including monthly paid staff employed in the factory at Dum Dum are retrenched with effect from 19th August 1953.
- 2. The retrenched workmen will receive the following payments on 30th September 1953:—
 - (a) Due wages of the monthly paid staff up to 19th August 1953. Due wages, if any, to the weekly paid workmen.
 - (b) Wages for leave earned in 1952 and 1953 under the Factories Act and not enjoyed. Wages on account of sick leave, if the same has not been paid to any workmen even on production of medical certificate in the year 1953.
 - (2) Gratuity at the rate of 15 days' basic pay per year of service to the workmen with more than three years' service. Workmen with less than three years' service but more than six months' service will be paid 15 days' wages for the entire period of service. In calculating the basic wages, the average basic wages of the last twelve months ending on 31st May 1953, will be taken as monthly basic pay.
 - (d) The monthly paid workmen will be given one month's total wages in lieu of notice and the weekly paid workmen one week's total wages as notice pay.
- 3. The gratuity to the wife of Mokshada Ranjan Sen, the deceased worker, will also be paid on 30th September 1953.
- 4. Shri Radha Raman Das who was injured in course of employment will be paid his compensation as per Workmen's Compensation Act.
- 5. If the factory is re-opened, the Management will give preference to the ex-employees when they recruit men for the said factory. If a new workman is recruited in supersession of claim of an ex-employee and if the ex-workmen concerned is aggrieved by such a decision, then he will make a representation to the Labour Directorate, West Bengal. The parties aggree to abide by the decision of the Labour Directorate, West Bengal, in such matters.
- 6. The Union in view of the above agreement will advise the workmen who have filed applications under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, to withdraw their applications pending before the said Tribunal. The Union and the Management will try to settle this dispute mutually, failing which the case of the aggrieved employees will be taken up by the Labour Directorate, West Bengal, and the parties agree to accept the findings of the Labour Directorate, West Bengal, in this matter.

The Union agrees to apply to the Hon'ble Appellate Tribunal requesting the Appellate Tribunal to accept the abovementioned terms as the terms of agreement for settlement of the dispute now pending before the Hon'ble Appellate Tribunal.

DEPARTMENT OF INSURANCE.

' Simla-4, the 24th November 1953.

NOTIFICATION.

INSURANCE.

106-IF(18)/53.—It is hereby notified for the information of all concerned that the Bhagya Lakshmi Insurance, Limited, Calcutta, has furnished to the Controller of Insurance who is the officer appointed by the Central Government under section 6B(1) of the Insurance Act, 1938, a scheme of reconstruction of the said insurer's capital structure under section 6B of the said Act, with a view to bringing that structure into conformity with the requirements of section 6A of the said Act. A copy of the said scheme is annexed herewith.

- 2. Notice is hereby given that the said scheme will be taken into consideration by the Controller of Insurance on or after the 30th December 1953.
- 3. Any objection or suggestion received in the Department of Insurance, Kennedy Cottage, Simla, with respect to the said scheme before the date specified will be considered by the Controller of Insurance.

ANNEXURE.

Scheme of reconstruction of the capital structure of the Bhagya Lakshmi Insurance, Limited, Calcutta, under section 6B of the Insurance Act, 1938.

The present Capital structure of the company is:—

Authorised Capital:		_

Since the capital of an Insurance Company is to consist only of Ordinary shares, the authorised capital of the company is re-constituted as follows:

1. Authorised Capital:

1,00,000 Ordinary shares of Rs. 10 each

Rs. 10,00,000

- II. The company has issued two kinds of shares—Ordinary and Deferred, the former having the face value of Rs. 10 each and the latter Re. 1 each. All Deferred shares of the company are to be converted into Ordinary Shares having the same face value of Rs. 10 each.
- III. The existing Deferred shares will be converted into Ordinary shares, every ten Deferred shares, being taken together for making up an Ordinary share of Rs. 10 each.
- IV. Any person holding a fraction of ten Deferred shares or having a balance of less than ten Deferred shares after the enversion of his Deferred shares into Ordinary shares as per III, will be given one Ordinary share paid-up for the amount represented by the face value of these balance Deferred shares. He will be liable for payment of the balance of the Call maney on such Ordinary shares.

Example.

- (a) A person holds only three Deferred shares of Re. 1 each. He will be given one Ordinary share of Rs. 10. This share will be treated to be paid up for Rs. 3. He will be liable to pay the balance of Rs. 7 on this Ordinary share.
- (b) A person holds twenty-five Deferred shares. He will be given two Ordinary shares of Rs. 10 each fully paid-up and another Ordinary share of Rs. 10 with Rs. 5 paid-up. On this third Ordinary share he will be liable to pay the balance of Rs. 5.
- V. The balance amount of Call money will be payable within one month from the date of sanction of the scheme. Failing such payments, the shares concerned will be forfeited.
- VI. The existing 25,000 Deferred shares are being converted into 2,503 Ordinary shares as per scheme given below:—

No.	Name of the holder.	No. of Deferred shares.	No. of Ordinary shares as per scheme.
1.	Aryasthan Insurance Co. Ltd.	24,850	2,485
2.	Shri I. B. Banerji	3	1

8.	Shri R. C. Banerjee	25	8
9.	Shri S. L. Mukherjee	25	3
		25,000	2,503

If any transfer of share is effected making up the holdings of Nos. 2, 3, 4, 5, 8 and 9 multiples of ten, the scheme of conversion into Ordinary shares as given above will be accordingly adjusted.

VII. On this conversion being effected, the structure of the issued Capital is changed as follows:—

Issued Capital:

Rs.

42,503 Ordinary shares of Rs. 10 each

4,25,030

VIII. On the existing basis of holding of Deferred shares, the structure of subscribed Capital and Paid-up Capital will be as follows:—

Subscribed Capital:

42,503 Ordinary shares of Rs. 10 each

Less 23,967 shares forfeited.

In the matter of an appeal against the award made on 30th May 1952 by Shri M. C. Banerjee, Judge, Industrial Tribunal, Calcutta, in respect of an industrial dispute between the above parties.

Decision.

By its order No. 2221Dis./101/1851, dated 8th of November 1951, the Government of West Bengal referred 10 items of dispute between the two Companies, Messrs. Garden Reach Workshop Ltd. and Messrs. McNeill and Berry Ltd. and their workmen. The subject matter of this appeal which is on behalf of 25 workmen is against the award on issue No. 5 of the said reference. That issue is in the following terms:—

- "5(a) Whether the 25 clerks originally at the Company's Head Office and since transferred to the workshop in 1947 are entitled to all the benefits and privileges pertaining to the clerical staff of the Head Office. If so, under what conditions?"
- 5(b) Whether the said 25 clerks are entitled to any redress for privileges, if any, not granted to them since their transfer to the workshop; if so, what?"
- 2. The Head Office of both the Companies, namely, Messrs. McNeill and Berry and the Garden Reach Workshop Ltd. are located in the same premises at No. 2, Fairley Place, Calcutta. Before the Tribunal, these 25 clerks contended that they were employees of Messrs. McNeill and Berry originally employed at the Head Office and on their transfer to the workshop at Garden Reach, they still continued to be the employees of Messrs. McNeill and Berry Limited. The Tribunal, however, recorded the finding that at the time of their transfer which was in the year 1947, they were workmen of the Garden Reach Workshop Limited. This finding was sought to be assailed before us by the appellant but we do not think that there are sufficient materials on the record to substantiate their contention. In fact, the letters of appointments on which the Counsel for the appellants relied upon for substantiating his contention go against them. They show clearly that they were engaged as employees of the Garden Reach Workshop Limited by its Managing Agents Messrs. McNeill and Berry Ltd.
- 3. At the hearing before the Tribunal, the case of these 25 clerks was that while posted at the Head Office (a) they enjoyed a larger number of festival holidays, (b) they were being paid at a higher rate for overtime and holiday work than what they are being given after their transfer to Garden Reach Workshop. They further stated that they were entitled to (c) tiffin allowance and (d) travelling allowance which are being paid to the Head Office clerks. They further claimed (e) Pujah advance and (f) Pujah borus for the year 1951 on the ground that the clerical staff at the Head Office was paid Pujah advance and Pujah borus in that year. For the purposes of supporting their claims they put forward alternative cases, namely, (1) that before and after their transfer, they were employees of Mesars. McNeill and Berry Ltd. and ought to be treated on the same footing as the employees of McNeill and Berry at the Head Office and (2) that at the time of the transfer, the Management gave an assurance that the salary and other amenities which they were then enjoying when posted at the Head Office would not be prejudicially affected on their transfer. Before us, a third ground was taken, namely, that even if they were not the employees of McNeill and Berry but of Garden Reach Workshop Ltd., their transfer to Garden Reach workshop was only a temporary affair and so, they are entitled to all the privileges and other amenities which the employees of the Garden Reach Workshop Ltd. posted at the head office have been and are enjoying. The first ground was repelled by the Tribunal and our conclusion is that the finding in that respect made by the Tribunal is correct one. The third ground which has been for the first time urged before us has no substance. The orders for transfer have been exhibited in the case. They militate against the case of the transfer being only temporary. Besides, the fact is that they have been kept employed at the Garden Reach Workshop for more than four years, that is to say, from 1947 to the end of 1951. This is a factor which also militates against the case of the workmen that their transfers were temporary, a case which they attempted to establish only by oral evidence, which is not acceptable, to us in the face of circumstances which we have pointed out.

- 4. The second case only has, therefore, to be considered. We have already stated the case of the workmen on the point. The case of the Management, however, is that the Management realise that if the service conditions of clerks employed at the Garden Reach Workshop who were about 300 in number be made applicable in all its strictness to these 25 clerks on their transfer they would be financially affected to a certain extent. So at the time of the transfer, the Company increased their wages at a flat rate of Rs. 15 per month to compensate for these disadvantages. To explain the increment of Rs. 15 per month in their salary, the workmen led evidence to the effect that the said increment was given to them to compensate them for their part-time earnings elsewhere after the office hours. In fact, one of the workmen in his deposition says that while in Calcutta he used to make extra income by working as a private tutor and as the transfer to Kidderpore had the effect of depriving him of this part-time extra income, the Company took that fact into consideration and allowed an increment in the salary. The Tribunal observed and we think rightly, that this explanation is fantastic. The Tribunal seem to agree with the Management's case, namely, that the increment in their salary was given to compensate them for the disadvantages they would be put to if the terms and conditions of the other clerks employed at the workshop were made applicable to them. We also think that the Management's case on the point is acceptable. The other clerks employed there whose number was considerable that would have created discontent and so, they were left to enjoy the same privileges and amenities which those other clerks when employed at the Workshop were enjoying and Rs. 15 as increment in their salary was given by way of compensation to make good the difference in the amenities and privileges which those clerks when at the Head Office were enjoying. The Tribunal, however, came to the conclusion that the increment of Rs. 15 in their salary
- 5. As we have come to the conclusion that the Company's case is acceptable, it is unnecessary to consider the details of the claim on the six heads which we have enumerated above. But as the matter has been argued before us in great detail by the appellants, we wish to express our views thereon. The clerks at the Head Office are getting 28 days' festival holidays. The staff at the Workshop were being given originally 10 days' festival holidays which were later on increased to 12 days. There is some controversy whether the number was further increased, the Company's contention being that it was increased to 16. We do not, however, consider that to be material; for there would still be a difference in the number of holidays which the Head Office staff and the staff at the Workshop enjoy. The overtime allowances at the Head Office was Rs. 1-8 per hour. For some time the rate of overtime at the Workshop was Re. 1 for a day of two hours, but from the year 1949 onwards, the overtime allowances for both the places were placed on the same footing. If we have believed the case of the employees and discarded that of the employer, a claim under these two heads, namely, holidays and overtime which has been evaluated in the written statement of the workmen at Rs. 8,025 and Rs. 7,043 would have had to be considered. But as the Tribunal has accepted the employer's version and we agree with the Tribunal, this question does net arise. The Tribunal, however, considered the compensation of Rs. 15 per month in the shape of increment in their salary to be inadequate and increased it to Rs. 20. There is no appeal by the Company against this part of the award and, therefore, we must proceed on the footing that Rs. 20 per month (Rs. 16 plus Rs. 5) would be adequate to compensate them for the disadvantages which they had to suffer by reason of their permanent transfer to the Workshop at Garden Reach. We would deal later on with the question as to the time from which this increment of Rs. 5 is to take-effect.
- 6. With regard to tiffin allowance, the position is this that at the time of their transfer no tiffin allowances were payable to the clerks at the Head Office. The system of paying tiffin allowance to the clerks employed at the Head Office was introduced some time later. In these circumstances, we do not see how this claim could be admissible in any event. The claim for the travelling allowances is equally unsustainable. The evidence is that the clerks employed in the Head Office used to be paid annas 9 for travelling allowances when they had to travel on duty from the Head Office to other places. We fail to see how these clerks can claim travelling allowances for coming to the office from their respective residences, even if the case of the workmen that at the time of transfer, the Management gave them the assurance that their amenities and privileges would not be curtailed on their transfer had been accepted. That would not be travelling on duty. With regard to 1951 Pujah advance, the evidence coming from the side of the workmen is that the clerks employed at the Head Office and at the Workshop were given by way of advance before the Pujah two and a half months' salary. The grievance is that, at the time of the hearing, the advance so given to the clerks employed at the Workshop including these 25 clerks had been fully recovered while one month's advance only had been recovered from the Head Office clerks and the remaining one and a half month's advance was still outstanding. There is no evidence that the Management has given up its claim to recover the balance of the advance from the Head Office clerks. This claim, therefore, has no legs to stand upon.

- 7. With regard to the Pujah bonus for the year 1951, the evidence given on the workmen's side is that only the clerk of Messrs. McNeill and Berry at the Head Office were given one month's basic wages as Pujah bonus for that year and no clerks of the Garden Reach Workshop Ltd. posted at the Head Office was given any bonus for that year. As our finding is that these 25 clerks are the employees of the Garden Reach Workshop Ltd., the claim for bonus for that year is entirely unfounded.
- 8. The only other point, that remains to be considered, is the point relating to the time from which the increment of Rs. 5 in the salary which has been awarded by the Tribunal is to be given effect to. That increment has been made prospective from the date of the award but for the past a lump compensation of Rs. 50 to each of these clerks has been awarded. We think that this is wrong. When the Tribunal came to the conclusion that the increment of Rs. 15 in the salary was not adequate to compensate these 25 clerks for their financial loss due to their transfer but Rs. 5 more was required to compensate them for the difference in the terms of employment at the Head Office and at the Workshop. On the items of holiday and overtime allowance, we do not see any reason why this additional sum of Rs. 5 should not be paid to them from the date of their transfers. We accordingly modify this part of the award and direct the Company to pay this additional sum of Rs. 5 to each of these 25 clerks from the date of their respective transfers to the Garden Reach Workshop.
- 9. For greater caution, we may add that in this judgment we have only dealt with the special case of these 25 clerks under Issue No. 5. An appeal has been preferred by the workmen of the Garden Reach Workshop Limited against the award on the other issues referred to for adjudication by aforesaid order of the West Bengal Government. That appeal has been numbered as Cal-184/52. It is still pending and it is needless to say that these 25 clerks would get the benefit of the result of that appeal on the other issues along with the other workmen (clerks) of the Garden Reach Workshop. As the appeal has succeeded in part, we direct the Garden Reach Workshop Limited to pay Rs. 100 to the appellants as costs.

DECISION.

- 1. The validity of the discharge of Shri G. K. Rakshit was referred by the Government of West Bengal for adjudication by the Chairman of the Third Industrial Tribunal (hereafter called the Tribunal), West Bengal. He was discharged from service from the 1st January 1951 by a notice, dated the 31st December 1950. On receipt of the reference the Tribunal framed three issues which are as follows:—
 - (1) Is the order of reference bad in law—is there any industrial dispute between the Company and its workmen over the dismissal of Shri G. K. Rakshit?
 - (2) Is Shri G. K. Rakshit a workman?
 - (3) Was the dismissal of Shri G. K. Rakshit justified and if he is entitled to be reinstated or to any other relief?

The word "dismissal" used in these issues is not happy, for according to both parties the case is one of retrenchment.

- 2. In its award, dated the 22nd August 1952, which was published in the local gazette on the 17th September, following the Tribunal answered the first issue in the affirmative, found Shri Rakshit to be an officer and held that the termination of his service was justified. The workmen have appealed. No question of its competence arises, for as we have already said the case is one of retrenchment and no question has been raised before us in respect of the decision of the Tribunal on the first issue.
- 3. Shri Rakshit was in Rangoon. During the evacuation from Burma due to the Military operations there, he came to India and was given employment by the Company in its Shillong Office where he worked from 1944 to the end of 1946. Thereafter when there was no work for him there, he was discharged and kept in employment for a time on a temporary basis at the Gauhati Office of the Company. Then from March 1947 he was employed at the Calcutta Office of the Company, as a new entrant. Hence for the purpose of issue No. 2 his position at the Calcutta Office is only relevant. There he was employed in the Finance Department up to the end of 1949. Thereafter he was transferred to the Import Department to organise the Account Section, the work of reorganisation of the Account Section had been finished he was discharged as aforesaid on the ground that he was a surplus hand. The transfer to the Import Department being a temporary arrangement, the duties he had to perform and the nature of his responsibility in the Finance Department will, therefore, determine his status whether he was a clerk or an officer. In determining that question his duties and the nature of his responsibility in that department both must be taken into consideration. His designation or the fact that he had no right to "command" would not be material. This is the effect of the decision of a Banch of this Tribunal in Punjab National Bank, Ltd. vs. Jaswant Singh Alim and others (1952 L.A.C. 529).

- 4. At Calcutta Office his designation was that of a "local assistant". With regard to the nature of his duties and responsibility in the Finance Department, there is only oral evidence—that of Shri Rakshit and of Mr. Dent, the Manager of Calcutta Office. He had to do some clerical work. Besides he had to supervise the work of clerks. He did the routine correspondence, but even then the drafts had to be approved by a superior officer. The letters sent had to be usually signed on behalf of the Company, not by him, but by a superior officer. Thus his responsibilities were not of such a character as would be expected in the case of an officer. His starting pay (basic wages) Rs. 300 whereas the maximum basic wages of A Grade Clerks was Rs. 260. He got dearness allowance at a rate which was different from the rates of clerks who were in grades A, B and C. Besides he got house allowance which was not allowed to any clerks of those grades. His basic wages, dearness and house allowances cannot, in our opinion, be a settler on the point. The Company was a party to the Mercantile award which fixed the scale of wages and dearness allowance of A Grade, B Grade and C Grade Clerks, leaving the Companies which were parties to that award to fix the remuneration of special grade clerks, whose position was higher than A Grade Clerks. Taking the whole evidence and judging it by the test laid down in Jaswant Singh Alim's case, we hold, in disagreement with the Tribunal, that Rakshit was a workman.
- 5. When it was found that his services at Gauhati would end within a short time, Mr. West, the Company's Manager at Gauhati, took an interest in him. Feeling that there was little chance of keeping him in the employ of the Company anywhere he tried to secure a job for him elsewhere. He strongly recommended him to another Company of Calcutta, Messrs. Price, Waterhouse Peat & Co., to which firm Rakshit ultimately made a written application on the 14th March 1947. That Company wrote a letter to the Gauhati Office of the Company which was in charge of Mr. West, stating that though there was no vacancy it was prepared to take him in, apparently because of Mr. West's strong recommendation (Ext. G). Just about this time, the Company (Steel Bros.) was given what has been called the Assam Agency for which additional hands were required at the Calcutta Office. That Agency was to last for two years and its work was to arrange with the B.T.A. (Bengal Textiles Association), also a temporary organisation for the supply of cloth and to distribute the cloth so received to the Toa Gardens in Assam. Mr. West at once tried to get Rakshit employed as a new entrant at the Calcutta Office and he succeeded with Mr. Massey, the Manager of the Company at Calcutta. Rakshit was at once sent to Calcutta. Mr. Massey's letter to Mr. West, dated the 29th March 1947 (Ex. G-1) is very material. It states that Rakshit had already joined and was proving himself useful. Mr. West was informed of his emoluments. The letter concluded by saying that in all probability he would be kept employed there at least for a year. On the same day, Mr. Massey informed Messrs. Price, Waterhouse Peat & Co. that Company should not proceed further in the matter of appointment of Rakshit as his Calcutta Office has been able to give him employment which would last at least for a year. On the same day, Mr. Massey informed Messrs. Price, Waterhouse Peat & Co. that Company or the statements made in Exts. G-1 and G-2 which necessarily implies that his appointment in the C for Director of Public Instruction West Bengal.

Education Directorate,

NOTIFICATION.

No. 6T.B.—11th July 1953.—In modification of this offinotification No. 2T.B., dated 9th April 1953, it is here notified for the information of authors and publishers the last date for submission of text-books on History class V is now altered from 14th July to 28th July 19 and that for the submission of text-books on Geograpi and Natural Science for class V is now altered from 17 July to 31st July 1953. Books on the above subjects specified before should be submitted to the Text-book Committee on or before the above dates as required.

Director of Public Instruction West Bengal.

BOARD OF SECONDARY EDUCATION, WEST BENGAL.

NOTIFICATION No. 2/53.

Calcutta, the 7th July 1953.

It is hereby notified for general information that 31st July 1953 has been fixed as the last date for admission to a recognized High School of candidates, who were unsuccessful at the School Final Examination, 1953. In special cases, such candidates may be admitted to a recognized High School after 31st July 1953, but each such case should be reported to the Board by the Headmaster immediately after admission in the prescribed form and with a fee of Rs. 3 for condonation of late admission. On no account, however, any such candidate should be admitted to a recognized school after 31st August

It is also notified that alternative questions in English, Bengali and Sanskrit will be set at the School Final Examination, 1954, from the books prescribed as text-books in these subjects (but not as Rapid Readers) for the School Final Examination, 1953.

It is also notified that alternative questions in English would be set at the School Final Examination, 1954, so that the candidates who want to avoid answering questions from pieces entitled "Jamsaheb of Nawanagar", "Marvels of Marconi" and "Prince Arthur and Hubert" might not be put to a disadvantage.

S. K. CHATTERJEA, Secretary.

TAKI GOVERNMENT INTERMEDIATE COLLEGE.

Prospectus for Session, 1953-54.

1. Admission.

- 1. The College is open to students of all communities and religious persuasions.
- 2. Applications for admission should be made in the printed form soon after the publication of the University results. The form may be had from the College office on personal application or by sending a stamped envelope.
- 3. "Students who have passed the Matriculation Examination in the 1st or 2nd Division may be admitted to the College. Applications from the students passing the Matriculation Examination in the 3rd Division will also be received which will be considered if seats are available after admitting the students passing in the 1st or 2nd Division. Women students fulfilling the above conditions may also be admitted to the College". Students who have come with transfer certificates from other Colleges may be admitted if their attendance and progress in studies at the College where they last studied are considered satisfactory. Plucked candidates are required to produce the mark-sheet or the cross list. Students from other Universities or School Boards should submit their Matriculation mark-sheet and Migration certificate with their application.

2. Courses of studies.

The College teaches up to the I.A. and I.Sc. standard of the Calcutta University. The following combination of subjects is permitted:—

- (i) I.A.—English, Bengali (Vernacular) and any three of the following subjects:—History or Mathematics, Logic, Elements of Civics and Economics and Sanskrit.
- (ii) I.Sc.—English, Bengali (Vernacular), Mathematics, Physics and Chemistry.

3. Fees.

1. (a) The rate of tuition fees is—

 Per month

 Rs.

 I.A.
 ...

 I.Sc.
 ...

Fees have to be paid from June to the following May for each ecademic session.

(b) Tuition fees should be paid by the date fixed by the Principal every month, after which a delay fine of 8 amas will be levied which will in no case be remitted. If fees are not paid by the last working day of the month, the defaulters' names will be struck off the rolls and they will be readmitted on payment of the arrear dues including the monthly fee and a readmission fee equivalent to half the tuition fee in all cases as well as fees for the intervening period, if any, in case they seek readmission during the same acaditaic session. No separate line will be levied in such cases.

- 2. New students are required to pay, on entrance, an admission fee equal to a month's tuition fee. The rate of transfer fee is the same.
- 3. First year students have to pay the University Registration fee of Rs. 2. A student migrating to this University should pay a Migration fee of Rs. 20 as well as the Registration fee.
- 4. At the beginning of each session all students will be required to pay an Athletic fee of Rs. 4, Union fee of Rs. 2, Common Room fee of Rs. 2, an Examination fee of Rs. 2 and Magazine fee of Rs. 2.
- N.B.—Subject to the approval of the Government, the rates of contributions to the compulsory private funds may be enhanced. In that case, the students will be required to pay the difference.
- 5. All students have to deposit Rs. 5 for the use of the Library and I.Sc. students have to pay also a Laboratory Deposit of Rs. 10. These sums are returned when a student leaves the College, subject to any deduction for loss or damage. The deposit amount will not be refunded to any student leaving the College without paying Government dues and will be forfeited to Government if not withdrawn by the students within five years from the date of deposit.

All these extra fees must be paid at the time of admission.

4. Accommodation.

The maximum number of seats available is as follows:-

I.A. each year 40
I.Sc. each year 60

5. Library.

The College is furnished with a well-equipped Library.

PART IB—Educational Notices BOARD OF SECONDARY EDUCATION, WEST BENGAL.

NOTIFICATION No. Syl./29.

Calcutta, the 2nd July 1953.

The following shall be the syllabuses of studies for Classes VI, VII and VIII in the subjects mentioned below. The new syllabuses will be introduced from the year 1954:—

ENGLISH.

Readers shall be prescribed for each of the Classes VI, VII and VIII. Each Reader will be written in a well-graded "controlled vocabulary" and the number of new words introduced in each Reader should not ordinarily exceed by more than 5 per cent. the limit indicated for each class.

Grammatical topics which should be taught in each class have been indicated. Grammar and Composition work should be taught based on the subject matter of the lessons in the Readers. Each lesson should, therefore, indicate appropriate grammatical forms used and suggest suitable composition work that may be based on the reading matter. No text-book in Grammar or Composition will be prescribed for these classes.

Class VI.

Reader.—The Reader should have about 80 pages (Cr. 8vo. printed in 12 point type) with suitable illustrations and should include 10 to 12 pages of poetry. The pupils should learn by heart some of the poetry pieces. Legends, stories of bravery and adventure, accounts of sports and games and descriptions of interesting places and peoples should form the reading matter of the lessons. While the Reader would deal mainly with the life and environment of the pupils, the emphasis should not exclusively be on Indian life, scenes and surroundings.

The Reader should be written in well-graded words in common use employing 500 new words, additional to the words already introduced in the Primer prescribed for Class V.

The new words introduced should be shown in thick type at the top of each lesson where the more important idioms and words of irregular spellings used in the lesson should also be indicated.

Grammar.—The following topics shall be taught:—

- .I. (i) Parts of speech (but without sub-classification)—nouns, pronouns, adjectives, verbs, adverbs, prepositions, conjunctions, interjections and the articles;
- (ii) Number;
- (iii) Gender;
- (iv) Simple tenses—past, present and future;
- (v) Division of simple sentences into subject, predicate and object.
- II. (i) Sub-classification of nouns;
- (ii) Nominative, Objective and Possessive cases of nouns;
 - (iii) Verbs—transitive and, intransitive;
 - (iv) Use of capital letters;
 - (v) Use of the full stop, quotation marks and interrogation mark.

Composition work.—Suitable composition work should be based on the reading matter in the lessons.

No separate text-book on Grammar and Composition will be prescribed.

Class VII.

Reader.—The Reader should have about 100 pages (Cr. 8vo. printed in 12 point type) with suitable illustrations and should include 15 to 20 pages of poetry. The pupils should commit to memory at least some of the poetry pieces. The reading matter should deal with subjects which are likely to interest the pupils of this age group such as, tales of adventure, travels, biographies (including the lives of eminent Indians) and accounts of scientific discoveries. Some of the lessens should be on the civic duties of boys and girls to enable them to grow up as good citizens.

The Reader should be written in simple present-day English and should introduce about 600 additional well-graded words. The sentences should be longer and should have a large number of clauses than sentences used in the Reader for Class VI.

The new words used in each lesson should be shown in thick type at the top of each lesson where the more important idioms and words of irregular spellings used in the lesson should also be indicated.

Grammar.—The following topics shall be taught:-

- 1. (i) Pronouns—Person, Number and Cases;
- (ii) Adjectives and Adverbs—comparison;
- (iii) Verbs—(a) Simple Conjugation; (b) Voice; (c) Perfect and Continuous tenses; (d) Auxiliary Verbs— to be, to have, to do, can, may, should, could, ought; (e) Mood—Indicative and Infinitive.
- II. (i) Analysis of Simple Tenses—subject, predicate, object, adjuncts to subject and complementary objects.
- (ii) Punctuation.

Composition work should be based mainly on the lessons in the Reader. No separate text-book on Grammar and Composition will be prescribed.

Class VIII.

Reader.—The Reader should have about 140 pages (Cr. 8vo. printed in 12 point type) with suitable illustrations and should have about 22 to 25 pages of poetry. The pupils should commit to memory some at least of the poetry pieces. The reading matter should deal with subjects which are likely to interest pupils of this age group and some lessons should deal with the social obligations of the citizens.

The Reader should be written in simple present-day English but sentences of a more complex character than those used in the earlier Reader should be used. The Reader should introduce about 700 additional well-graded words.

The new words introduced in each lesson should be shown in thick type at the top of each lesson where the more important idioms and words of irregular spellings used in the lesson should be indicated.

Grammar.—The following topics shall be taught:—

- I. (i) Nouns and Pronouns—direct, indirect and retained objects;
- (ii) Verbs—(a) Mood—Indicative, subjunctive, imperative, infinitive;
 (b) Defective verbs; (c) Auxiliary verbs; (d) Participles.
- II. (i) Analysis—(a) Complex and Compound sentences; (b) Clause Analysis—Nouns, Adjectival and Adverbial clauses;
- (ii) Narration—direct and indirect speech of a simple kind;
- (iii) Transformation of complex and compound sentences—uses of conjunctions.

Composition work.—Pupils should be given ample written composition work mainly based on the subject matter of the lessons in the Reader.

No separate text-book on Grammar and Composition will be prescribed.

HISTORY.

The text-books for Classes VI, VII and VIII should emphasize the story element and try to bring out the colourful and dramatic aspects in great events, great lives and in the life of the people in the past ages, without imposing on the pupils taught a continuous factual narrative of world history or burdening them with too many details. The objective should be to arouse the interest of the young learners and to focus their attention on the great and memorable epochs of human endeavour. While avoiding a dull narrative, the inter-relations of various epochs should, however, be briefly stressed to give a broad sense of chromological sequence.

The sections dealing with Indian History should bring out adequately the part played by India in different spechs and in her relations with other civilized nations.

The History syllabus for Classes VI, VII and VIII is an integrated whole; in Class VI the Ancient World, in Class VII the Middle Ages and in Class VIII the Modern Age have been dealt with to give a comprehensive view of history through ages.

After each topic the number of pages that should be devoted to it has been shown in brackets.

Pupils will be expected to be thoroughly familiar with the Devnagri script and should be taught to write in it.

Six stotras in simple matters which the pupils will be expected to learn by heart should be included in the prescribed text. Pupils will be expected only to memorize these stotras and understand their general sense.

The Reader will consist of 32 pages $(8'' \times 5\frac{1}{2}'')$ printed in 12 point Calcutta face type and shall contain the following:

Prose.—The prose pieces are to be selected from such standard work as Panchatantra and Hitopodesha; and short stories written in a simple style from the Sanskrit classics, the Ramayana, the Mahabharata, the Jatakas and the like should also be included. At the end of each lesson suitable exercises should be indicated.

Poetry.—The poetry portion should not exceed 60 lines in "Anustubh" metre. Of the poetry portion at least 30 lines should be committed to memory.

Grammar.—The following topics will be covered in Classes VII and VIII:-

Sandhi, Vibhakti, Declensions of all typical words ending in vowels and some words ending in consonants of common occurrence;

अस्मब्, युव्मब्, यब्, तब् and किम् and the four numerals in all the genders ; कारक and विभिन्त, विशेष्य-विशेषण ; Conjugation of important typical roots in लड़, लड़ and लड़ only.

Composition and Translation .- The pupils would be required to construct simple Sanskrit sentences illustrating क्रियांकारकभाव and विशेष्य-विशेषण-They should also be required to translate simple sentences from the mother tongue into Sanskrit.

The Reader shall consist of 48 pages printed in 12 point Calcutta face type (Cr. 8vo.). The Reader shall contain the following:—

Prose.—The prose pieces should be of the same nature as in Class VII, but should be a little more lengthy and of a higher standard. At the end of each lesson exercises should be inserted.

bry.—The poetry portion should not exceed 80 lines, mostly written in Anustubh (and other simple metres) of which 40 lines should be committed to memory.

Grammar.—The remaining portions of the grammar introduced in Class VII shall be taught.

Composition.—The pupils will be expected to express simple ideas in Sanskrit and will do more advanced work than they did in Class VII.

MATHEMATICS.

Class VI.

ARITHMETIC.

- 1. Revision of previous work by means of miscellaneous exercises on (i) Weights and measures (fairly difficult exercises) using the following terms:—
 (a) Maund, seer, powa, chhatak, kaccha, tola; (b) Mile, yard, foot, inch; (c) Year, month, day, hour, minute, second; (ii) G.C.M. and L.C.M.; (iii) Easy addition, subtraction, multiplication and division of vulgar fractions and of decimals to two places. Easy simplification of fractions.

 2. Vulgar fractions and decimals of greater difficulty.

 3. Conversion of vulgar fractions into decimal fractions to a given number of places and vice versa.

aumber of places and vice versa.

4. Simple decimalisation of money.

6. Simple exercises in square measure. 6. Extraction of square root by factorisation.

- 7. Practice (simple).
- 8. Simple examples on unitary method.
- 9. Simple cases of profit and loss.

(Mental Arithmetic should be associated with each of the above topics as far as practicable.)

GEOMETRY.

The aim of teaching Geometry at this stage should be to make the pupils gradually familiar with geometrical properties informally on practical lines.

- 1. Ideas of solids, plane surfaces, lines and points through models and common objects like walls, meeting lines of walls, etc.
- 2. Drawing lines of given lengths with ruler. Measurement of given lengths.
 - 3. Drawing of triangles and quadrilaterals.
 - 4. Drawing of circles, semi-circles and arcs.
 - 5. Drawing of simple designs with geometrical figures.
 - 6. Drawing of perpendicular with set squares.
 - 7. Construction of figures with right angles like rectangles, squares.
 - 8. Drawing of simple plans, first without scale and later to scale.
- 9. Measurement of areas of rectangles and squares (involving no fractional units).
 - 10. Division of straight lines into 2, 4 and 8 equal parts.
 - #1. Angles through the idea of rotation; naming of angles.
- 12. Different kinds of angles, viz., straight angle, right angle, acute and obtuse angles.
 - 13. Subdivisions of a right angle; degrees.
- 14. Use of the protractor, measurement of angles, drawing of angles of given measurement.
 - 15. Drawing of triangles with one or two given angles.
- 16. Verification of the following statements by measurement and simple exercises:—
 - (i) If a straight line stands on another straight line, the sum of the two angles so formed is equal to two right angles.
 - (ii) If two straight lines intersect, the vertically opposite angles are equal.
 - 17. (a) Drawing of parallel straight lines by means of set squares.
 - (b) Verification by measurement of the following statement:-
 - If a straight line cuts two parallel straight lines-
 - (i) corresponding angles are equal;
 - (ii) alternate angles are equal;
 - (iii) the interior angles on the same side of the cutting line are together equal to two right angles.
- 18. Construction of (i) a quadrilateral and (ii) of a parallelogram with one of the angles equal to a given angle (with the help of protractor and set squares).
 - 19. Bisection of an angle with the help of a protractor.

Class VII

ARITHMETIC.

- 1. Revision of previous work.
- 2. Harder examples in vulgar and decimal fractions. Expressing results correct to a definite number of decimal places.
 - 3. Conversion of fractions into recurring decimals and vice versa.
 - 4. Decimalisation of money, length and other measures.
 - 5. Practice (simple and compound).
 - 6. Simple cases of square and cubic measures.
- 7. Unitary method including simple problems relating to time and work.

(Mental Arithmetic should be associated with each of the above topics as far as practicable.)

ALGEBRA.

- 1. The use of letters as symbols to generalise simple arithmetical problems (without formally introducing equations) and formulae like area = length \times breadth, i.e., $A = \angle B$.
 - 2. The four simple rules involving positive quantities only,
 - 3. Positive and negative quantities through graphical illustrations
 - 4. The four simple rules involving both positive and magative quantities.
 - 5. The use of brackets.

- 6. The following formulae and their easy applications:—
 - $(a + b)^2 = a^2 + 2ab + b^2$
 - $(a-b)^2 = a^2 2ab + b^2$
 - $(a + b) (a b) = a^2 b^2$
- 7. Solution of simple problems leading to simple equations.
- 8. Bar graphs from numerical data based on activities and experiences of daily life of the pupils.

GEOMETRY.

The method followed in Class VI should be continued in this class. The aim is to make the pupils gradually familiar with fundamental geometrical properties by application to simple exercises.

- 1. Finding the sum of angles of a triangle, of a quadrilateral and of any polygon.
- 2. Finding the relation between an exterior angle of a triangle and the interior opposite angles.
- 3. Relation between the sides and angles of a triangle (greater angle opposite greater side, equal angles opposite equal sides and vive versa).
 - 4. Verification of the following statement: --
 - (a) Of all the straight lines that can be drawn from a given point on a straight line the perpendicular is the shortest.
 - (b) Any two sides of a triangle are together greater than the third side.
- 5. (a) Construction of a triangle with two sides and the included angle given (with protractor).
 - (b) Construction of a triangle with a given side and two adjacent angles.
 - (c) Construction of a triangle with three given sides.
- (d) Construction of a right angled triangle, given a side and the hypotenuse,
 - 6. Properties of congruent triangles and their simple applications.
- 7. Properties of parallelograms with simple applications.
- 8. Construction of an angle equal to a given angle (with ruler and compasses).
- 9. Drawing a straight line through a point parallel to a given straight line (with ruler and compasses).
- 10. Simple cases of construction of a triangle with given parts (with ruler and compasses).
 - 11. Bisection of an angle (with ruler and compasses).
 - 12. Division of a straight line into 2, 4 or 8 parts.
 - 13. Drawing a perpendicular on a straight line at a given point on it.
 - 14. Drawing a perpendicular on a straight line from a point outside it.
- 15. Application of properties of parallel straight lines and the angle sum of a triangle.
 - 16. Division of a straight line into any number of equal parts.
- 17. Finding the areas (with the help of squared paper) of (a) Rectangles, (b) Right-angled triangles and (c) Any triangle.

Class VIII.

ARITHMETIC.

- 1. Revision of previous work.
- 2. Average (simple case).
- 3. Extraction of square root; square root of number involving decimals.
 - 4. Reductions involving vulgar and decimal fractions.
 - 5. Percentages.
 - 6. Easy cases of simple interest.
 - 7. More difficult cases of square measure.
 - 8. Simple problems relating to time and distance.
 - (Mental Arithmetic should be associated with each of the shove topics a far as practicable.)

ALGEBRA.

- 1. Revision of previous work.
- 2. Advanced types of multiplication and division.
- 3. The following formulae and their applications:— $(a + b)^2 = a^2 + 3a^2b + 3ab^2 + b^3 = a^2 + b^3 + 3ab(a + b)$ $(a b)^2 = a^2 3a^2b + 3ab^2 b^3 = a^3 b^3 3ab(a b).$
- 4. Simple factors; factors of the following:— $a^2 b^2$, $a^2 + b^3$, $a^3 b^2$.
- 5. Factors of a quadratic expression by breaking the middle term.
- 6. H.C.F. and L.C.M. of simple expression by factorisation.
- 7. Easy fractions.
- 8. Simple equations.
- 9. Problems involving simple equations.
- 10. (a) Column graphs with practical illustrations.
- (b) Axes of reference; Plotting of points and tabulated data.

GEOMETRY.

- 1. (a) Drawing of circles through a given point.
- (b) Drawing of circles through two given points.
- (c) Drawing of a circle through three given points and the case of failure.
- 2. Practical verification of the following propositions and their applications to simple exercises.
- (a) If a straight line is drawn perpendicular to a chord which is not a diameter it bisects it and conversely.
- (b) In a circle (or in equal circles) equal chords are equidistant from the centre (Centres).
- (c) Angle in a semicircle is a right angle; angle in a segment greater than a semicircle is less than a right angle; angle in a segment less than a semicircle is greater than a right angle.
- (d) Angle which an arc of a circle subtends at the centre is double that which it subtends at any point on the remaining part of the circumference.
 - (e) Angles in the same segment of a circle are equal.
- (f) The opposite angles of any quadrilateral inscribed in a circle are supplementary.
 - 3. (a) Tangent to a circle.
- (b) Relation between the tangent at any point on the circle and radius drawn through that point.
 - 4. Construction of a tangent to a circle at any point on it.
- 5. Practical verification of the statement—with simple application— Two tangents to a circle from an external point are equal and they subtend equal angles at the centre.

(By drawing tangents from two points on the circle and taking the point of intersection of the tangents as the external point.)

- 6. To prove-
- (a) If a straight line stands on another straight line, the sum of the two angles so formed is equal to two right angles.
- (b) If the sum of two adjacent angles is equal to two right angles, the exterior arms of the angles are in the same straight line.
- 7. To prove—

If two straight lines intersect, the vertically opposite angles are equal.

8. Axiom.—When a straight line cuts two other straight lines, those other two straight lines are parallel if a pair of correspondeing angles are equal.

To prove-

When a straight line cuts two other straight lines, those other straight lines are parallel if, either, (i) a pair of alternate angles are equal, or, (ii) a pair of interior angles on the same side of the cutting line are together equal to two right angles.

9. Playfair's assism.—Two intersecting straight lines cannot both be parallel to a third straight line.

To prove-

If a straight line cuts two parallel straight lines,

- (i) Corresponding angles are equal;
- (ii) Alternate angles are equal;
- (iii) The interior angles on the same side of the cutting line are together equal to two right angles.

Straight lines parallel to the same straight line are parallel to one another.

10. To prove-

The sum of the angles of a triangle is equal to two right angles.

If one side of a triangle is produced, the exterior angle so formed is equal to the sum of two interior opposite angles.

The sum of the interior angles of a polygon of n sides is equal to (2n-4) right angles.

If the sides of a convex polygon are produced in order, the sum of the angles so formed is equal to four right angles.

- 11. Axioms.—(a) If two triangles have two sides of the one equal to two sides of the other, each to each, and also the angles contained by those sides equal, the triangles are congruent.
- (b) If two triangles have two angles of the one equal to two angles of the other, each to each, and also one side of the one equal to corresponding side of the other, the triangles are congruent.
 - 12. To prove-
 - If two sides of a triangle are equal, the angles opposite to them are also equal and conversely.
 - If two triangles have three sides of the one equal to three sides of the other, each to each, the triangles are congruent. If two triangles have one angle in each a right angle, their hypotenuses equal, one side of the one equal to one side of the other, the triangles are congruent.
 - 13. To prove—
 - If two sides of a triangle are unequal, the greater side has the greater angle opposite to it, and conversely.

Any two sides of a triangle are together greater than the third side.

Of all the straight lines that can be drawn to a given straight line from a given point outside it, the perpendicular is the shortest.

Practical construction with proof to be given regarding:

- 14. Bisection of angles and straight lines.
- 15. Construction of perpendicular to straight lines.
- 16. Construction of an angle equal to a given angle.
- 17. Construction of parallels to a given straight line.
- 18. Construction of triangles with given parts.

A further notification regarding submission of books will be issued in due course.

A. B. M. Akhtaruzzaman. Prabesika Arabic Anubad O Composition.
4. MATHEMATICS (COMPULSORY).

The paper in Mathematics for all candidates for the High Madrasah Examination, 1955, shall consist of:

(i) Questions in Arithmetic

30 marks.

(ii) Questions in Algebra

30 marks.

(iii) Questions in Geometry

40 marks.

The limits of the subject are shown in the syllabus. Text-books may be recommended,

Syllab

(A) Anthonetic.—The Four Simple Rules, Vnigne and Decimal Practions, Reduction, Practice, Proportion and Simple Interest

- (B) Algebra.—The Four Simple Rules, Proportion, Simple Equations, Greatest Common Measure, Least Common Multiple, Graphs of Simple Equations.
- (C) Geometry.—Definition and Theorems on lines, angles, triangles, parallels, equality or inequality of triangles and on parallelograms. Problems on lines, angles, triangles, quadrilateral and looi. Theorems and problems on area.

Books recommended:-

Arithmetic. J. C. Chakraverty. Algebra. K. P. Basu. School Geometry. Hall & Stevens.

5. HISTORY.

The paper consists of: -

30 marks.

(i) Questions on Indian History (ii) Questions on Islamic History

20 marks.

Syllabus prescribed in Indian History.

The following selections:-

Mohammedan conquest of Sind and the Punjab, Mahmud of Ghami.

The Pathan Dynasties. Razia. Moghul invasion. Muhammad Ghori. Qutubuddin. Altamash.

Conquest of Gujrat, Malwa and the Deccan, incursions into Southern India. Alauddin.

The Tughlak Dynasty. Muhammad Tughlak, Firoz Tughlak. Timur's invasion.

Break up of the Pathan Empire.

The Moghul Dynasty, Baber, Humayun, Sher Shah, Restoration of Humayun, Akbar, Jahangir, Shahjahan.

Aurangzeb, Rajput Revolt, his treatment of the Hindus, Sivaji and the Mahrattas. Break up of the Moghul Empire.

India under Mohammedan Rule.

The Europeans in India. Discovery of the Cape-route to India by the Portugese.

Dupleix:

Clive.

Plassey, the Dewani. Warren Hastings, his financial revenue and judicial reforms, his relations with native powers.

The Regulating Act. Warren Hastings, first Governor-General, extent of British Dominion in his time.

Pitt's India Act. Lord Cornwallis, his administrative reforms. system of Subsidiary Treaties.

Lord William Bentinck, his social and administrative reforms. first Afghan War.

Lord Dalhousie, the Second Sikh War, the Doctrine of Lapse and the Annexation Policy; the second Burmese War. Material progress of the country under Dalhousie.

Lord Canning; the Indian Mutiny—probable causes; the assumption of direct Government by the Crown; The Queen's proclamation.

No text-books are prescribed. The subject is to be studied in accordance with the syllabus, the standard being indicated by the following books:-

For History of India one of the following:-

R. C. Majumdar. Bharat Barsher Sankshipta Itihas.
G. Bhattacharyya. Bharat Barsher Itihas (Macmillan & Co.).
Sen & Ray Chaudhury. Bharat Barsher Itihas.
Makhan Lal Ray Chaudhury. Bharat Barsher Itihas.

Syllabus prescribed in Islamic History.

Arabia and Arabs in the days of Ignorance (Jahiliyat), Early life of the Prophet—Revelation of the Quran, Spread of the Faith in Mecca, the Hijrat to Medina—Wars against the infidel Quraish—Battles of Badr, Ohud and Al-Khanduq—Triumph of Islam—Character and achievements of the Holy Prophet—Caliphate of Hazrat Abu Bakr—Causes and effects of the war of Apostasy—Caliphate of Hazrat Omar—Expansion of Islam and Arab Empire—Administrative system—Character and statesmanship of Omar I—Accession of Caliph Osman—Causes of the Revolt against Osman—Effects of his murder—Election of Hazrat Ali—Civil Wars—End of the Republic.

No text-books are prescribed. The subject is to be studied in accordance with the syllabus.

The following books are recommended for guidance:

Kasi Akram Husain. Islamer Itihas.

Khan Bahadur Abdur Rahman. Islam Itihash.

Osman Ghani. Hasrat Mohammad.

Urdu version:-

Khwaja Abdul Hai. Hamare Rasool. Maarif Press. Khulafai Rashidin.

6. GEOGRAPHY.

The paper shall consist of: -

- (i) Questions on Mathematical and Physical Geography ... 12 marks.
- (ii) Questions on Political Geography of the World in outline
 ... 13 marks.
- (iii) Questions on Geography of India and Pakistan ... 25 marks.

 Syllabus.
- 1. Earth's shape. Its size. Difference between the planets and stars.
- 2. Latitude and Longitude. Longitude and time. (No mathematical treatment).
- 3. Elementary treatment of the movements of the Earth and their consequences. The Zones.
 - 4. The great division of Land and Water.
- 5. Vegetation and Animal life. Distribution of plants and animals. (Simply treated).
 - 6. Distribution of mankind—Occupation of men, races and religions.
- 7. The general survey of the outlines of the Geography of the World (Elementary treatment).
 - 8. India and Pakistan under the following heads:
 - (a) Size and position.
 - (b) Main physical features.
 - (c) Common plants and animals.
 - (d) Products and Industries.
 - (e) Distribution of the chief minerals.
 - (f) Political divisions and principal towns.
 - (g) Population, occupations, races, languages and religions.
 - (h) Chief Export and Import.
- (i) Drawing of outline maps of India and Pakistan and Bengal (East and West).

The subject is to be studied in accordance with the syllabus. Any book covering the syllabus adequately may be read.

The following books are recommended for guidance:

- U. Roy & S. Chakraverty. Bharat () Bhumandal.
- K. Roy Choudhury. Bhugol.

Urdu Version: -

Star Book Depot, Calcutta. Jughrafiya-i-Alam.

Rai Sahib Sohon Lal. Modern Jughrafiya.

7. ADDITIONAL.

(a) Mathematics.

The paper in Additional Mathematics shall consist of: -

(1) Questions in Arithmetic

... 30 marks.

(2) Questions in Algebra

30 marks.

(3) Questions in Geometry

40 marks.

- (A) Arithmetic.—The Four Simple Rules, Vulgar and Decimal Fractions, Reduction, Practice, Proportion, Simple Interest. Problems, more easily solvable by Algebra, should not be required to be solved arithmetically. Exercises in the Metric system; Approximation to a specified degree of accuracy.
- (B) Algebra.—The Four Simple Rules, Proportion, Simple Equations, Greatest Common Measure, Least Common Multiple, Graphs of Simple Equations. Quadratic Equations with one unknown quantity; Extraction of Square Root; Graphs of pure quadratic Equations (excluding constructions with different scales along two axes), Arithmetical and Geometrical Progressions: the Elementary Laws of Indices.

(C) Geometry.—

Practical.

Bisection of angles and of straight lines. Construction of perpendiculars to straight lines.

Construction of an angle equal to a given angle

Construction of parallels to a given straight lin-

Construction of triangle with given parts.

Division of a straight line into a given number of equal parts.

Construction of a parallelogram equal to a given triangle and having one of its angles equal to a given angle.

Construction of a triangle equal in area to a given rectilineal figure.

Construction of tangents to a circle.

Simple cases of the constructions of circles satisfying given conditions.

Construction of regular figures of 3 4 5 and 6 sides in or about a given

Construction of regular figures of 3, 4, 5, and 6 sides in or about a given circle.

Construction of a square equal in area to a given rectangle.

Note.—Easy extensions of these constructions may be given as problems. Candidates may be required to give the reasons for any particular constructions involved in any question.

Every candidate is required to provide himself with the following:

A hard pencil, dividers, pencil compasses and a straight ruler showing centimeters and inches.

Theoretical.

Angles at a point.

If a straight line stands on another straight line, the sum of the two angles so framed is equal to two right angles; and the converse.

If two straight lines intersect, the vertically opposite angles are equal.

Parallel straight lines.

If a straight line, cutting two other straight lines, makes-

- (i) the alternate angles equal,
- (ii) two corresponding angles equal,
- (iii) the interior angles on the same side of the line supplementary, then the two straight lines are parallel; and the converse.

Straight lines which are parallel to the same straight line are parallel to one another.

Triangles and rectilineal figures.

The sum of the angles of a triangle is equal to two right angles.

If the sides of a convex polygon are produced in order the sum of the angles so formed is equal to four right angles.

Two triangles are equal in every respect-

- (i) if two sides and the included angle of one triangle are respectively equal to two sides and the included angle of the other;
- (ii) if two angles and a side of the one triangle are respectively equal to two angles and the corresponding side of the other.

If two sides of a triangle are equal, the angles opposite to these sides are equal; and the converse.

Two triangles are equal in every respect, if the three sides of one triangle are respectively equal to the three sides of the other.

Two right-angled triangles are equal in every respect, if they have their hypotenuses equal, and one side of the one equal to one side of the other.

If two sides of a triangle are unequal, the greater side has the greater angle opposite to it; and the converse.

Any two sides of a triangle are together greater than the third.

Of all the straight lines that can be drawn to a given straight line from a given point outside it, the perpendicular is the shortest.

The opposite sides and angles of a parallelogram are equal: each diagonal bisects the parallelogram and the diagonals bisect one another.

If there are three or more parallel straight lines, and the intercepts made by them on any straight line that cuts them are equal, then the corresponding intercepts on any other straight line that cuts them are equal.

Areas.

Parallelogram on the same or equal bases and of the same altitude are equal in area.

Triangles on the same or equal bases and of the same altitude are equal in area.

Equal triangles on the same or equal bases are of the same altitude.

Illustrations and explanations of the geometrical theorems corresponding to the following algebraical identities:—

$$k(a+b+e+...) = ka+kb+ke$$
 $(a+b)^2 = a(a+b)+b(a+b).$
 $(a+b)^2 = a^2+ab,$
 $(a+b)^3 = a^2+2ab+b^3.$
 $(a-b)^3 = a^2-2ab+b^3.$
 $(a^2-b^3) = (a+b)(a-b).$

The square on one side of a triangle is greater than, equal to or less than the sums of the other two sides, according as the angle contained by these sides is obtuse, right or acute. The difference in the cases of inequality is twice the rectangle contained by one of the two sides and the projection on it of the other.

Loci

The locus of a point which is equidistant from two fixed points is the perpendicular bisector of the straight line joining the two fixed points.

The locus of a point which is equidistant from two intersecting straight lines consists of the pair of straight lines which bisect the angles between the given lines.

The Circles.

A straight line drawn from the centre of a circle to bisect a chord which is not a diameter, is at right angles to the chord; conversely, the perpendicular to a chord from the centre bisects the chord.

There is one circle, and one only, which passes through three given points not in a straight line.

In equal circles (or in the same circle)-

- (i) if two arcs subtend equal angles at the centre, they are equal;
- (ii) conversely if two arcs are equal, they subtend equal angles at the centre.

In equal circles (or in the same circle)—

- (i) if two chords are equal, they cut off equal arcs;
- (ii) conversely, if two arcs are equal, the chords of the arcs are equal.

Equal chords of a circle are equidistant from the centre; and the converse.

The tangent at any point of a circle is perpendicular to the radius through the point.

If two tangents are drawn to a circle from an external point-

- (i) they are equal:
- (ii) they subtend equal angles at the centre of the circle.

If two circles touch, the point of contact lies on the straight line through the centres.

The angle which an arc of a circle subtends at the centre is double that which it subtends at any points on the remaining part of the circumference.

Angles in the same segment of a circle are equal. and if the line joining two points subtends equal angles at two other points on the same side of it, the four points lie on a circle.

The angle in a semi-circle is a right angle; the angle in a segment greater than a semi-circle is less than a right angle; and the angle in a segment less than a semi-circle is greater than a right angle.

The opposite angles of any quadrilateral inscribed in a circle are supplementary; and the converse.

If a straight line touch a circle, and from the point of contact a chord be drawn, the angles which this chord makes with the tangent are equal to the angles in the alternate segments.

If two chords of a circle intersect either inside or outside the circle, the rectangle contained by the parts of the one is equal to the rectangle contained by the parts of the other.

Proportion: Similar triangles.

If a straight line is drawn paralled to one side of a triangle, the other two sides are divided proportionally; and the converse.

If two triangles are equiangular, their corresponding sides are proportional; and the converse.

If two triangles have one angle of the one equal to one angle of the other and the sides about these equal angles proportional, the triangles are similar.

If a polygon is divided into triangles by a line joining a given point to its vertices, any similar polygon can be divided into corresponding similar triangles.

The ratio of the areas of two similar triangles or of two similar polygons, is equal to the ratio of the squares on the corresponding sides.

The internal bisector of an angle of a triangle divides the opposite side internally in the ratio of the sides containing the angle and likewise the external bisector externally.

(Note.—Each question on Theoretical Geometry shall consist of a theorem contained in the above schedule together with an easy deduction.)

Any proof of a proposition shall be accepted, which appears to the examiners to form part of a systematic treatment of the subject, but proofs of theorems should, as far as possible, be based on first principles; the order in which the theorems are stated in the above schedule is not to be regarded as essential.

In the proof of theorems and deductions from them, it shall be permissible to use hypothetical constructions.

The ordinary symbolical abbreviations may be used.

ADDENDUM.

Senate House, the 8th September 1953.

In addition to the list of the successful candidates at the First M.B.B.S. Examination (Parts I and II) April 1952, as published in the "Calcutta Gazette" of the 4th December 1952, the following candidates are declared to have passed the First M.B.B.S. Examination (Parts I and II) held in April 1952:

No. 10T.B.—In continuation of this Directorate notification No. 8T.B., dated 10th December 1952, it is hereby notified for general information that the following Picture Books written in accordance with the Primary (Junior Basic) Syllabus are recommended for Classes I and II of primary schools, primary stages of High and M. E. Schools and also primary stages of High and Junior Madrasahs in West Bengal for use both by pupils and teachers while imparting lessons in the classes.

Teachers of the primary schools and the inspecting officers will please note that these picture books are meant to be pleasant companions of the young learners and are not to be used as text books in which students are usually drilled, and with that end in view teachers will realise annas 10 only from each student and will buy at least a copy each of as many of the books recommended for a class as funds will permit and no one book is to be prescribed for the class. The students should be allowed to take these books home in rotation, but any book damaged by a student will have to be replaced by him.

N.B.—(i).—Prior to the publication of a new edition, all additions, alterations or omissions in the text of an approved book must receive the sanction of the Text-Book Committee. Any deviation from this instruction will render a book liable to immediate removal from the approved list of books.

- 2. Grammar and Composition-20 marks.
 - 3. Translation from English into Sanskrit 20 marks.

Grammar.—The following should be read in Grammar from the revised version of by Iswar Chandra Vidyasagar as revised and edited and published by the Board. This book will cover the syllabus both for Compulsory Sanskrit and Sanskrit (Additional) as an elective subject:—

सन्त्व ; णत्वविवान, पत्वविवान ; सुवन्तप्रकरण : विभक्ते: आकृति, स्वरान्त सब्द (पुं, स्वीं, क्लीव), अव्यव्यक्तांग्त सब्द (पुं, स्वीं, क्लीव), सर्वनाम, संस्थावायक सब्द ; अव्यय क्ष्मम्, नन्, सक्, अप, यावत्, तावत्, हि, क्व, इति, नान, वक्त, एवं, च, यदि, तु, इव, एव, नृतम्, किल, अव; तिस्क्तप्रकरण : विभक्ते: आकृति, धातुविमाग ; धातुरूप : तुवादि, भ्वादि, दिवादि, स्वादि, तनादि, क्यादि, रुवादि, भ्वादि, दिवादि, स्वादि, तनादि, क्यादि, रुवादि, भ्वादि, विवादि, स्वादि, तनादि, क्यादि, रुवादि, भू, वाम्, वाम्, वाम्, वाम्, वा, च्य, हन्, विद्, चू, दुह्, इ (आत्मनेपद), लूट्, क्रिट्, ह्यादि ह, भी, भू, दा, जिजन्त, सनन्त —Causative of लुट्, लूट्, लूट्, लूट्, जाशीलिंड्, लिट् and लुड्, are omitted, गामघातु ; परस्मैपदिधान, आत्मनेपदिधान ; कर्मवाच्य and भाववाच्यप्रकरण कर्मवाच्य and भाववाच्य of लिट्, लुङ्, लुट्, लूट, आशीलिंड्, are omitted ; प्रत्यय — Formations and derivatives with the following suffixes and their applications :—

(i) कृत्—तब्य, अनीय, क्वत्, यत् (य), क्यप्, शत्, शानच्, तुमृन्, स्यप्, निक्का (क्त, क्तवतु), क्त्वा, क्तिन् (क्ति), णक् (क्वल्), तृच्, अण्, जिनि; खञ्, क्विप्, अनट्, सञ्, सल्। (ii) तिक्कि—क्विण् (इञ्,), वण् (अण्), व्यक्—क्वेय (उक्), कण् (उक्, उञ्,), नीन (स), धीकन् (ईकक), यत्, धेय, त्व, तल्, इमनि, वित्व्, मतुप्, विनि, इन् (इनि), तरप्, ईयसुन्, तमप्, इक्टन्, मयट्, खाच्, चरट्, एल्, त्य (त्यप्), क्वि। (iii) स्त्री; कारक; समास—Names and expounding of the principal varieties—अव्ययीभाव, तत्पुच्च (including कर्मधारय and दिन्), बहुन्नीहि, इन्द्व; उद्वेश्य-विधेयभाव, किया-कारकभाव क

In no case will quotations of Sanskrit Sutras be insisted upon.

SANSKRIT (ADDITIONAL) AS AN ELECTIVE SUBJECT.

The text portion will comprise of the following:-

(a) Poetry: One canto of रघुवंशम् or कुमारसम्भवम्।

(b) Drama: A one-act play of भास (the प्राकृत portions being rendered into Sanskrit).

(c) Prose: Slected portions from सरल कावन्यरी by स्थामाचरण कविरत्न । or from any other suitable prose work.

The distribution of marks in the paper will be as follows:-

- 1. Texts: 50 marks. Questions on Texts besides those requiring a detailed study of prescribed books will include:—
 - (i) Translation from Sanskrit into English or into one of the following languages:—

 Bengeli Urdu Hindi and Navali (not more than 15 murles).

Bengali, Urdu, Hindi and Nepali (not more than 15 marks); (ii) Explanations in Sanskrit (not more than 15 marks).

- 2. Grammar-20 marks.
- Composition: Substance-writing in Sanskrit of a Sanskrit passage set—10 marks.

4. (i) Translation into Sanskrit of one or two passages taken from English, Bengali, Hindi, Urdu and Nepali—10 marks.
(ii) Translation into English, or into one of the following languages of

(ii) Translation into English, or into one of the following languages o an unseen passage from Sanskrit:—

Bengali, Urdu, Hindi and Nepali—10 marks.

Grammar.—The following should be read in Grammar:—

सन्धः णत्वविधान, बत्वविधासः सुबन्तप्रकरणः ; शहुरक्पः ; बव्ययः ; विभिन्तः वातुरूपः तिक्रन्त---तुरादि, भ्वादि, दिवादि, स्वादि, तनादि, ऋगदि, श्वादि, अदादि, इ-विधान, लिट्, ह्यादि-ह, भी, भू, दा, णिबन्त-causative of लुट्, लुट्, लुट्, वाशीलिंड्, सिट् and लुङ् are omitted, चुरादि, सनन्त, यङन्त, नामधातु; परस्मैपदविधान, आत्मनेपदविधान; कर्मवाच्य and भाववाच्यप्रकृरण, लकारार्व-निर्णय; प्रत्यव---- Formations and derivatives with the following suffixes and their applications :--(i) कृत्-तब्य, अनीय, व्यत्, यत् (य), क्यप्, शत्, शानक्, तुमुन्, त्वप्, निष्ठा (क्त, क्तवतु), क्त्वा, क्तिन् (क्ति), णक् (ब्बुल्), तूच, अण्, चिनि, बञ्ग्, निवप्, बनट्, सङ; सल्। (ii) तकित—विज् (इञ् χ), वज् (अज्), व्यम्, ब्लेय (डक्), कम् (ठक्, ठब्न्), नीन (स), चीकम् (ईकक), यत्, बेय, त्व, तस्, इमनि, वतिच्, मतुप्, विनि, इन् (इनि), तस्प्, ईवसुन्, तमप्, इच्छन्, मयद्, बाब्, बरद, बस्, त्य (त्यप्), ज्यि । (iii) स्त्री ; कारक ; समास -Names and expounding of the principal varieties - नवादीवाव, तत्पूचन, बहुवीहि, इन्ह and sections on समास (सर्वसावारणविकि), अकृद् समास, मध्यपकारेपी समास, पूर्वनिकात, सर्वसमासबेद ।

MATHEMATICS (COMPULSORY).

Arithmetic.

A text-book written on the basis of the syllabus given below will be prescribed:—

Class IX.

- 1. Revision of previous work.
- 2. Harder problems involving percentages.
- 3. Simple Interest.
- 4. Average.
- 5. Profit and Loss.
- 6. Problems relating to time and distance.
- 7. Simple examples on ratio and proportion.
- 8. Numerical problems involving mensuration of the rectangle, triangle, parallelogram, trapezium and circle.

Mental Arithmetic should be associated with each of the above topics as far as practicable.

Class X.

- 1. Revision of previous work.
- 2. Ratio and proportion.
- 3. Division into proportional parts; alligation or mixtures; partnership and other problems involving ratio and proportion.
 - 4. Problems relating to clocks, races and games of skill.

Mental Arithmetic should be associated with each of the above topics.

Algebra.

A text-book written on the basis of the syllabus given below will be prescribed:—

Class 1X.

- 1. Revision of previous work.
- Harder factors.
- 3. Harder cases of H. C. F. and L. C. M.
- 4. Harder fractions.
- 5. Fuller treatment of simple equations and easy simultaneous equations involving two unknowns.
 - 6. Problems leading to equations, simple and simultaneous.
 - 7. Graphs of simple equations.

Class X.

- 1. Revision of previous work.
- 2. The remainder theorem; divisibility (factor theorem).
- 3. Easy ratio and proportion.
- 4. Laws of Indices (formal proofs of fractional and negative indices not being required). Only simple examples are to be taught.
 - 5. Extraction of square root.
 - 6. Graphical solution of simultaneous equation of the first degree.

Geometry.

A text-book written on the basis of the syllabus given below will be prescribed:—

Class IX.

- 1. To prove—
 The opposite sides and angles of a parallelogram are equal, each diagonal divides the parallelogram into congruent triangles and diagonals of a parallelogram bisect one another.
- 2. A quadrilateral is a parallelogram if-
 - (i) both pairs of opposite sides are equal,
- or (ii) both pairs of opposite angles are equal,
- or (iii) one pair of opposite sides are equal and parallel,
- or (iv) its diagonals bisect one another.
- 3. If there are three or more parallel straight lines, and the intercepts, made by them on any one straight line that cuts them are equal, then the corresponding intercepts on any other straight line that cuts them are also equal.

The straight line drawn through the middle point of one side of a triangle parallel to another side bisects the third side. The straight line joining the middle points of two sides of a triangle is parallel to the third side and squal to half of it.

- 4. Division of a straight line into a given number of equal parts.
- 5. The formal proof should be preceded by practical work with squared paper in all the cases of paragraph 5—
 - (i) Parallelograms on the same base and between the same parallels (or, of the same altitude) are equal in area.
 - (ii) Triangles on the same base (or on equal bases) and between the same parallels (or, of the same altitude) are equal in area.
 - (iii) Equal triangles on the same base and on the same side of it are between the same parallels.
 - (iv) If a triangle and a parallelogram stand on the same base and are between the same parallels the area of the triangle is half that of the parallelogram.

In a right-angled triangle the square on the hypotenuse is equal to the sum of the squares on the sides containing the right angle.

If a triangle is such that the square on the side is equal to the sum of the squares on the other two sides, then the angle contained by these two sides is a right angle.

- 6. Construction of a parallelogram equal to a given triangle and having one of its angles equal to a given angle.
- 7. Construction of a triangle equal in area to a given rectilineal figure.
 - 8. To prove—
 - The locus of points which are equidistant from two fixed points is the perpendicular bisector of the straight line joining the two fixed points.
 - The locus of points which are equidistant from two intersecting straight lines consists of the pair of straight lines which bisect the angles between the two given lines.
- 9. There is one circle, and only one, which passes through three given points not in a straight line.
 - 10. Axiom-
 - In equal circles (or, in the same circle) equal chords cut off equal arcs and subtend equal angles at the centre and conversely.
 - 11. To prove-
 - A straight line, drawn from the centre of a circle to bisect a chord which is not a diameter, is at right angles to the chord and conversely.
- 12. In equal circles (or, in the same circle) equal chords are equidistant from the centres and conversely.
- 13. The angle which an arc of a circle subtends at the centre is double that which it subtends at any point on the remaining part of the circumference.
- 14. Angles in the same segment of a circle are equal, and if the line joining two points subtends equal angles at two other points on the same side of it the four points lie on a circle.
- 15. The angle in a semicircle is a right angle; the angle in a segment greater than a semicircle is less than a right angle; and the angle in a segment less than semicircle is greater than a right angle.
- 16. The opposite angles of any quadrilateral inscribed in a circle are supplementary and the converse.

Class X.

- 1. To prove-
- In an obtuse-angled triangle, the square on the side opposite to the obtuse angle is equal to the sum of the squares on the sides containing the obtuse angle plus twice the porduct of one of these sides and the projection on it of the other. In any triangle, the square on the side opposite to an acute angle is equal to the sum of the squares on the sides containing that acute angle minus twice the product of one of those sides and the projection on it of the other. In any traingle, the sum of the squares on any two sides is equal to twice the squares on the median which bisects the third side together with twice the square on half the third side.
- 2. If two chords of a circle intersect either inside or outside the circle, the rectangle contained by the parts of the one is equal to the rectangle contained by the parts of the other.
- 3. The tangent at any point of a circle and the radius through the point are perpendicular to one another.

The two tangents to a circle from an external point are equal and the subtend equal angles at the centre.

If two circles touch, the point of contact lies in the straight line through the centres.

4. Construction of a tangent to a circle.

5. To prove-

If a straight line touch a circle and from the point of contact a chord be drawn, the angles which this chord makes with the tangent are equal to the angle in the alternate segments:

6. If a straight line is drawn parallel to one side of a triangle, the other two sides are divided proportionally and the converse.

If two triangles are equi-angular their corresponding sides are proportional and the converse.

7. To prove-

If a chord of a circle is produced to meet a tangent the square on the tangent from the point of intersection is equal to the product of the segments of the chord.

*If two triangles have one angle of the one equal to one angle of the other the sides about these equal angles proportional, the triangles are similar.

- 8. (i) The perpendicular drawn to the sides of a triangle from their middle points are concurrent.
 - (ii) The bisectors of the angles of a triangle are concurrent.
 - (iii) The medians of a triangle are concurrent.
- (iv) The perpendiculars from the vertices of a triangle to the opposite sides are concurrent.
- (v) Bisectors of angles divide the opposite sides in the ratio of the sides including the angle.

ADDITIONAL MATHEMATICS AS AN ELECTIVE SUBJECT.

A text-book written on the basis of the syllabus given below will be prescribed:—

Class IX.

Arithmetic.

Presentworth.

Discount.

Stocks and Shares.

Mensuration of the following solids: 4

Rectangular parallelopiped, Cube, Right prism, Right Circular Cylinder, Right Circular Cone, Sphere.

Algebra.

Surds, Quadratic Equation with one unknown quantity.

Simultaneous equations—one linear and another of second degree—in two unknown quantities.

Arithmetic and Geometrical Progressions (finite).

Class X.

Algebra.

Graphs of-

$$y = a + bx + cx2$$

$$a2x2 \pm b2y2 = 1$$

$$xy = c$$

Use of logarithmic tables for simple numerical calculations.

Geometry.

(a) Practical-

Construction of common tangents to two circles. Construction of regular figures of 3, 4, 5 and 6 sides in or about a given circle.

Simple cases of the construction of circles satisfying given conditions. Construction of a square equal in area to a given square.

(b) Theoretical—

If a perpendicular is drawn from the right angle of a right-angled triangle to the hypotenuse, the triangles on each side of the perpendicular are similar to the whole triangle and to one another.

If a polygon is divided into triangles by a line joining a given point to its vertices, any similar polygon can be divided into corresponding similar triangles.

The ratio of the areas of two similar triangles or of two similar polygons is equal to the ratio of squares on the corresponding sides.

The internal bisector of an angle of a triangle divides the opposite side internally in the ratio of the sides containing the angle and likewise the external bisector externally.

(c) Agioms

- (i) One and only one plane may be made to pass through any two intersecting straight lines.
- (ii) Two intersecting planes cut one another in a straight line and in no point outside it.
- (d) If a straight line is perpendicular to each of two intersecting straight lines at their point of intersection, it is also perpendicular to the plane in which they lie.

All straight lines drawn perpendicular to a given straight line at a given point of it are coplanar.

If two straight lines are parallel and if one of them is perpendicular to a plane then the other is also perpendicular to the same plane.

(e) Concept of angle between two planes and angle between a straight line and a plane.

Elementary Trigonometry.

Measurement of angles in degrees, minutes, seconds and in radians. Definition of trigonometrical ratios of angles from 0° to 180°. Relation between the trigonometrical ratios of complementary and supplementary angles. Simple identification of the ratios of an angle, immediately derivable from right-angled triangle.

Trigonometrical ratios for 0°, 30°, 45°, 60°, 90° (undefined values such as, cot 0°, tan 90° are excluded).

Problems reducible to the solution of right-angled triangles.

MECHANICS AS AN ELECTIVE SUBJECT.

A text-book written on the basis of the syllabus given below will be prescribed:

C. G. S. and F. P. S. units; conversion from one set of units to the other.

Varieties of motion: Elementary notions of speed, velocity and acceleration; Composition and resolution of velocities; Rectilinear motion of a body with constant acceleration; Vertical motion under gravity, Rectilinear motion under gravity up and down a smooth, inclined plane.

Elementary notions of mass, inertia and momentum, Newton's laws of motion.

Units of force: poundal, dyne, relation between mass and weight; gravitational unit of force.

Composition and resolution of forces, parallelogram of forces. Moments, conditions for equilibrium of three forces not parallel.

Triangle of forces.

Composition of parallel forces. Conditions for the equilibrium of three parallel forces.

Centre of parallel forces. Centre of gravity.

Experimental determination of the centre of gravity.

Position of the centre of gravity in the following cases:-

- (1) Uniform rod,
- (2) Uniform triangular lamina,
- (3) Uniform lamina of the shape of a parallelogram,
- (4) Uniform circular disc.

Centre of gravity of two bodies whose individual centres of gravity are known.

Elementary notion of stable and unstable equilibrium.

Elementary knowledge of the following simple machines:-

(1) Lever, (2) Balance, (3) Pulley, (4) Inclined plane.

Mechanical advantage of levers:

General ideas of work, energy and power;

Kinetic energy and potential energy;

Conservation of energy for a freely falling body.

The subject is to be treated mainly experimentally. Students should have a working knowledge of the following mathematical definitions and results, but will not be required to establish any of them:—

Algebra: Solutions of the quadratic equation-

$$ax^2 + bx + o = 0$$

Definitions of trigonometrical fatios; relation between Trigonometry: trigonometrical ratios of complementary and supplementary angles; simple relations between trigonometrical ratios, such as-

> $\sin^2\theta + \cos^2\theta = 1$ Tan $\theta = \sin \theta / \cos \theta$ etc;

Trigonometrical ratios for 30°, 45° and 60°.
